WILKES COLLEGE

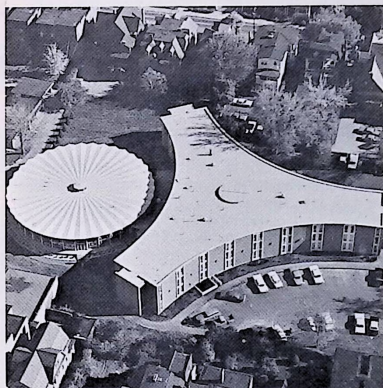

Wilkes College had its beginnings in 1933 when Bucknell University, responding to a request of community leaders, established its Junior College in Wilkes-Barre. On June 26, 1947, Bucknell University Junior College came to an end and Wilkes College received its charter as a four-year, coeducational, liberal arts college. The College has grown slowly to its current enrollment of approximately 2368 full-time day students and 682 part-time evening school students.

From its inception the College has been dedicated to these twin goals — a sound and stimulating intellectual experience for students and a program of service to the community.

WILKES COACHING STAFF

ROLAND C. SCHMIDT — Head Coach

The upcoming 1969 football season will find Coach Roland Schmidt beginning his eighth year as the Colonels' mentor. In seven years he has accumulated a lifetime log of 38-16. His teams in the last four years have won 31 of 32 contests and currently are riding the crest of a 29-game winning streak, the longest in collegiate football. Coupled with this incredible record are four M.A.C. championships, two Lambert trophies, and one Timmie Award, gained last year for being the outstanding collegiate team in the country.

Schmidt has also achieved success on the baseball field. In the past two seasons his teams have won 22-5, including an M.A.C. championship in 1968.

A 1950 graduate of Wilkes-Barre Coughlin High School, Coach Schmidt took part in football, wrestling and track. He attended Bloomsburg State College before serving a two-year stint with the Army. Returning to Bloomsburg in 1955, "Rollie" played football and track for the Huskies.

The mentor graduated from Bloomsburg in 1956 with a B.S. in education and served as a member of the Clarks Summit teaching staff for three years. In addition to being an assistant football coach, he also served as the head wrestling coach and assistant track coach. The Wilkes mentor later moved on to Kingston High School and was an assistant coach for three years. Coach Schmidt holds a master's degree from the University of Scranton. He is married to the former Margaret Dombroski.

GENE DOMZALSKI — Defensive Line

A recent full-time addition to the Wilkes teaching staff, Domzalski is beginning his second year as a Colonel coach. Gene played for five years in the New York Yankee chain before retiring in 1964. He matriculated at Newport Twp. High School and starred in baseball, basketball, and football for the Nutcrackers. In his sophomore year at the Univ. of Wyoming, Domzalski led the nation in punt returns. Two years ago he guided the Nanticoke Area Trojans to their first PIAA Dist. II baseball championship.

Next spring he will make his debut as the Colonel's baseball mentor. Gene is married to the former Arline Barnowski of Wilkes-Barre.

ROBERT HERMAN — Defensive Linebackers

Bob will return to Wilkes College after a six-year lapse. A 1963 graduate of Wilkes College, Herman was a center for the Colonels during the lean years between 1960 and 1962. He was a three-year Wilkes letterman and capped his grid career by being named to the MAC team.

Herman received his Master's Degree from Scranton University in 1967 and will remain in the Wyoming Valley West School District as a teacher and wrestling coach. He is a native of Nanticoke. He is married to the former Carol Wojciekowski and they are the parents of a daughter.

ROBERT CORBA — Defensive Secondary

Corba is another new addition to the Colonels' coaching staff. He is a graduate of Abraham Clark High School in Roselle, New Jersey, where he played football and baseball. After high school he continued his education at Upper Iowa College, receiving his degree in 1966. He was formerly an assistant coach at Northwest Area High School. Corba is married to the former Alice Koury of Wilkes-Barre. The new mentor will remain on the physical education staff at Coughlin High School.

JONAH GOOBIC — Offensive Backs

Jonah was a three-sport athlete at Plains High School. Graduating from that Wilkes-Barre area institution in 1954, Coach Goobic was a standout football, baseball, and basketball player. He later matriculated at Bloomsburg State College, receiving a degree from that down-river institution in 1958. During his four years at Bloomsburg he played football and baseball. Jonah teaches at the Northwest Area High School, Shickshinny, and is first assistant and backfield coach at Wilkes. In the spring he serves also as an assistant baseball coach for the Colonels. Coach Goobic will be starting his eighth year at Wilkes.

CHARLES ADONIZIO — Offensive Line

A former Colonel line standout, Coach Adonizio played two years of football at the Univ. of Pittsburgh before transferring to Wilkes where he played under Coach Schmidt. 'Chuck' received his degree in Business Administration. He played high school football for St. John's High School in Pittston and later attended the Fork Union Military Academy. At Wilkes, Coach Adonizio has been offensive line coach for the past three years. He is married to the former Catherine Fahey and is associated in business with the Addy Asphalt Company, Wilkes-Barre.

THE STREAK

From October 16, 1965 to October 18, 1969 the Wilkes College Colonels accomplished an amazing feat that only two other schools in College Division history have ever been able to better . . . win 32 consecutive games! !! (the other schools: Missouri Valley (41), 1941-48 and Hillsdale (34), 1954-57).

The Colonels have written one of the major success stories during the first hundred years of collegiate football. They truly deserve the plaudits of every fan in Wyoming Valley and the rest of the world.

The Streak Began October 16, 1965 . . .

Alma Mater

Words and Music by Eleanor C. Farley

Wilkes, our Alma Mater
 We pledge our hearts to thee,
 Honor, faith, and courage,
 Truth and loyalty.
 In our work as in our pleasure
 Guide us as a friend;
 We shall always love thee,
 Loyal to the end.
 Thou shalt lead us onward
 In search of finer things.
 May we find the wisdom
 That thy spirit brings.
 May our deeds of love and service
 Ever swell thy fame —
 Wilkes, we stand to greet thee!
 Glory to thy name!

WILKES COLLEGE

Wilkes College had its beginnings in 1933 when Bucknell University, responding to a request of community leaders, established its Junior College in Wilkes-Barre. On June 26, 1947, Bucknell University Junior College came to an end and Wilkes College received its charter as a four-year, coeducational, liberal arts college. The College has grown slowly to its current enrollment of approximately 2368 full-time day students and 682 part-time evening school students.

From its inception the College has been dedicated to these twin goals — a sound and stimulating intellectual experience for students and a program of service to the community.

WILKES COACHING STAFF

ROLAND C. SCHMIDT — Head Coach

The upcoming 1969 football season will find Coach Roland Schmidt beginning his eighth year as the Colonels' mentor. In seven years he has accumulated a lifetime log of 38-16. His teams in the last four years have won 31 of 32 contests and currently are riding the crest of a 29-game winning streak, the longest in collegiate football. Coupled with this incredible record are four M.A.C. championships, two Lambert trophies, and one Timmie Award, gained last year for being the outstanding collegiate team in the country.

Schmidt has also achieved success on the baseball field. In the past two seasons his teams have won 22-5, including an M.A.C. championship in 1968.

A 1950 graduate of Wilkes-Barre Coughlin High School, Coach Schmidt took part in football, wrestling and track. He attended Bloomsburg State College before serving a two-year stint with the Army. Returning to Bloomsburg in 1955, "Rollie" played football and track for the Huskies.

The mentor graduated from Bloomsburg in 1956 with a B.S. in education and served as a member of the Clarks Summit teaching staff for three years. In addition to being an assistant football coach, he also served as the head wrestling coach and assistant track coach. The Wilkes mentor later moved on to Kingston High School and was an assistant coach for three years. Coach Schmidt holds a master's degree from the University of Scranton. He is married to the former Margaret Dombroski.

GENE DOMZALSKI — Defensive Line

A recent full-time addition to the Wilkes teaching staff, Domzalski is beginning his second year as a Colonel coach. Gene played for five years in the New York Yankee chain before retiring in 1964. He matriculated at Newport Twp. High School and starred in baseball, basketball, and football for the Nutcrackers. In his sophomore year at the Univ. of Wyoming, Domzalski led the nation in punt returns. Two years ago he guided the Nanticoke Area Trojans to their first PIAA Dist. II baseball championship.

Next spring he will make his debut as the Colonel's baseball mentor. Gene is married to the former Arline Barnowski of Wilkes-Barre.

ROBERT HERMAN — Defensive Linebackers

Bob will return to Wilkes College after a six-year lapse. A 1963 graduate of Wilkes College, Herman was a center for the Colonels during the lean years between 1960 and 1962. He was a three-year Wilkes letterman and capped his grid career by being named to the MAC team.

Herman received his Master's Degree from Scranton University in 1967 and will remain in the Wyoming Valley West School District as a teacher and wrestling coach. He is a native of Nanticoke. He is married to the former Carol Wojciekowski and they are the parents of a daughter.

ROBERT CORBA — Defensive Secondary

Corba is another new addition to the Colonels' coaching staff. He is a graduate of Abraham Clark High School in Roselle, New Jersey, where he played football and baseball. After high school he continued his education at Upper Iowa College, receiving his degree in 1966. He was formerly an assistant coach at Northwest Area High School. Corba is married to the former Alice Koury of Wilkes-Barre. The new mentor will remain on the physical education staff at Coughlin High School.

JONAH GOOBIC — Offensive Backs

Jonah was a three-sport athlete at Plains High School. Graduating from that Wilkes-Barre area institution in 1954, Coach Goobic was a standout football, baseball, and basketball player. He later matriculated at Bloomsburg State College, receiving a degree from that down-river institution in 1958. During his four years at Bloomsburg he played football and baseball. Jonah teaches at the Northwest Area High School, Shickshinny, and is first assistant and backfield coach at Wilkes. In the spring he serves also as an assistant baseball coach for the Colonels. Coach Goobic will be starting his eighth year at Wilkes.

CHARLES ADONIZIO — Offensive Line

A former Colonel line standout, Coach Adonizio played two years of football at the Univ. of Pittsburgh before transferring to Wilkes where he played under Coach Schmidt. 'Chuck' received his degree in Business Administration. He played high school football for St. John's High School in Pittston and later attended the Fork Union Military Academy. At Wilkes, Coach Adonizio has been offensive line coach for the past three years. He is married to the former Catherine Fahey and is associated in business with the Addy Asphalt Company, Wilkes-Barre.

People seldom see it till it's turned on. It's that small.

Then they can't see anything else.
It sounds that big.

The KLH Model Eleven Stereo Record Playing System.

Here's a portable record player that's really portable.

Just 28 pounds.

But it does away with the old wife's tale that you need big hunks of equipment to get big sound.

It's the KLH Model Eleven. A component stereo record playing system in a handsome suitcase.

It has everything you need to enjoy stereo or mono records.

It's got KLH quality. Throughout.

There are specially designed KLH full range speakers; a distortion-free solid state amplifier; an automatic turntable custom-built for KLH by Garrard; magnetic cartridge with diamond stylus; inputs for tuner and tape recorder, and many other features.

Come down to the store. Listen to the big sound of the little Eleven.

Get you run out of the store with one. And you won't need track shoes or muscles. It's that light. So is the price.

Just $199.95.

Alma Mater

Words and Music by Eleanor C. Farley

Wilkes, our Alma Mater
We pledge our hearts to thee,
Honor, faith, and courage,
Truth and loyalty.
In our work as in our pleasure
Guide us as a friend;
We shall always love thee,
Loyal to the end.
Thou shalt lead us onward
In search of finer things.
May we find the wisdom
That thy spirit brings.
May our deeds of love and service
Ever swell thy fame —
Wilkes, we stand to greet thee!
Glory to thy name!

Yeager Gets 154 Yds. On Ground for Wilkes

Wilkes-College mini-back from Catawissa, Ted Yeager, is the Colonels' leading ground gainer after two games this season. Yeager in 42 carries has gained 154 yards and scored two touchdowns. Yeager has also returned one kickoff 20 yards and was on the receiving end of four passes for 11 yards, according to statistics released by George G. Pawlush, director of sports information at Wilkes.

forces again and had to settle for a field goal attempt which failed to get off the ground.

The Moravian team, under the tutledge of Rocco Calvo, unleashed the most inspired effort of any team that the Colonels have faced in the last five years. Greyhound ball carriers Glen Overk, Rick Hoppes, and Jack Iannatuno, taxed the Wilkes rushing defense to the fullest, amassing 199 yards.

Ted Yeager and Gennaro led the Golden Horde in the running department, gaining 138 yards on 39 carries between them. Hoppes and Iannantuono amassed 140 yards, accounting for 70 apiece.

Sideline notes — Zakowski's eight for 16 effort gives him over 50% on the season. The Hanover Twp. southpaw now has completed 19 of 37 for 234 yards . . . Bill Lazor picked up 75 yards on 4 receptions, giving him a two game total of 10 catches for 162 yards . . . Game was carried live and in color by WNEP Channel 16 . . . The win put the Colonel grid record over the .500 plateau for the first time in many years. The Blue and Gold now have an all-time accumulation of 89-88-5 . . . Charlie Fick again high in the hit department recording 8 hits and 11 assists. Linebackers Jim Loveland and Tony Cardinale, hit 6-19 and 6-16 respectively . . . The Colonels 31 game streak now gives them a tie for third on the All-Time small college list with Morgan State . . . Hillsdale next on the board with 34 . . . Wilkes is now 16-0 in the five year history of Ralston Field.

Wilkes College Retains Berth In National Football Ratings

INDIANA, PA., AND COLONELS UNCHANGED FROM LAST WEEK

By The Associated Press

It was a 19th ranking for Lenoir Rhyne. Then it was 45-0. Now it's No. 5 in The Associated Press small college football poll.

Lenoir Rhyne trounced Presbyterian 45-0 last Saturday and vaulted from 19th to fifth place in the weekly poll released today.

On The Sports Front

DON KEATLEY, Sports Editor

If, during the remainder of this football season, Wilkes College can adjust to situations as rapidly and with the success experienced last week against Lycoming, Coach Rollie Schmidt's Colonels well may be on the road to another record-shattering campaign.

Saturday's 34-13 triumph at Williamsport stands as a tribute to Colonel stamina and recuperative powers. Mistakes were corrected almost immediately and improvement on defense came with such suddenness it shocked even Wilkes fans.

This Saturday the Colonels host Moravian and will be seeking their 31st straight victory in a color-television contest at Ralston Field. Imagine . . . color television! It's remarkable what "winning" does to a community.

Less than a decade ago, Wilkes was playing before a packed house of squirrels, chipmunks and Karl Ashworth, a West Side resident who has been following the Colonels since day one. Today, fans must get to the field early for a seat.

With the Colonels now ranked first in the race for Lambert honors and 20th nationally, Saturday's game stacks up to be a dandy. Add to this the fact that Moravian stands third in Lambert voting and you have a general idea of the importance of this one.

On the scholastic scene, one Meyers player and two from Pittston Area have been nominated for All-State honors with the Pennsylvania Big 33.

Hitting the check list from Wilkes-Barre was Tony Keris, Meyers premier lineman at 6-1, 265 pounds. On offense, Keris led many of the running plays clearing the way for fullback John Rushkowski. On defense, Tony backed up the center of the line checking many of Lake-Lehman's ground thrusts.

DON KEATLEY

The top three teams held their position, but there was a major shake-up in the lower rankings.

(Wilkes College, after notching its 30th straight victory, retained 20th spot on the poll.)

No. 1 North Dakota State received seven of 14 first-place votes and 228 points after drubbing the University of Nebraska-Omaha 41-7 for its third victory of the season, 13th straight and 51st in its last 55 games.

Second is Indiana, Pa., State with 167 points, followed by Grambling with 110.

In other changes in the Top Ten, Northern Arizona University fell from fourth to eighth after being whipped 52-7 by Montana and Arkansas State fell from fifth to 16th after being beaten 14-10 by The Citadel, a major college team.

Texas A&I moved up to fourth, and rounding out the Top Ten are Alcorn A&M, No. 6; Weber State; Northern Arizona University and Montana and Northwest Louisiana, tied for ninth.

The second 10 are Sacramento State and Delaware, tied for 11th; Florida A&M; Northern Michigan; Morehead State; Arkansas State, Troy, Ala., State; New Mexico Highlands and Akron, tied for 18th, and Wilkes.

The top 20, with first place votes in parentheses. Points awarded for first 15 picks on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8 etc.:

Down Moravian, 6-0

Colonels Win 31st Victory; Tops in Nation

Faced with the valley of death, the Wilkes Colonels bested Father time again, edging past an inspired Moravian Greyhound team, 6-0, yesterday afternoon before 7,000 fans at Ralston Field and extended their five year victory streak to 31 games, longest in the nation!

Second string defensive back John Kerr proved to be the man of the hour, thwarting a Greyhound last ditch rally, by intercepting a Joe Dowling pass in the endzone with only one minute remaining in the game. The thief stopped what appeared to be a scoring drive as the Greyhounds marched methodically down the field after the Colonels missed on a 27-yard field goal attempt.

Kerr, a fourth quarter replacement for injured starter Jerry Moser, grabbed hold of the ball for a touchback, and subsequently the Wilkesmen ran out the clock.

Miscues hampered both squads as several scoring thrusts were ended by interceptions or fumbles. Dowling, last week's ECAC quarterback of the week, had a long afternoon with the Wilkes pass defense completing only five of 16 passes for 51 yards. Four of his tosses were pilfered.

Moravian Starts Strong

Moravian gave early notice of their thirst to knock the Blue and Gold from the unbeaten ranks, as they unleashed a sustained attack the first time they had the pigskin. The visitors had a first down situation on the Wilkes five-yard line but were stopped by a Charlie Graziano steal on the three-yard line. The Colonel sophomore, who broke open the game last week against Lycoming, returned the ball to 42-yard line, getting the Wilkesmen out of the woods.

The Colonels got a break again in the early stages of the second stanza, recovering a Greyhound fumble on the visitors' two-yard line, but turned the ball over on the first play, as the Moravian defenders jarred the sphere from fullback Bob Gennaro.

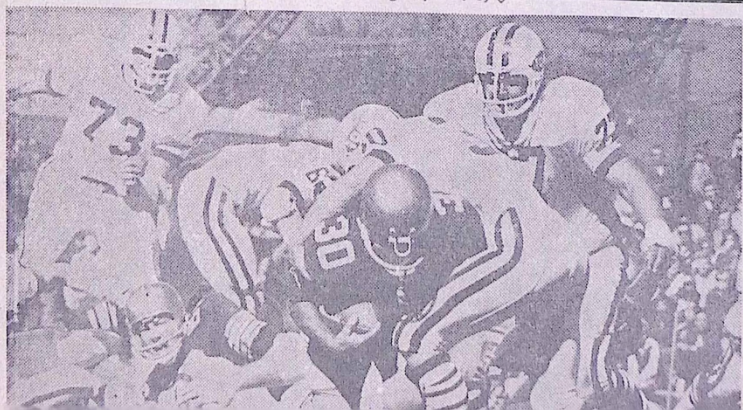

Minutes later Gennaro redemned himself by smashing over from the one with 2:25 remaining in the half. The 10-play, 31-yard scoring drive was set up by a fumble recovery by Wilkes monsterback Jim Loveland. The extra point attempt was unsuccessful as the Colonels were nixed by a wide snap. The score proved to be the only marker of the contest.

Garf Jones, another first-year Wilkes defensive back, duplicated Graziano's first half thief, taking the ball away from the Greyhounds on the first series of downs in the second half.

Malloy Intercepts

The Colonels appeared off and running early in the fourth stanza as linebacker Pat Malloy, intercepted another Dowling pass deep in Moravian territory. Starting from the 19-yard line, Wilkes signal caller Joe Zakowski moved his team to the 13, but were stopped by Moravian

VITAL BIG SIX—Fullback Bob Gennaro, a junior, crashes through from the one-yard line shortly before the end of the second quarter to give Wilkes College its only six points of the day, but enough to enable the Colonels to down Moravian, 6-0, and keep their consecutive win streak to 31—the longest in the nation—yesterday afternoon at Ralston Field.

Wilkes Going For 31st Straight Win In Saturday's Home Opener

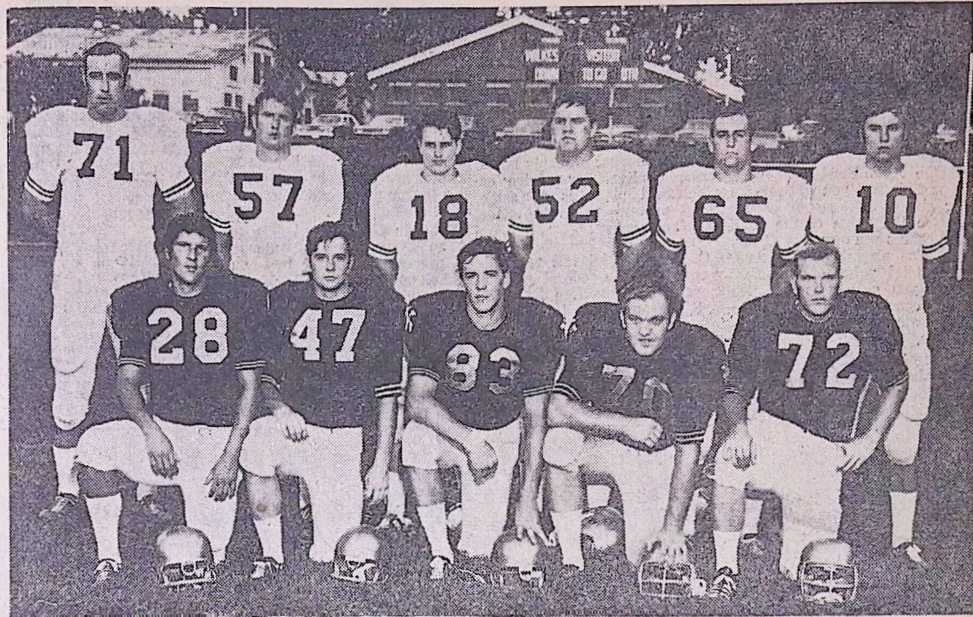

COLONELS HOSTING MORAVIAN COLLEGE

The Wilkes Colonels will renew their longest standing grid rivalry tomorrow afternoon when they meet headon with the Greyhounds of Moravian College. The encounter is scheduled to begin at 1:30 at Ralston Field, Kirby Park. Wilkes will be aiming for their 31st straight victory.

It will be the 18th meeting of the teams since the series was inaugurated in 1952. Although the Greyhounds haven't won since the 1964 season, when they recorded a 23-8 victory, they nevertheless hold a 12-5 edge in series play.

Saturday's contest should have a direct bearing on the championship of the Northern and Southern Divisions of MAC, since both squads currently lead their respective divisions. Last weekend the Greyhounds surprised perennially tough Delaware Valley 34-14 while the Colonels opened with an almost similar 34-13 victory over Lycoming.

The Greyhounds are basically a young team with 25 lettermen returning and are still smarting from the 40-0 lacing at the hands of Wilkes last October. Jack Iannantuono, 5-10, 180, and co-captain Hugh Gratz, 6-0, 185, provide the key on the ground. Last year the duo accounted for age respectively.

The charges of coach Rocco Calvo have established themselves as a team that never gives up and the Wilkesmen should have their work cut out for them. Adding to the Colonels woes is sophomore quarterback Joe Dowling who last week riddled Delaware Valley for 207 yards. His favorite receiver is Jim Gerhard, 5-10, 155 pound freshman flankerback from Allentown Dieruff.

The Wilkesmen proved on Saturday that they were a team on the move and not yet ready for the death bed when they ran up a total of 302 offensive yards while limiting the hapless Warriors to 117. Ted Yeager, 5-7, 150, again showed his rushing prowess picking up 84 yards on 21 carries. Bob Gennaro, 6-0, 135, impressed at fullback denting Lycoming for 58 yards.

New Pass Combo

A new passing combo was unveiled in Joe Zakowski to Bill Lazor as the two hooked up six times for 87 yards.

Coach Roland Schmidt faced his sadest moment of the week at Williamsport when highly touted flanker Jim Marascio was injured on the first play of the game but fortunately the fine pass catcher will be back in action by the Vermont game. Bill Staake, the Colonels prima punter, did an outstanding job in filling in for Marascio. His only catch, a diving leap, set up the Colonels third touchdown at the one.

The offensive line played up to expectations, blowing down onrushing lineup and a solid unit has been established. Tight end Jack Clarke, 6-3, 210, also showed pass catching tendencies with a 38 yard scoring grab.

Defense was the major cause for concern prior to Lycoming and the alignment passed with flying colors, jelling after the Warriors first score and holding them the rest of the way. Charlie Fick, 6-2, 240, made good on his switch from fullback harassing the enemy with 10 tackles and three assists.

Other pleasant surprises came from Bob Ashton and Dave Kaschak. Ashton, listed in the pre-season guide as an offensive halfback, was a three quarter sensation at defensive end. The 5-11, 190 pounder, filling in for the injured John Williamson recorded 6 tackles and 3 assists. Kaschak inherited the punt returning job left vacant by Joe Wiendl, and the 5-9, 178 pounder ran with reckless abandon accounting for 88 yards on 10 returns.

Fick and his defensive cohorts will have their work cut out on Saturday when they will meet the Aggies of Delaware Valley at Ralston field. The home contest will begin at 1:30.

Wilkes Wins 31st Straight

From Our Wire Services

WILKES-BARRE, Oct. 4. — Wilkes defenders intercepted four passes, including a fourth-quarter pass in the end zone, as it defeated Moravian, 6-0, Saturday for its 31st straight victory, the nation's longest college football streak.

Wilkes' defense, which gave up only 6 yards on the ground a week ago, gave up a total of 250 Saturday but forced one costly mistake.

Jim Loveland recovered a second-quarter fumble on the Moravian 31 and a few minutes later Bob Gennaro scored from the one.

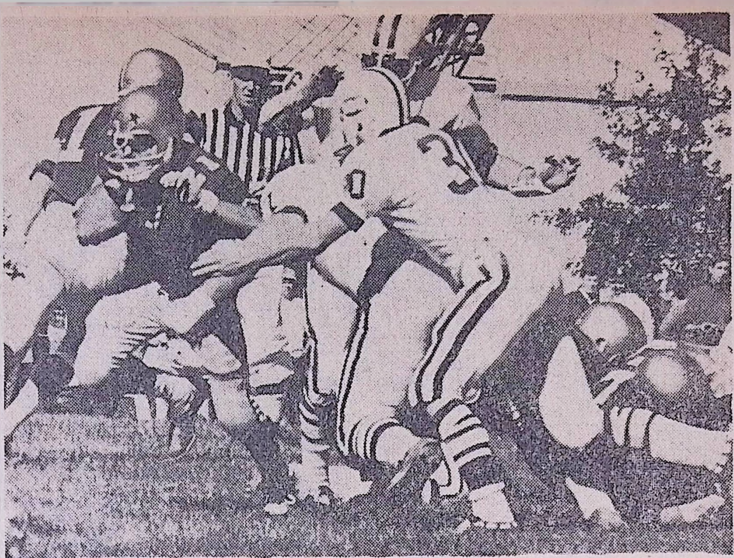

With Moravian on the 17 and a minute to play, Garf Jones intercepted a pass in the end zone to preserv the victory.

Penn State, Wilkes Survive; Indiana, Pa., Whips Edinboro

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

AP State Sports Editor

Defense appears to be the name of the game at Penn State. The Nittany Lions still are among the nation's unbeaten football elite because its tough defenders turned back five Kansas State drives in the first half.

The Nittany Lions generated enough offense to score 17 points in the second quarter and held on for a 17-14 victory. As a result the nation's No. 2 ranked team extended its non-losing streak to 22 games. The Lions have won three this season and 14 in a row since the January 1, 1968 Gator Bowl tie with Florida State.

Actually, the score wasn't as close as the numbers indicate. K. State scored its final TD with 15 seconds remaining to trim the margin to three points. Lydell Mitchell, the sophomore running back, ran 59-yards for Penn State's first touchdown. Star halfback Charlie Pittman did not play, resting his injured ankle for next Saturday's game with West Virginia.

While State was winning as expected, Pitt did the unexpected. The Panthers beat Duke 14-62, scoring twice in the first half and holding off Duke's final half comeback. Quarterback Jim Friedl threw one TD pass for Pitt and directed a drive for another as the Panthers equalled their victory output of each of the last two seasons.

Indiana, the No. 2 ranking small college football team in the nation, defeated Edinboro 7-0 as quarterback Wally Blueas tossed two TD passes and scored another. It was the third straight for Indiana and its 13th consecutive regular season victory.

Wilkes needed four pass interceptions and a fumble recovery to skim by Moravian 6-0 and extend the nation's longest winning streak to 31 games. One of the interceptions came in the end zone in the final period. The fumble at Moravian's 31, set up the lone Wilkes' TD drive.

Penn beat Brown 23-2, despite losing its first two quarterbacks, each with a shoulder separation. Third stringer Phil Procaacci, a sophomore, came in to throw two TD passes and run 69 yards for another. Quarterbacks Drew Gordon and Joe Belasco each tossed three touchdown passes as Villanova rolled over Santa Clara 57-8. Temple took advantage of two bad passes from center by Wayne State in scoring a 34-0 victory.

Lafayette's Ed Baker threw a 36-yard TD pass to Bob Dono-

trio in the third period that helped Lafayette win a wild one from Hofstra 41-25. Gettysburg outgained Bucknell almost two to one on offense but lost to the Bisons 24-21. Lehigh fell behind 21-0 in the first period and they couldn't quite make it back, losing to Wittenberg 21-13.

In the Pennsylvania State College Conference, West Chester continued its march to the Eastern crown with a 49-12 walk-over against Millersville. Clarion got three touchdowns from fullback Joe Abal in beating Lock Haven 21-7. End Glen Hermann caught 10 passes for 131 yards as Waynesburg upset California 20-0. Slippery Rock edged Shippensburg 34-31 on a diving catch in the end zone by Briar Pearl with two minutes remaining. Stew Casterline passed for three TDs as Mansfield beat Cheyney, and East Stroudsburg won its first of the season 23-1 over Kutztown on a TD with 5 seconds remaining.

Burke Is Solid Performer

Seldom seen, seldom heard, would be a suitable phrase to identify the five offensive linemen on a football team. Statistics of some sort or form may be compiled on every other offensive and defensive position, but being an offensive lineman is a thankless job, which usually goes unheard of or unrewarded.

The only compensation gained may be a well done from the evernoticing coach or the pat from a grateful back who has just slipped through a hole big enough to fit a freight train.

This year, the Wilkes Colonels are blessed with one of the best and quickest offensive lines in school's history. One of the stalwarts of the platoon is veteran tackle Ed Burke. At 6-3, 238 the former Coughlin High School grad is one of the biggest men on the team.

He is a senior psychology major and beginning his third season as a Colonel regular. Rated a hard hitter, he had occasion last week against Lycoming of taking out three Warriors with one block. For the play he got the well done.

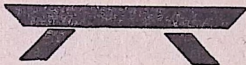

ED BURKE

Behind the Bench

By LEE RICHARDS

Sunday Independent Sports Editor

Wilkes looked a bit sluggish to us even in victory. CHARLIE FICK, former star fullback at Meyers, did a great job at defensive tackle for the winners. TED YEAGER and BOB GENNARO ran well from scrimmage. ED BURKE, former Coughlin tackle, turned in some neat line blocking for COACH ROLLIE SCHMIDT'S team. BILL STETKE'S punting kept the Moravian team in tough field position most of the game. Wilkes has come up with another fine receiver in split end BILL LAZOR, out of Scranton Central. He teams up with QB JOE ZAKOWSKI of Hanover Township to give the Colonels a fine offensive threat.

All-Star Indiana Football Team 1927-1960

(Reprinted with permission. From Pittsburgh Press, February 12, 1961)

The Press today presents the 19th and last of a series picking the all-time football teams at the leading universities and colleges in the district. In each instance, a panel recruited from among coaches, players and athletic officials representing all areas of the game assisted in naming the team. In order to adapt the team to the evolution of the game down through the years, two players are named at each position.

By DON GIFFIN

Indiana State College offers a unique study in athletic harmony in a field where short terms and pink slips are all too common.

Since 1927, when the Indiana Normal School became a state teachers college, the institution has had only three football coaches—and all three still work together under the same campus roof in Waller Gym.

George Miller, a Midwesterner who had just earned his master's degree at Columbia, arrived at Indiana the year before the change was made.

Indiana had had many fine football teams as a normal school, once (in 1917) being considered the best in the nation, and Miller continued that fine gridiron tradition.

The grand old man of sports coached the football team for 17 seasons through 1946, having only two losing years and producing the college's two undefeated teams that won State conference championships in 1934 (6-0-0) and 1940 (7-0-1).

He turned the football reins over to Peck McKnight in 1947 and two seasons later, after McKnight had taken over the basketball job when Bob Timmons went to Pitt, Sam Smith moved in from Dormont High to relieve McKnight of the head gridiron duties.

Jobs Retained

Both are still in those jobs, McKnight assisting Smith with the football team, and Miller heads the college's physical education department.

Although Smith hasn't landed any titles yet, practically all of his teams have held their own against the toughest small-college opposition in Western Pennsylvania, his 1960 Indiana record slipping one game below 500 for the first time in his 12 seasons at the helm.

McKnight and another halfback, Norman King, were two of Miller's first great Indiana players and are the senior members of the 22-man all-time football team that spans the modern era since 1927. In fact, King, who now heads the business education department at Shippensburg, finished up that year.

Won 14 Letters

McKnight was the school's first four-sport athlete. He earned 14 letters in football, basketball, baseball and track between 1926 and 1930.

Ten other all-timers wore the Indiana spangles in the Miller era before World War II, among them Fullback Mike Gendich, now a Detroit industrialist who received an alumni award several years ago for the recognition he has brought the school through his business achievements.

Gendich was one of the stars of the 1934 championship team when he was a senior, a year ahead of Marshall Woodring, the second highest scorer (120 points) in Indiana history.

Halfback Russ Carlson was No. 1 in that respect, sandwiching his playing career around the war. He scored 135 points in the 1942, 1946 and 1947 seasons.

The other all-time backs—Quarterback Norman Lewandowski, Halfback Jack Conley and Fullback Dick Grabiak—finished their careers under Smith.

Lewandowski resembled more the old-time, triple-threat quarterback and also was a defensive stalwart.

The pride of the Indians in the last decade has been the ability of their ends. Three of them performed so brilliantly that they were named to Little All-American teams—John Marefka in 1954, Bob McFarland in 1956 and Frank Cignetti in 1959. The latter two are now on grid coaching staffs in the WPIAL.

Fred Stokes, the fourth end star, who, ironically, was in Indiana's home economics department, wound up his playing days in 1941.

'52 Tackle Named

Percy Kneebone and Harold Fulton earned their grid spurs in the early 1930s as outstanding tackles. Lee Brant starred at that position just before the war and Ron Huber gained all-State recognition there after the 1952 season.

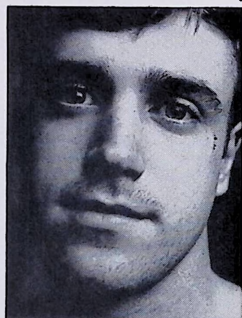

Guard Joe Kliskey was a classmate of Kneebone in 1932. George Hay followed in his footsteps and the third all-timer at that position, Albert Hovanec, came along in the late '30s. Gene Aplanalp, now head coach at Ridgway High, was singled out as the best guard in the post-war era under Smith.

The final two members of the all-time squad—the centers—are Sam Commello, whose final season was 1941, and Art Connor, the head coach at Thomas Jefferson High in Pleasant Hills, who closed his fine career at Indiana in 1950.

Break your beard in right.

Right now your beard is in the formative stage.

You can shave it with a razor blade like your father does. And each time you do your beard will grow back a little more difficult. Until one day shaving's no longer a chore. It's an agony.

Look no further than your father's face for proof.

But fortunately, you're catching your beard at an early age. You can break it in to be just as shaveable 10 and 20 years from now as it is today.

With a REMINGTON® Lektro Blade shaver.

And if you think the kind of shave we're selling won't be close enough for you, you're wrong.

Our new Lektro Blade shaver has very sharp disposable blades. Just like a razor. So it gives very close shaves. Just like a razor.

What's more, you can dial a Lektro Blade shaver into a sideburn trimmer.

Admittedly, it costs more to buy our electric shaver than a razor and some blades.

But it's a good investment.

These next few years will determine how you and your beard will get along for the rest of your lives.†

From a humble beginning Indiana University of Pennsylvania has become an important institution of higher learning which serves the needs of a large number of Pennsylvania citizens. From a student body of only 225 its first year, Indiana this year has an undergraduate enrollment of close to 8,500.

IUP grew out of a need for a teacher-training institution in Pennsylvania in 1871 when the Pennsylvania General Assembly passed an act granting aid for the establishment of a normal school in the ninth Pennsylvania district.

Since the first building was opened for students in 1875, the University has graduated more than 24,000 students; and since becoming a degree conferring institution in 1927, it has granted more than 14,000 degrees.

Ownership and control of the school passed to the Commonwealth in 1920. In 1927, the General Assembly approved a change in the name and function of the school. As the State Teachers College at Indiana, it became a four-year college with the right to grant the bachelor of science degree in education.

Thirty years later, the college was authorized to offer, for the first time, work leading to the master of education degree in elementary education. The program was later expanded to include 15 secondary areas as well. This program, with a beginning enrollment of 74 in 1957, has graduated more than 1,000 students through January, 1969, and currently enrolls approximately 4,000 students.

In 1959, the name of the college was changed to Indiana State College. This set the stage for a liberal arts program which graduated its first students, January 12, 1964. More than 1,200 students are now enrolled in the School of Arts and Sciences.

In 1962 and 1963, Indiana established off-campus centers in Punxsutawney and Kittanning, respectively. Combined enrollment of the centers presently numbers approximately 800 students.

Indiana State College was redesignated Indiana University of Pennsylvania in December, 1965, with the right to expand its curricular offerings and to grant degrees at the doctoral level as well as in several additional areas at the master's level.

Through the years, the physical plant of the University has increased from an original single building to a campus of about 185 acres (including approximately 100 acres encompassing the University Lodge) in the center of the community of Indiana with more than 30 major buildings, 20 other buildings, and a major athletic field development and field house.

Recently completed were a large men's dormitory complex, learning-research center, student health center, ROTC building, and maintenance building.

Bonfire Ends Football Season

Indiana's first bon-fire to celebrate her football victories was a decided success. Many wondered why Mr. Whitmyre stopped all the Freshies on that memorable day of November 22. Wasn't just the size of the bon-fire suggestion enough? The boys worked hard that afternoon on trucks and wagons so that many were tired and sore from the duties of freshman, but when the fire was lighted and the zip! bang! began, this was all forgotten. Dr. Keith performed the ceremony of lighting the fire and then the fun started.

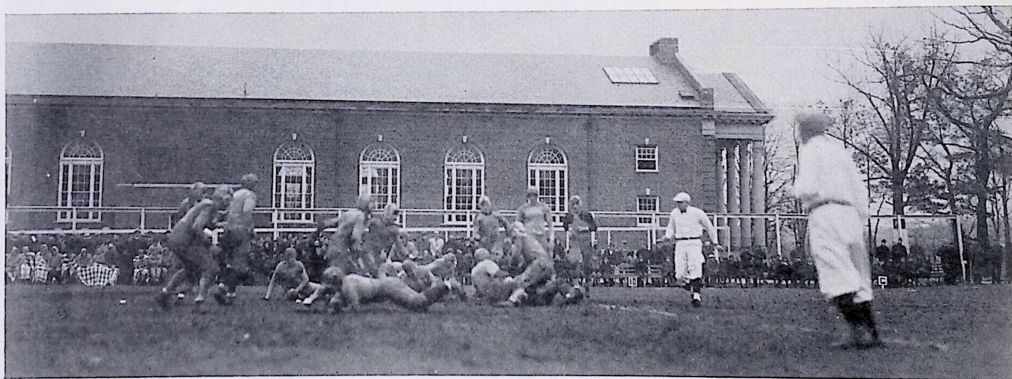

Snake dances, kid fun, and cheers made all thoughts of everything else fade from our minds. Such pep and enthusiasm Indiana had not seen in many a day. Now the MORAL! Remember basketball season is coming along and it is your duty to show that same enthusiasm by attending the games and leading the boys on to more victories. That is something to think over.

Indiana Football Coaches, 1927-1961

On this College Football Centennial Day at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, November 15, 1969, the three men who served as head football coaches at IUP from the institution's days as a normal school through the years and into this fast departing decade, will be honored as today the 1969 football campaign—the Centennial season of collegiate football—comes to a close.

GEORGE P. MILLER

In 1926 George P. Miller came to Indiana, and from that time until his retirement, 35 years later, his accomplishments and versatility have inscribed his name into immortality in the coaching ranks at the Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

He came to Indiana as a head coach and teacher of health and physical education. During his long tenure at Indiana he served as head coach of many sports including football, basketball, baseball, track, golf and swimming.

A native of Wisconsin, he came here after graduating from LaCrosse College. He also did graduate work at Columbia, Illinois, Northwestern, New York University and the University of Pennsylvania.

During his coaching reign, which lasted until 1946, he coached every sport at Indiana and was also the athletic director. He retired from teaching in 1961.

For a total of 17 seasons, from 1927-47 (no football during war years), George P. Miller was the head grid coach and is still credited with the only two undefeated campaigns in IUP history. His 1934 team won six without a loss or tie, giving up only 17 points, while the 1940 squad won seven (five by shutouts) and tied one.

Through his 17 grid campaigns George Miller showed a career mark of 79-42-9 for a .653 win percentage.

His 1935 and 1937 squads ranked as Pennsylvania State College Conference Western Division champions, the 1934 and 1940 teams as statewide conference champions.

In 1964 George Miller was honored by being inducted into the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Hall of Fame as a coach.

In honor of his dedication to IUP, the football field was officially named George P. Miller Stadium when it was dedicated in 1962.

REGIS "PECK" MCKNIGHT

Not only a great coach, Regis "Peck" McKnight is the only four sport letter winner in the history of the Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Known more recently for the outstanding basketball squads he produced, "Peck" earned a total of 14 letters in basketball, football, track and baseball between 1926 and 1930 while at IUP.

A native of Indiana County, he coached high school teams at Curwensville, Greensburg and Hershey, following graduation.

During his high school coaching career he was requested to speak at many clinics and was the first speaker at the nationally famous Atlantic City Coaches Clinic.

In 1947, he returned to his alma mater as both head football and head basketball coach, the sport in which he was to leave his mark at IUP.

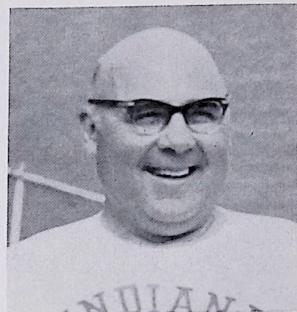

"Peck" was head grid tutor for two years, 1947 and 1948, and in those two seasons his teams won four, lost 10 and tied two for a .286 percentage. They tallied 187 points while the opposition registered 289.

For 17 seasons McKnight guided the fortunes of the IUP cagers and during his tenure recorded 214 victories as against 126 losses.

One of the greatest IUP basketball teams of all time was a McKnight-tutored quintet that played during the 1957-58 season racking up 25 wins and only three defeats. That year they won the Pennsylvania State College Conference and the NAIA District 30 crown.

The Braves advanced to Kansas City where they participated in the NAIA Tourney, an event which brings together the best cage teams in the nation.

McKnight-coached basketball teams also copped the PSCAC title in 1960 and were champions of the western division of the PSCAC in 1960-61, 1953-54 and, of course, 1957-58.

SAM SMITH

One of the most colorful coaches in the long history of athletics at the Indiana University of Pennsylvania is Sam Smith.

In the fall of 1949 Sam Smith joined the physical education department at Indiana and immediately was named head football coach.

He also served as head baseball coach and athletic director. In 1962 he resigned as head grid coach and athletic director and the following year he relinquished his coaching duties on the diamond.

A successful high school mentor, Sam Smith guided the football fortunes at Dormont High School in Pittsburgh for 19 consecutive seasons. During that period Dormont was the Class A Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League (WPIAL) champion in 1939 and shared the crown with Mt. Pleasant in 1942.

A graduate of South Hills High School in Pittsburgh, he starred in both football and basketball as a scholastic athlete.

In 1930 he graduated from Waynesburg College and that fall began his 19-year reign at Dormont.

While head football coach at IUP, he had only five losing seasons in the 13 campaigns he was at the helm.

Smith-coached teams compiled a record of 49 wins, 55 losses and six ties for a percentage of .471. His teams scored 1,368 points while the opposition tallied 1,482.

One of the finest defensive units fielded by Smith was the 1954 squad which posted a 5-3 record. They scored 153 points while limiting the opposition to only 68.

He was also the director of intra-mural sports for many years.

Currently, Sam Smith is a member of the Health and Physical Education staff at IUP.

The History of College Football

by ALLISON DANZIG

ON THE PLAYING FIELDS of Rugby came the genesis of the American game of football.

Had not, in 1823, a schoolboy at the famed English Public School by the name of William Webb Ellis taken it into his head on the spur of the moment to run with a ball kicked by the opposing side, thereby outraging propriety with this shocking violation of the rules, soccer might have continued the only style of football played in Britain and on the North American continent. Then and there (or some days later, when the indignant outcry had changed to a feeling that maybe the revolutionary blackguard had something) was born the game of Rugby football, or rugger, in which running with the ball is permitted.

Had not, a half century later, Harvard University, also by chance, played a style of football that had elements of Rugby, soccer (Association football) might have remained the pastime on our college campuses, and our own style of game might not have evolved as a predominantly running and, later, forward passing game. It was a form of soccer, with twenty-five on a side, that Princeton and Rutgers played in the first game of intercollegiate football in this country November 6, 1869, at New Brunswick, N. J. It was soccer that Yale and Columbia also played a century ago.

Because its football differed from the game of the others, Harvard declined to join in the first intercollegiate rules convention at the Fifth Avenue Hotel in New York October 19, 1873, at which rules modeled after those of the London Football Association (soccer) were adopted. It turned for competition to McGill University of Montreal, which played the football of the English Rugby Union. Two games in the spring of 1874 with McGill at Cambridge, and a third in the fall at Montreal, sold Harvard completely on Rugby and led, at long last, to the most famous of all college football rivalries in the country—the Harvard-Yale game, or THE GAME.

The Crimson and the Blue met for the first time November 13, 1875, at Hamilton Field in New Haven, Conn., under "Concessionary Rules," playing a hybrid game of Rugby and soccer, with fifteen on a side and a round soccer ball. Harvard was the winner over a Yale team that scarcely knew what it was all about. A year later, they met in Rugby, with Yale converted to Harvard's style of football and Harvard giving in to Yale's demand for eleven on a side. They played with an egg-shaped leather ball on a field 140 yards by 70, and Yale won, one goal to none.

That same year, 1876, Princeton, won over to Rugby, called a convention at Massasoit House in Springfield, Mass. Yale, Harvard, Columbia and Princeton representatives formed the American Intercollegiate Football Association. They adopted the code of the Rugby Football Union except for a scoring change, the game being decided by a majority of touchdowns and a goal being equal to four touchdowns.

The die was now cast: Football was to become a running as well as kicking game, and the way was cleared for the evolution of football into a game indigenous to the United States.

The man who led in that evolution, whose creative, inventive mind came up with the fundamental changes and whose leadership in getting them adopted brought about the development of a game of imagination, strategy, skill, speed and daring far surpassing the rather elemental structure and concepts of Rugby, was Walter Camp of Yale. He was the first giant of American football, the father of the game, and he helped to set the highest standard of sportsmanship by precept and personal example.

Camp was a contemporary of Amos Alonzo Stagg (the most inventive of all coaches, the Grand Old Man whose coaching career spanned three score and ten years until he retired in 1960 at the age of 98, and who died at 102 in 1965). A man of rugged honesty and stern simplicity, Camp was of the Spartan mold. From the time Camp attended a rules convention in 1878 as a Yale player, he was a member of every rules committee until his death in March, 1925.

The first of his most far-reaching changes came in 1880. This was the substitution of scrimmage for the Rugby scrum. Two years later came the adoption of his system of downs and yards to gain—at first 5 yards in three downs, then 10 in 3 (1906) and finally 10 in 4 downs (1912). These two revolutionary innovations changed the basic structure of football and brought about a new concept and format of the game. The principle of possession of the ball was established and that was the most fundamental departure from Rugby, in which the ball changes hands endlessly, often in a matter of seconds. Also in 1880, Camp won his long fight to reduce the number of players from 15 to 11.

With the introduction of scrimmage, the quarterback made his appearance and also there came a new method of putting the ball in play. Instead of being heeled out in a melee of rival Rugby packs, it was given to the offensive center and he snapped it back with his foot to his quarterback.

With possession and control of the ball, planning and strategy became important. Also in 1882, the field was reduced from 140 by 70 yards to 110 by 53 1/3 and took on the gridiron appearance with the horizontal lines every five yards for the measurement of first downs.

Simultaneously, Camp devised the system of signals and worked out the accepted arrangement of the eleven players—7 forwards, a quarter, two halfbacks and a fullback. A year later he introduced the numerical scoring system, assigning point values for the methods of scoring—5 for a field goal, 4 for a goal after touchdown (try), 2 for a touchdown and 1 for a safety (made by opponent).

In 1884, another of the fundamental features of American football became established without actually being sanctioned by legislation. This was interference or blocking. Princeton had been using convoys at the sides of the carrier since 1879 and now sent them ahead, a clear violation of Rugby's "offside," but passively accepted and then, in 1888, legalized by implication.

In 1888 came the last of Camp's fundamental changes that created the structure of the American game prior to the legalization of the forward pass in 1906. This was permitting tackling below the waist.

When the line constricted, the backs—formerly spread across the field—had to close in also, for protection against the deadly low tackle. Thus resulted the close formation that became standard—the original T, from which a quarter century later Notre Dame was to shift into the box and which, approximately another quarter century after, was to have its revival in the modern version as employed with sensational success by Stanford University.

No one foresaw it at the time, but this particular change in 1888 was to bring about a game so brutal and hazardous as to lead to outcries for the abolition of football. As a consequence, the far-reaching rules changes of 1906 legalized the forward pass and resulted in an open game so imaginative and thrilling with its speed, deception and skilled maneuvers as to win millions of new followers.

PART TWO

THE OPEN GAME of running, lateral passing and kicking that constituted American football in the 1880s, after the introduction of the fundamental departures from Rugby of the scrimmage, the system of downs, and blocking, came to an end with the legalizing in 1888 of the low tackle and the constricting of linemen and backs from a spread to a close formation (the T). The game was now to become a dull, unimaginative test of brute strength, a game of increasing roughness as dangerous mass momentum plays were devised.

Designed to bring linemen into the backfield and thrust a ponderous mass of flesh at the enemy, such plays jammed, tugged and catapulted the ballcarrier through the opposing massed barrier. Casualties mounted alarmingly and fatalities resulted.

Alonzo Stagg, the most prolific of football's inventors, conceived the first of these mass momentum plays while coaching at Springfield (Mass.) College in 1890-1891. This was the ends-back formation assault. In 1884 Princeton had used a wedge play on the kick-off, dropped it, and revived it in 1888. Lehigh had the "V trick," but Stagg's was the first, fast-moving mass assault from scrimmage, and it was the momentum that made the mass plays so dangerous.

In 1891 Stagg also devised the "turtleback" (which some credit to Harvard in 1893) and then in 1892 at Harvard, Lorin Deland, a chess player and follower of Harvard football, came up with his sensational "flying wedge". By 1893 virtually everyone was using this dreaded kick-off maneuver, which added momentum to the Princeton wedge and Lehigh V. Also in 1892, Dr. Harry Williams, a Yale graduate coaching Penn Charter school, who was later to invent the Minnesota shift, introduced his "revolving wedge". Then in 1894, George Woodruff, a Yale teammate of Stagg, devised as coach at Pennsylvania the remarkably effective "guards back" formation. With it, Penn challenged the supremacy of Yale, Princeton and Harvard and from 1894 to 1898, won 65 of 66 games, scoring 1,957 points to its opponents' 120. The year before, 1893, Woodruff had introduced flying interference by pulling linemen into the backfield and starting them ahead of the ball carrier before the ball was snapped.

Phil King's "ends back" in 1893 and "revolving tandem" in 1896 at Princeton, Stagg's "tackles back" at Chicago in 1894, Williams' "tackle back" in 1899 and Camp's "tackle back" at Yale in 1900 were other examples of the mass momentum plays. The Deland flying wedge had become the standard opening play of the game by 1893. With the other mass momentum procedures gaining followers, football so increased in roughness, and injuries mounted so alarmingly, that the season ended in an uproar of protests. The Army and Navy departments abolished the service academies' game. Yale and Harvard were nearing a split, and so were Princeton and Penn.

At a meeting of Yale, Harvard Princeton and Penn representatives in New York Feb. 23, 1894, drastic changes were made. The flying wedge, Princeton wedge and Lehigh V were banned. It was prohibited for more than three men to start before the snap of the ball and for members of the offensive team to group more than five yards behind the line. The kick-off had to travel at least 10 yards to be in play. Nevertheless, the game continued to be so rough that Yale and Harvard broke relations after their 1894 game and Cornell's team was restricted to its campus.

In 1895, Camp of Yale and Alex Moffat of Princeton invited Harvard and Penn to a meeting. Yale and Princeton were for doing away entirely with mass play while Harvard and Penn were all for retaining it. They were divided too on playing graduates, Yale and Princeton being against it. They split, and so in 1895 there were two sets of rules, Cornell joining Harvard and Penn, Navy siding with Princeton and Yale.

There was a growing dissatisfaction in the newly football-conscious Middle West with the East's control of the game. In 1896, the colleges which organized into the Western Conference projected a program of their own in which they were to adopt the freshman rule, limiting varsity eligibility to three years; require a year's residence for transfers; abolish training tables; and set up faculty control of athletics.

To meet the challenge of the West, the rival groups in the East agreed in the summer of 1896 that (1) no member of the offensive side shall take more than one step toward the opponents' goal without coming to a full stop, and (2) at least five players shall be on the scrimmage line when the ball is snapped. Momentum was thus reduced, but football continued to be a rough and uninteresting game of close-order mayhem in which brute force, rather than speed and deception, was the prime factor.

Additional changes were made to reduce injuries. In 1903, seven men were required on the offensive line of scrimmage between the 25-yard lines. In 1904, six were required in all situations. Still the injuries continued and in 1905 the casualties were such that football came under its heaviest attack for its brutality and foul play. The Chicago Tribune reported 18 fatalities and 159 other injuries for the season. Columbia University abolished football for 10 years. Northwestern suspended play for a year. California and Stanford dropped football for Rugby.

President Theodore Roosevelt summoned representatives of Yale, Harvard and Princeton to the White House and requested steps be taken to clean up the game and save it. Late in 1905, at the invitation of Chancellor Henry M. McCracken of New York University, representatives of 28 colleges met in New York and, led by Captain Palmer E. Pierce of the United States Military Academy, formed an association which was the forerunner of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. It named a rules committee which met with the older group headed by Camp. The two merged into the American Inter-Collegiate Football Rules Committee and on January 12, 1906, this 14-member joint committee adopted the far-reaching changes that were to radically alter the pattern of play, reduce the hazards and ultimately bring about the modern open game.

The most revolutionary and exciting change, of course, was the legalizing of the forward pass, which was to make the game far more spectacular and attractive. In 1903, and again in 1904, John Heisman had written to Camp, urging the pass be put in the game. In 1904, Dr. Harry Williams, a member of the Rules Committee, argued for legalizing it. At the fateful 1906 meeting he, Lieut. Paul J. Dashiell of the United States Naval Academy and Lehigh, and John C. Bell of Pennsylvania were leaders in the winning fight. Eddie Cochems, coach of St. Louis University, was another early advocate.

In addition to legalizing the pass, the 1906 meeting (1) established a neutral zone (the length of the ball in width) separating the opposing lines, which had stood toe-to-toe, cheek-by-jowl in combat, (2) prohibited hurdling, (3) increased the distance to be made in three downs from five to ten yards, (4) prohibited guards, tackles and the center from playing in the backfield unless at least five yards back, (5) reduced the playing time from 70 to 60 minutes, divided into halves.

Severe restrictions were put on the forward pass. It had to be thrown from at least five yards behind the line and cross the line at least five yards to the right or left of where the ball was put in play. Failure to complete a pass resulted in the loss of 15 yards and the down. Partly because of this, the pass was used sparingly, if at all for some years. In time, restrictions were removed.

In 1907, the 15-yard penalty for an incomplete pass was eliminated. By 1910 the pass no longer had to cross the line five yards out, and the defense was forbidden to interfere with the receiver. That year the pass could not be thrown more than 20 yards beyond the line, but this limitation was removed in 1912, when, in addition, a fourth down was added in which to make ten yards, encouraging the use of the pass. Also in 1912, the length of the field was reduced from 110 to 100 yards, and end zones ten yards in depth beyond the goal lines were created in which passes could be completed, and the kick-off was made from the kicking team's 40.

Incidentally, these changes in addition to the touchdown being raised in value from 5 to 6 points (it was raised from 2 to 4 in 1884 and to 5 in 1897, on a parity with the field goal) marked the last fundamental changes in the game's structure, which had included the lowering of the value of the field goal from 4 (to which it dropped in 1904) to 3 in 1909, and, in 1910, the requirement of seven men of the offense on the line of scrimmage, the abolition of interlocking interference, pushing, pulling and crawling, the division of the game into four 15-minute quarters, and permission for the quarterback to run anywhere into the line.

The nearest thing to basic changes in the game since 1912 have been permitting the conversion after touchdown to be made by a run or pass or drop kick, as well as by placement kick, in 1922; the removal of the goal posts from the goal line to the rear line of the end zone, in 1927; and, in 1958, the change in value of the conversion by a run or pass from one to two points, with the ball being put in play on the 3-yard line instead of the 2 for all conversions.

The game took on a new look with the 1941 change in the substitution rule that permitted wholesale replacements, Michigan starting the use of offensive and defensive line platoons in 1945 and entire team platoons in 1947. This practice stopped with the 1953 change in the substitution rule, but was renewed when virtually free substitution was brought back by the 1964 and 1965 provisions. A final injunction against momentum plays came in the imposition of a full stop on shifts by stages in 1922, 1924, 1927 and 1930, putting the brakes on the Notre Dame shift.

FROM THE TIME Princeton and Rutgers met in the first intercollegiate game in 1869 until late in the 1870s, organized football in the United States was confined to the Atlantic seaboard. Yale and Princeton were the dominant teams in the 1880s, and from 1883, when point-scoring started, Yale was virtually invincible except for its loss to Princeton in 1885, 6 to 5. The best of the early teams was undoubtedly the Yale eleven of 1888, which scored 694 points and shut out all 13 opponents. Alonzo Stagg, Pudge Heffelfinger and George Woodruff were members, and Camp was Yale's first coach that year.

Princeton had one of its best teams of all time in 1889. Harvard had a superior eleven in 1890 led by Ma Newell, "the perfect player," four times on the all-America teams. Yale was supreme in 1891-92 with Frank Hinky, "the disembodied spirit," four times All-American; Heffelfinger, three times; Bum McClung; and Foster Sanford. In 1892, Cornell also commanded attention with Glenn Warner and Joe Beacham. Princeton, with Phil King's "end back," was on top in 1893. In 1894, Pennsylvania, with George Woodruff's "guards back," went to the front and for five years lost only one of 66 games—that to Lafayette and its great Babe Rinehart in 1896.

Other outstanding early teams in the East were Captain Hinky's 1894 Yale eleven; Captain Pop Warner's Cornellians of the same year; Gary Cochran's Princeton Steamroller of 1896; Coach Pop Warner's 1898 Big Red team, the Harvard eleven of the same year with Charley Daly and Percy Haughton; the Princeton Tiger of 1898, whose Arthur Poe stole the ball and ran 100 yards to beat Yale, and beat the Ellis again in 1899 with a last-minute drop-kick, the first he ever booted. Doc Hillebrand and Big Bill Edwards of those teams are Tiger immortals.

In the South and Middle West football got started about the same time. Michigan organized in 1873, but could not find an opponent until it played Racine College in 1879. Two years later the Wolverines pioneered inter-sectional competition, journeying East to play Yale, Princeton and Harvard in five days. Notre Dame was not to come into the picture until 1887, against Michigan.

The first game in the South was between Virginia Military Institute and Washington & Lee in 1877. In 1880, Centre College played Kentucky University (later Transylvania). In 1889, Sewanee, coached by Herman Suter, a Princetonian, was the South's first great team. It shut out eleven of twelve opponents. Auburn, coached by John Heisman, who was to win national renown at Georgia Tech after coaching Clemson to a perfect season in 1900, lost to Sewanee, 10-11, its only defeat. Also in the South, Glenn Warner, who stands with Stagg, Rockne, Bob Zupke and Hurry-Up Yost among the giants of the coaching ranks, went to Georgia in 1895 at $35 a week; Auburn was to know glory days with the perfect start of the regime of Mike Donahue, Yale quarterback, in 1904, and that year Dan McGugin, Vanderbilt's beloved coach from Michigan, began his illustrious 30-year career with an invincible team.

In the 1890s, football was being played by most of the colleges of the East, big and small, and was spreading to the Missouri Valley, Rocky Mountains, Pacific Coast and Southwest, as well as flourishing in the Southeast and Middle West.

The Army-Navy game was inaugurated in 1890. Stagg started his unparalleled career at Springfield College in 1890 and in 1892 began his 41-year tenure at Chicago. The classic of the West Coast, the California-Stanford game, started in 1893. In 1895, the Western Intercollegiate League was organized, and Purdue in 1892, Minnesota in 1893 and Wisconsin and Michigan in 1894 had strong teams. Significant of the West's progress, in 1898 Clarence Herschberger, fullback on the Chicago team Stagg brought East, was named on Camp's All-American team—the first player beyond the Atlantic seaboard to be honored.

That same year, 1898, another Middle West player gained national attention. Pat O'Dea, Wisconsin's Australian captain known as the "Kangaroo Kicker," amazed with his prodigious feats, kicking a 62-yard field goal in a blizzard. Against Yale he was to punt 100 yards. In 1898, too, Michigan won its first Conference crown with a perfect record and that year also Warner took the Carlisle Indians to the West Coast to play an exceptional California team and start East-West rivalry.

In 1901, Fielding H. (Hurry Up) Yost was installed at Michigan and his "Point-a-Minute" team became legendary. That year the Wolverines scored 550 points and shut out their eleven opponents. They went to the West Coast and in the first Rose Bowl game at Pasadena crushed Stanford, 49-0. From 1901 through 1905, Michigan won 55 games, lost one, by 2-0, and tied one. Willie Heston, the terror of that team, scored over 600 points in four years.

The team that defeated Michigan, ending a 56-game unbeaten streak, was Chicago. It won 2-0 on a safety in the final 1905 game at Marshall Field before 25,791, a record crowd for the West. Stagg's team was one of his finest, scoring 245 points to 5 for the opponents. Walter Eckersall, ranked among the greatest players and finest field generals of all time and three times an All-American; Hugo Bezdek and Jesse Harper, famed coaches later; and Captain Mark Catlin were on the team.

The team that tied the Wolverines was Minnesota, in 1903, the year of the genesis of the Little Brown Jug. The Gophers, who won their 14 other games and scored 618 points to 12, were in their fourth season under Dr. Harry Williams, inventor of the Minnesota shift. Another new coach in the conference was Phil King, who piloted Wisconsin to a perfect season in 1901, and another Princetonian, Walter Booth, brought Nebraska into national prominence as the Cornhuskers shut out all 10 opponents in 1902 and beat every opponent again in 1903.

PART FOUR

THE MODERN ERA of intercollegiate football began with the forward pass in 1906. But it was not until after the last basic structural changes in 1912, including the addition of the fourth down, reduction of the field length from 110 yards to 100, with end zones; raising the value of the touchdown from 5 to 6 points, moving the kick-off from midfield to the kicking side's 40, and lifting of the limitation on the length of the pass, that the game began settling into the pattern of today.

The inaugural Army-Notre Dame game in 1913 accentuated the turning point. Notre Dame's sensational passing display, to the surprise and 35-13 discomfiture of the Cadets, as Gus Dorais fired again and again to Captain Knute Rockne, end, and Joe Pliska, right half, awakened the East to the great potentialities of the new weapon. Except for St. Louis University, Chicago and Glenn Warner's Carlisle Indians, few teams made extensive use of the pass, though Oklahoma and Texas were about ready for aerial fireworks.

The most successful teams between 1906 and the first World War were winning, with few exceptions, on their running, kicking and defense. Warner's Carlisle Indians of 1911 and 1912, with possibly the greatest of all backs, Jim Thorpe, won far more on his fast, powerful running and great kicking than on passing.

THE HISTORY OF COLLEGE FOOTBALL

ance of Notre Dame in the East, against Army at the Polo Grounds in New York in 1924, that college football became a hysteria.

Grantland Rice, most famous, noble and beloved of sports writers, wrote of the game: "Outlined against the gray-blue October sky, the Four Horsemen rode again. In dramatic lore they are known as famine, pestilence, destruction and death. These are only aliases. Their real names are Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden."

Then and there was created the most glamorous and publicized team of all time—the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame. The press across the nation sang praises of the horsemen and the "seven mules," led by Captain Adam Walsh at center.

Riding into legendary fame with them was their coach, Knute Rockne, the flat-nosed, bald-headed immigrant from Norway whose dynamic personality, brains, wit, caustic sarcasm, mastery of psychology and command of men, as well as knowledge of football, contributed to making him the most celebrated of all coaches. When he fell to his death in the crash of a plane over Kansas March 31, 1931, a whole nation was stunned and grief-stricken.

There never was a decade to equal the 1920s for the host of great coaches, players and teams.

It was the decade of the Four Horsemen, of Red Grange of Illinois who was to rank on all-time teams, of George Gipp of Notre Dame, of Ernie Nevers of Stanford, Ken Strong of New York University, Bronko Nagurski of Minnesota, and scores of other legendary heroes.

The Notre Dame shifting attack was riding high in the 1920's, with Rockne so successful and so many of his disciples teaching it. Then came successive rules changes imposing a full stop, and the offense began to lose favor. The Warner style of football, single and double wingback, became more and more the vogue.

Warner, perhaps the most prolific of coaches next to Stagg in his originations, invented the single wingback while he was at Carlisle and the double wing came a few years later. It was not until 1938 that the double wing caused a great stir. That year his Stanford Indians put on a tremendous show in crushing Army, 26-0 at the Yankee Stadium in New York, and coaches rushed to get on the Warner bandwagon.

The Colgate team of 1932, coached by Andy Kerr, used the double wing. This was the "unbeaten, untied, unscored-on and uninvited" team, which was passed by as a bowl attraction. Lou Little's 1933 Columbia team, which perpetrated the Rose Bowl upset of all time in defeating Stanford, used the single wing, with variations.

Bob Neyland's Tennessee teams of 1938, 1939 and 1940, which each won all ten games, used the single wing, as did, of course, the Stanford "Vow Boys" of 1934, and Carl Snavelly's 1939 Cornell team, which had a perfect record and continued unbeaten in 1940 until the next to last game.

Late in the 1930s, George Halas of the Chicago Bears worked out with Clark Shaughnessy, University of Chicago coach, the modern version of the T, with a flanker in motion and quick-opening plays. They had such sensational success with it that football offense took on a new look in a few years. The Warner wingback and Notre Dame box with a shift were supplanted as coaches made the switch after Frank Leahy at Notre Dame and Earl Blaik at Army were converted.

Until Bud Wilkinson went to Oklahoma in 1948 and started one of the most successful regimes in history, Army and Notre Dame dominated the 1940's, challenged by Michigan in 1947 and 1948. Notre Dame from 1946 to 1949 won 36 games, lost none and tied two. Army from 1944 did not know defeat until its stunning loss to Columbia, 21-20, in 1947.

Wilkinson exploited the Split-T formation, invented by Don Faurot, with wider line spacing and using the quarterback as a ball carrier on the option play. His Sooners won 47 games in a row from 1953 to 1957.

In the late 1950's, the Split-T formation lost in favor and the Slot-T was widely adopted in college ranks. The Wing-T vogue increased and Blaik's Lonely End formation at Army led to the use of a widely split end and a flanker back deployed to the opposite side. In the past several years, the I formation has been popular since John McKay used it extremely successfully with Mike Garrett and O. J. Simpson at USC.

Two games in the 1960's belong among the legendary contests in football: In 1966, Notre Dame and Michigan State, with perfect records, met before the largest television audience on record for a regularly scheduled college game, 33,000,000 viewers, and played to a 10-10 tie. In 1968, Harvard and Yale met, both unbeaten and untied for this game for the first time since 1909. Harvard, trailing 22-0 in the second quarter, pulled out a 29-29 tie with two touchdowns in the last minute, the second on the last play of the game—one of the most incredibly exciting on record.

Both were in keeping with the excitement and tradition of college football, and heralded games to come.

WILKES COLLEGE

Wilkes College had its beginnings in 1933 when Bucknell University, responding to a request of community leaders, established its Junior College in Wilkes-Barre. On June 26, 1947, Bucknell University Junior College came to an end and Wilkes College received its charter as a four-year, coeducational, liberal arts college. The College has grown slowly to its current enrollment of approximately 2368 full-time day students and 682 part-time evening school students.

From its inception the College has been dedicated to these twin goals — a sound and stimulating intellectual experience for students and a program of service to the community.

WILKES COACHING STAFF

ROLAND C. SCHMIDT — Head Coach

The upcoming 1969 football season will find Coach Roland Schmidt beginning his eighth year as the Colonels' mentor. In seven years he has accumulated a lifetime log of 38-16. His teams in the last four years have won 31 of 32 contests and currently are riding the crest of a 29-game winning streak, the longest in collegiate football. Coupled with this incredible record are four M.A.C. championships, two Lambert trophies, and one Timmie Award, gained last year for being the outstanding collegiate team in the country.

Schmidt has also achieved success on the baseball field. In the past two seasons his teams have won 22-5, including an M.A.C. championship in 1968.

A 1950 graduate of Wilkes-Barre Coughlin High School, Coach Schmidt took part in football, wrestling and track. He attended Bloomsburg State College before serving a two-year stint with the Army. Returning to Bloomsburg in 1955, "Rollie" played football and track for the Huskies.

The mentor graduated from Bloomsburg in 1956 with a B.S. in education and served as a member of the Clarks Summit teaching staff for three years. In addition to being an assistant football coach, he also served as the head wrestling coach and assistant track coach. The Wilkes mentor later moved on to Kingston High School and was an assistant coach for three years. Coach Schmidt holds a master's degree from the University of Scranton. He is married to the former Margaret Dombroski.

GENE DOMZALSKI — Defensive Line

A recent full-time addition to the Wilkes teaching staff, Domzalski is beginning his second year as a Colonel coach. Gene played for five years in the New York Yankee chain before retiring in 1964. He matriculated at Newport Twp. High School and starred in baseball, basketball, and football for the Nutcrackers. In his sophomore year at the Univ. of Wyoming, Domzalski led the nation in punt returns. Two years ago he guided the Nanticoke Area Trojans to their first PIAA Dist. II baseball championship.

Next spring he will make his debut as the Colonel's baseball mentor. Gene is married to the former Arline Barnowski of Wilkes-Barre.

ROBERT HERMAN — Defensive Linebackers

Bob will return to Wilkes College after a six-year lapse. A 1963 graduate of Wilkes College, Herman was a center for the Colonels during the lean years between 1960 and 1962. He was a three-year Wilkes letterman and capped his grid career by being named to the MAC team.

Herman received his Master's Degree from Scranton University in 1967 and will remain in the Wyoming Valley West School District as a teacher and wrestling coach. He is a native of Nanticoke. He is married to the former Carol Wojcieckowski and they are the parents of a daughter.

ROBERT CORBA — Defensive Secondary

Corba is another new addition to the Colonels' coaching staff. He is a graduate of Abraham Clark High School in Roselle, New Jersey, where he played football and baseball. After high school he continued his education at Upper Iowa College, receiving his degree in 1966. He was formerly an assistant coach at Northwest Area High School. Corba is married to the former Alice Koury of Wilkes-Barre. The new mentor will remain on the physical education staff at Coughlin High School.

JONAH GOOBIC — Offensive Backs

Jonah was a three-sport athlete at Plains High School. Graduating from that Wilkes-Barre area institution in 1954, Coach Goobic was a standout football, baseball, and basketball player. He later matriculated at Bloomsburg State College, receiving a degree from that down-river institution in 1958. During his four years at Bloomsburg he played football and baseball. Jonah teaches at the Northwest Area High School, Shickshinny, and is first assistant and backfield coach at Wilkes. In the spring he serves also as an assistant baseball coach for the Colonels. Coach Goobic will be starting his eighth year at Wilkes.

CHARLES ADONIZIO — Offensive Line

A former Colonel line standout, Coach Adonizio played two years of football at the Univ. of Pittsburgh before transferring to Wilkes where he played under Coach Schmidt. 'Chuck' received his degree in Business Administration. He played high school football for St. John's High School in Pittston and later attended the Fork Union Military Academy. At Wilkes, Coach Adonizio has been offensive line coach for the past three years. He is married to the former Catherine Fahey and is associated in business with the Addy Asphalt Company, Wilkes-Barre.

"PRIDE AND POISE"

... the lull before the storm as George Conway (52) sets up over the ball. Ted Yeager and Bob Gennaro await the commands of Zakowski.

... Bill Lazor (82) gives that extra stretch that might mean the difference between victory and defeat.

... Bob Ashton (51) a virtual unknown before the Lycoming tilt, has helped interject some of that pride with outstanding play from his defensive end position.

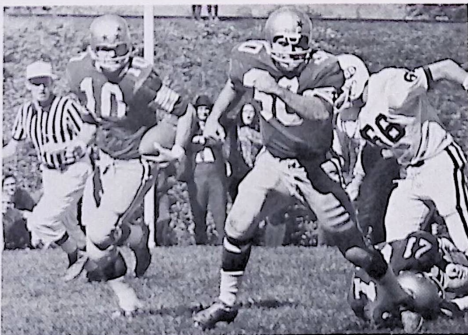

... Lycoming defenders move in to make Ted Yeager (21) pay the price for the yardage that he has gained.

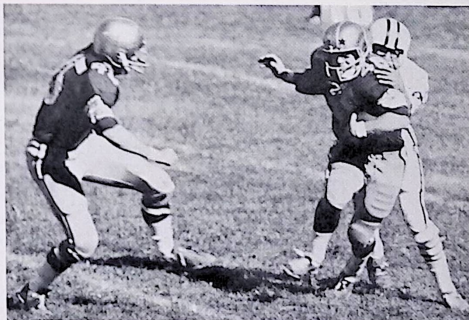

... Charlie Fick (70) puts pride together with a crunching tackle. Fick, an All East selection this week, leads the team with 18 first hits.

... Bill Staake (18), unsung hero of last week's contest, puts poise to work getting off a boomer. He led the MAC last year with a 39.8 average per punt. Bob Gennaro (30) prepares for onrushing defenders.

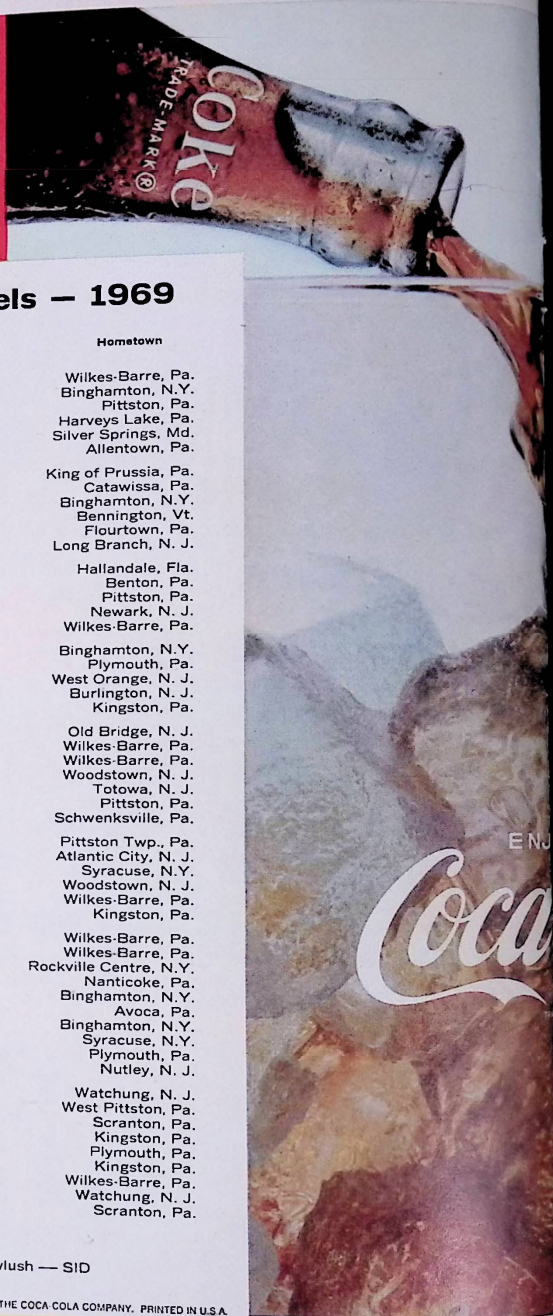

... Signal-caller Joe Zakowski (10) goes for the first down as Bob Gennaro (30) stands ready to clear part of the way.

... Dave Kaschak (48), punt and kickoff return specialist is shown on the short end of a return. Garf Jones (45) looks for some way to break him loose.

People seldom see it
till it's turned on. It's that small.

Then they can't see anything else.
It sounds that big.

The KLH Model Eleven Stereo Record Playing System.

Here's a portable record player that's really portable.
Just 28 pounds.

But it does away with the old wife's tale that you need big hunks of equipment to get big sound.

It's the KLH Model Eleven. A component stereo record playing system in a handsome suitcase.

It has everything you need to enjoy stereo or mono records.

It's got KLH quality. Throughout.

There are specially designed KLH full range speakers; a distortionfree solid state amplifier; an automatic turntable custom-built for KLH by Garrard; magnetic cartridge with diamond stylus; inputs for tuner and tape recorder, and many other features.

Come down to the store. Listen to the big sound of the little Eleven.

Bet you run out of the store with one. And you won't need track shoes or muscles. It's that light. So is the price.
Just $199.95.

Alma Mater

Words and Music by Eleanor C. Farley

Wilkes, our Alma Mater
 We pledge our hearts to thee,
 Honor, faith, and courage,
 Truth and loyalty.
 In our work as in our pleasure
 Guide us as a friend;
 We shall always love thee,
 Loyal to the end.
 Thou shalt lead us onward
 In search of finer things.
 May we find the wisdom
 That thy spirit brings.
 May our deeds of love and service
 Ever swell thy fame —
 Wilkes, we stand to greet thee!
 Glory to thy name!

Minimite, Ted Yeager Helps Wilkes to Win

Catawissa's Ted Yeager, former Southern Area star, took a Joe Zakowski handoff on the 27 yard line and went off on a 77-yard scoring burst to put the Wilkes College Colonels ahead, 7-3, in the first quarter Saturday afternoon and the Wilkesmen never lost the lead as they won their 32nd straight contest, 27-10, against Delaware Valley.

The not-so-tall and not-so-big Yeager, who is one of the shining stars in the backfield also came through with a defensive gem in the closing seconds of the first half when he hit an Aggie defender returning an intercepted pass on the one-foot line as the first-half gun sounded.

The 77-yard TD jaunt was the longest since 1965 when Paul Purda scampered 88 to paydirt. Yeager broke a personnel record with the split-second gem set last year against Vermont when he rambled 67 yards across the double stripe.

The win stretched the Golden Horde's season log to 3-0 and the 32 straight represents the nations longest win streak.

Wilkes Makes It 32 Straight

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Bill Lazor set two school pass catching records and Pete Gennaro scored three times as Wilkes College defeated Delaware Valley 27-10 Saturday for the Colonels 32nd straight football victory.

The winning streak is the nation's longest.

Wilkes defenders had a major role in the victory, intercepting four passes, three in the second half. Garf Jones had a pair of interceptions.

Many of Lazor's nine catches, good for 158 yards, helped set up Wilkes scores. Joe Zakowski was the passer.

All three of Gennaro's scores came on 1-yard runs. Ted Yeager scored Wilkes' other touchdown on a 77-yard run.

Lazor bettered the records of eight catches and 145 yards set last year by Joe Skvarla.

Wilkes is 3-0 for the season while Delaware Valley is 1-2.

Ted Yeager Tops Wilkes Rushers

Former Southern Area a product, Ted Yeager, is once again rolling along as the Wilkes College leading ground gainer. Yeager last year led the Golden Horde in the rushing department with 577 yards in 131 carries for a 4.4 average. This year the minimate speedster has compiled 242 yards in 55 calls to continue his average pace at 4.4.

The sophomore tailback also leads in kickoff return average romping 55 yards in two run-backs for a 27.5 average. In addition to leading two departments he has snagged five pass receptions and is the second leading scorer on the team with three touchdowns and 18 points to his credit.

The Catawissa native soared 77 yards last Saturday against Delaware Valley to break a personnel record he established last year against Vermont of 67 yards. The run is the second longest in the schools history, second only to Paul Purda's 88 yard TD run against Ursinus in 1965.

The victory Saturday marked the Colonels 32nd straight and is the longest win streak in the nation. The contest was nip and tuck between the two squads until the late stages of the third quarter when the Wilkesmen turned a close 7-3 (Yeager's TD) game into a 27-3 rout, scoring three touchdowns in seven minutes.

PATTON'S PATTERN

By BOB PATTON

RON TIMKO

EUGENE WALLACE

SANDY TIMKO

The Wilkes gridders seek their 32nd straight win tomorrow but three players from Plains who will be in the Delaware Valley lineup are hoping to pull the rug from under Coach Rollie Schmidt's Colonels and score an upset. We're picking the Colonels by 12 points.

Quarterback Ron Timko and his brother Sandy, a freshman halfback, and center Eugene Wallace are the Plains products who will be trying to bring Coach Bill Craver of Forty Fort a win over one of the nation's top small college elevens.

Ron Timko and Wallace are seniors this season but they have yet to win over Wilkes. Ron's mother will be in the stands rooting for her two sons for the first time.

And guess who is making it possible for her to see the game from a wheelchair? Coach Schmidt, of course. Mrs. Timko has been crippled the last 15 years and unable to leave her home, but Rollie, a Plains Township resident, arranged everything for her to be transported to the game at Ralston Field for the final appearance of her son Ron against the Colonels.

Wilkes owns a 7-1-1 edge over the Aggies but most games have been thrillers. The 1966 game was decided for Wilkes by a 60-yard third quarter pass from Joe Zakowski to Joe Skvarla. Zakowski is back again while Skvarla graduated. In 1967 a 68-yard punt return brought a 14-13 win. Wilkes won last year by 31-3 as Joe Wiendl featured by returning punts 62 and 88 yards for scores.

Ron Timko completed six of 22 passes for two touchdowns against Lycoming in a 20-7 victory last week.

WILKES ROLLS TO 32ND STRAIGHT VICTORY

Dave Kaschak of Wilkes is shown after he made a key interception of a Delaware Valley pass near the end of the first half. Wilkes won the game 27-10 to continue its win streak.

Wilkes College Colonels registered their 32nd win in succession Saturday afternoon belting a spirited Delaware Valley squad, 27-10. The contest was nip and tuck between the two squads until the late stages of the third quarter when the Blue and Gold scored three touchdowns in seven minutes to turn a 7-3 game into a 27-3 route.

Junior split-end Bill Lazor had his greatest football afternoon, breaking two pass reception marks set last year by Joe Skvarla. Lazor obliterated the reception mark of eight, and the 145 yards gained, by pulling down nine aerials for 158 yards. In the first three games the receiver has caught 19 passes for 320 yards.

Bill Staake also added his name to the Wilkes record book with his 10-point performance breaking the old individual mark by one.

The determined Aggies penetrated Colonel territory the first time they had the ball, mounting a rushing attack, which found holes in the Colonel line. Richard Glenn, a Delaware Valley back, appeared headed for a TD before he was hit hard on the 17 and lost the ball. Garf Jones, a offensive back turned defense, hopped on the ball for Wilkes.

Midway through the stanza, Colonel signal-caller Joe Zakowski found heavy sailing and was intercepted in the 37-yard line. The Aggies moved quickly to the 12 but that is where Wilkes held and the visitors had to settle for a three-point field goal from 32 yards out, for a 3-0 lead.

The advantage was short and sweet as Ted Yeager of Wilkes ripped through the middle of the Aggie defense for a 77-yard jaunt on the first play from scrimmage. Bob Gennaro aided with a key block. Dave Kaschak's placement put Wilkes ahead for good, 7-3.

The remainder of the half was played between the 20-yard lines as both teams played for the break, checking each others field position. Bill Staake, kept the Colonels out of trouble getting off a couple of 50-yard punts. Dave Kaschak pulled the Colonels out of another jam with an interception on the 19 in the closing minutes of the half. Four seconds before the gun sounded, one of Zakowski's passes went astray again, and Gleen Harkswell grabbed it and raced down the side line from the 40 to the 1-foot line.

With time running out in the third quarter the Colonels began one of their biggest scoring salvos in history. Zakowski, cold in the first half, began throwing strikes to Lazor, opening up the running game for Bob Gennaro. The Colonels climaxed a 70-yard march on a 22-yard third down completion to Lazor, setting the pigskin at the three where Gennaro rifled in for his first of three touchdowns.

The Aggies, behind by 10 points, were forced to go to their passing game which met immediate disaster as Garf Jones recorded his first of two interceptions, stealing a Ron Timko toss, which resulted in another Gennaro touchdown minutes later. Lightning struck twice in seconds as Timko was robbed for the third time with Ron Hillard doing the honors. Hillard, a second team linebacker, got good running room and sailed down to the eight before being knocked out of bounds. Gennaro went in from the one again with 11:18 remaining in the game.

Visitors got on the board again in the final minutes as Ron Timko hit Dan Guers with a 30-yard touchdown pass.

After falling behind in the statistical department in the first half the Colonels second half effort tied the Aggies in first downs 14-14, and got past in total offense 350-323.

ors for the 3rd time with another plunge from the one. Thus, in seven minutes a close 7-3 score, turned into a 27-3 rout.

With time running out the Aggie offense found the second string Wilkes defense with nine men on the field, and maneuvered 30 yards for the score on a Timko to Dan Guers aerial.

WILKES NOTES: The Colonels racked Timko for four interceptions, bringing their team total for the year to 10. The team record is 22 set last year.

. . . Garf Jones, another successful transplant from the offense leads team with 3. . . . Yeager's 13 rushes for 88 yards give him 55-242 on the season while Gennaro was 14-52, accounting for 50-178 on the year.

. . . Although Lazor has 19 catches for 320 yards he still has not caught a touchdown pass. . . . Joe Zakowski, who has completed 31 of 65 passes for 417 yards, has fired only one scoring strike all season. Jim Loveland led Wilkes defense with 9 hits and 16 assists.

Ashton Shows Plenty of Desire

\ Desire is a widely used word in the game of football today. If a player wants something bad enough, he will work for it and eventually get it. Ask Bob Ashton.

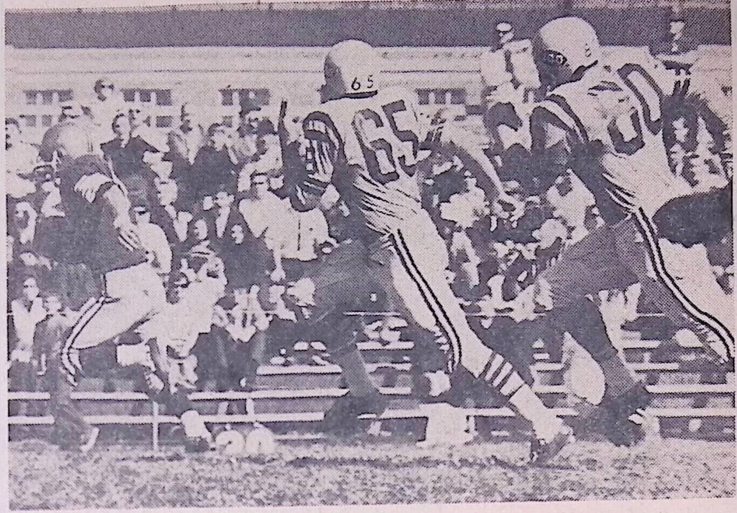

Prior to the start of the current collegiate year, the 5-11, 190 pounder was listed on depth charts as an offensive back. When Fall drills rolled around he was listed as a linebacker and finally became a defensive end after the Princeton scrimmage, when it became evident that John Williamson was going to miss the first couple games of the season.

Ashton's first taste of intercollegiate competition came in the Lycoming tilt. The Colonels were unable to penetrate the Warriors offensive wall. With the insertion of the former Hanover High School three sport standout into the contest, things began to change. Arising to the occasion, Ashton ignited the Wilkes defense, checking the Warrior passing attack and putting an end to any thoughts Lycoming might have had on the ground.

In the first two games, Ashton is second behind only Charlie Fick in tackles made. Not bad for an unknown defensive end.

BOB ASHTON

OFF AND RUNNING—Ted Yeager, Wilkes' miniback, streaks for the Colonels' first score in a 77-yard run after being sprung through the middle of the Delaware Valley line. Key block was provided by Bob Gennaro. No. 65 is the Aggies' Richard Russell and No. 80, Dominick Chechio.

The Colonels downed the Aggies, 27-10, for No. 32 in its win streak, the longest in the nation, Saturday afternoon.

Colonels Post 32nd Victory

Penn State, Wilkes Continue

Win Streaks; Pitt On March

Pennsylvania's winningest college football teams continued in their streaks last weekend while the Pitt Panthers started one of their own.

Pitt, which hasn't won more than one game a season for the past three years, took its second straight victory, pinning Navy, 46-19, Saturday.

The Panthers, who rolled up their second highest score in 67 years, sparkled on defense as well as offense. They held the Middies' runners, not allowing any net yards rushing.

Fifth-ranked Penn State added No. 15 to its string of wins by stopping West Virginia's famed offense 10-0. Nittany Lion defenders set up three touchdown drives by intercepting four of the Mountaineer passes. It was the first time in 40 games that the Mountaineers were held scoreless.

Wilkes College, which holds the longest winning streak in the nation, picked up its 32nd victory in its 27-10 decision over Delaware Valley. Bill Lazer broke the Colonels pass-catching record, snagging nine for 158 yards to help in the win.

Walt Blucas and Bob Cox ran for touchdowns to help Indiana defeat Brockport State, 17-3. It was the fourth win of the season for Indiana which is second ranked among the nation's small colleges.

In an Ivy League clash, Dartmouth routed Penn, 41-0. The Quakers surrendered 509 yards to Dartmouth runners while suffering their first setback in three games.

Temple and Bucknell played to a 7-7 tie, despite a last quarter attempt by the Bisons to kick a 52-yard field goal which had the distance but went wide to the left.

Lehigh's defensive unit set up a pair of touchdowns to lead the Engineers to a 17-7 upset over Rutgers. Lafayette took a 27-7 victory over Drexel.

Gettysburg defeated Albright 21-6 as split end Bill McGowan tied a school record by catching three touchdown passes in the second quarter.

In the Pennsylvania State College Conference, West Chester smashed Bloomsburg, 38-13, as Clarion beat Edinboro, 24-0.

Grove City lost its first game of the season to Wittenberg, 24-7. Dickinson's defense proved too strong for Haverford as the Red Devils won 31-12. Kings College held the Marist eleven to 37 yards in total offense while scoring a 29-0 victory.

Nation's Longest Win Streak Hits 32!

Wilkes College Grid Team Tops Delaware Valley, 27-10

Unleashing a strong second half effort, the Wilkes Colonels notched their 32nd win in a row, yesterday afternoon at Ralston Field, defeating a game Delaware Aggie squad 27-10. In stretching their season log to 3-0, the Wilkesmen extended their winning ways at Ralston Field to 17-0, since the stadium opened in 1965.

Similar to last year's contest, the Aggies overwhelmed the Colonels in every statistical department during the first half, then faltered in the vesper portion.

Bill Lazor, the Colonels split-end, shattered two reception marks set last year by Joe Skvarla. The 6:3, 190-pound junior garnered nine catches for 158 yards, breaking the old record of eight and 145 yards, set by the Wilkes all-time great. Joining Lazor, with a new entry in the record book, was Bill Staake who boomed out 10 punts, eclipsing the old mark by one.

Delaware Valley received the opening kickoff and appeared off and running, as Dennis Shank and Richard Glenn, hit the Colonels rushing defense repeatedly for sizable gains. With the ball on the 39 yard line Glenn swept through the Blue and Gold secondary for 27 yards, but fumbled on the 17. Garl Jones, defensive hero of the game for Wilkes with two interceptions, recovered to get the Colonels out of an earl jam.

Aggies Snare Pass

Midway through the quarter Aggie defender Glenn Harkwell, intercepted a Joe Zakowski pass on the Wilkes 37-yard line. Displaying the same running prowess as in the first series of downs, Del Val pushed down to the 12 where the Wilkes defense held for three downs, forcing the Aggies to settle for a field goal. Peter Bracchi's 32-yard put the visitors ahead briefly 3-0 with 7:33 remaining in the quarter.

REGAINS LEAD—The not-so-tall and not-so-big Ted Yeager, who is one of the shining stars in the Wilkes Colonels' backfield, skirts around the last would-be tackler, Delaware Valley's Alan Lehman, and is off on a 77-yard run which put the local college eleven ahead, 7-3, yesterday afternoon at Ralston Field. The Colonels never lost the lead and won their 32nd straight contest, 27-10.

put the visitors ahead briefly 3-0 with 7:33 remaining in the quarter.

Twenty seconds later, on the first play after the kickoff, miniature Ted Yeager broke loose with a Zakowski pitchout, and went 77 yards to paydirt. A key block by Bob Gennaro paved the way, and Dave Kaschak's placement put the Wilkesmen ahead 7-3.

The rest of the first half was played between the 20 yard lines, as long punts by Wilkes' Bill Staake kept the Colonels out of trouble. Dave Kaschak ended one Aggie drive with an interception on the 19 yard line in the closing minutes of the half. With only four seconds remaining in the stanza, the hearts of the Wilkes fans nearly fell to their feet, as an Aggie defender picked off a Zakowski aerial in the flat at the 40, and raced the ball back to the Wilkes one foot line, where Ted Yeager knocked him out of bounds with time having lapsed on the clock.

First half statistics found Del Val head in first downs 11-4, and total offense 242-165, but behind on the scoreboard 7-3. The second half found the Colonels rejuvenated with pride and poise, and the Golden Horde defense began tightening up its gaps. With time running out in the third quarter the offense released some of the tension by delivering its first sustained offensive drive in two weeks. During the 70 yard scoring campaign, Zakowski marched his forces down the field on hand-offs to Gennaro, and five straight completions to Lazor. It was a 22-yard third down completion to Lazor which set the pigskin at the 3, from where Bob Gennaro two plays later scored.

Behind by 10 points, Aggie signal-caller and Plains resident Ron Timko, had to go to the air, and immediately met disaster as Garf Jones recorded his first pilfer of the afternoon. Seconds later the Blue and Gold were on the board again as pass receptions to Lazor and another Gennaro one-yard plunge brought the score to 20-7 with 14:30 left in the game.

After the kickoff, history repeated itself again, as Ron Hillard picked off another Timko aerial and returned it to the Aggie 8, where Gennaro did hon-

Wilkes Advances To 17th Position In National Football Poll

COLONELS GAINING GROUND
IN BID FOR TOP TEN STATUS

Unbeaten North Dakota State and Indiana Pa. State rolled up impressive victories and maintained their 1-2 position in The Associated Press' weekly Small College football poll.

The Bisons of North Dakota State, 24-6 victors over South Dakota, received seven of the 14 first place votes from a national panel of sports writers and broadcasters and a total of 242 points.

This gave them a comfortable margin over Indiana State, which walloped Edinboro 27-0. The Pennsylvanians, 3-0, got two first place votes and 182 points.

Montana, 4-0, tied for ninth a week ago, advanced to fourth by beating Weber State, 20-17. Weber, seventh in the last poll, dropped to a tie for 14th place.

(The Wilkes College Colonels, ranked 20th last week, advanced to 17th position after recording their 31st consecutive victory last week. Wilkes faces Delaware Valley this week in an MAC contest then moves up to Ithaca in a big inter-sectional game the following Saturday.)

Delaware, Sacramento State and Akron all moved up into the Top Ten. Dropped from the elite ten were Weber, Northern Arizona and Northwest Louisiana.

Big 'Gold Machine' Rolls Again

The mighty Colonels of Wilkes College rolled up win No. 32 yesterday—and in rather impressive fashion.

Delaware Valley came right at the "Big Gold" defense during the early going, but once the Colonels adjusted and went into a five-man front the visitors found it tough going inside.

Linebackers JIM LOVELAND and TONY CARDINALE had thier hands full in the early stages of the game, but sealed off the middle and were in on a host of tackles after the half. Loveland was impressive as he was in on around 18 stops, while Cardinale knocked heads with Aggie runners on nine occasions.

Sophomore GARF JONES turned in another brilliant defensive performance, recovering one fumble during the first-half and pilfering a RON TIMKO aerial during the second-half. He was in on seven hits.

The big play during the first-half, which had most of the 5,500 faithful buzzing during the intermission, was an interception in the last six seconds by DV's GLENN HAWKSWELL. The Aggie defender picked off JOE ZAKOWSKI'S pass, when Joe threw back against the grain, and zipped back to the half-yard line, where he was belted out by TED YEAGER to save a score and give DV a possible 10-7 lead. DV didn't get a chance to get off a play because time had expired.

Aggie Coach BILL CRAVER, former Forty Fort native, roared onto the field and charged the officials in protest of why the Aggies didn't have a shot at getting off a play.

During the intermission, DV Athletic Director NED LINTA and Wilkes Athletic Director JOHN REESE discussed the play with one of the officials under the scoreboard.

Three former Plains players saw plenty of action for DV. EUGENE WALLACE handled an inside linebacker slot and was in on a dozen or more stops, while SANDY TIMKO, a freshman, was in the secondary and recovered one fumble and stacking up four runners. . . . Former Wilkes assistant JACK LUKAS handled the phones during the game for the Aggies. . . . Credit "Big Gold" fullback BOB GENNARO with a crushing block which helped spring TED YEAGER on his 77-yard TD jaunt in the opening period. . . . All-MAC tackle of last season for the Colonels, BILL LAYDEN, who's working for Bendix in New Jersey, was at the game and praised the play of big CHARLIE FICK. . . . BILL LAZOR broke JOE SKVARLA'S single game reception record with nine catches for 158 yards. The old mark was eight for 145 yards, Lazor, only a junior, has an arsenal of moves. . . . Wilkes' passing game started to click when they threw under DV's four-deep. . . . BILL STAAKE'S punting was Big League. He sent many soaring high and long. . . . It was nice to see defensive end JOHN WILLIAMSON back in action. He missed the first two clashes and came into the game when the Colonels adjusted their defense and went into a five, shifting BOB ASHTON to middle guard. . . . The "Gold Machine" will seek No. 33 at Ithaca on Saturday.

Wilkes to Test Aerial Prowess Of Plains, Timko This Afternoon

Ralston Field will be the scene this afternoon for the 10th in the football series between Delaware Valley and Wilkes.

Aggies, a potential threat on the Colonel schedule, invade Wilkes-Barre from a 20-7 win over Lycoming College, while the Wilkesmen defeated Moravian, 6-0, for their 31st straight win.

Although Wilkes has a 7-1-1 edge over Del Val in all-time series play, the Aggies have delivered some jolts to the Blue and Gold in recent years. The 1966 classic was decided by a 50-yard third quarter pass from Joe Zakowski to Joe Skvarla while a year later it was a 68-yard punt return which brought the Golden Horde from behind to win 14-13.

Last year's contest, which went into record books as a 31-3 Wilkes victory was fought harder than the score would seem to indicate. Joe Wiendl erupted for 62 and 88-yard punt returns breaking open a close game.

Aggies, under Coach H. W. Craver, are a well drilled unit. Operating out of a pro-set offense, Del Val has amassed an average of 254.5 yards per game on the ground and in the air.

Dennis Shank, 5-11, 195, and Donald Chance, 6-2, 210 lead the Aggie running game.

Last week, Shank gave every indication he is the top-running back by scoring a touchdown and gaining 86 yards on 18 carries. Passing attack is centered around Plains High School product, 6-2, 210 pound Ron Timko at quarterback and 6-3, 245 pound tight end, Bill Thorne.

Timko, whose biggest asset is his throwing arm, ran into difficulty last Saturday, completing only 6 of 22 passes. Colonels hope to provide the pass rush and the blanket defense to halt Timko. Against Moravian, Wilkes defenders intercepted four passes, plus two the week before at Lycoming. The all time Colonel record for interceptions in a season is 22, set last year.

The Wilkes defense is currently leading all other teams in the Northern Division of the MAC with an allowance of only 183.5 yards per game.

Complimenting the rugged defense is a double threat offense which has shown signs of brilliance on occasion this fall. Ted Yeager, 154 yards on 42 carries, and Bob Gennaro, 126 yards on 36 carries, pace the Blue and Gold running game while the Joe Zakowski to Bill Lazor duo connected on the same wave length, 10 times for 162 yards.

Game time is 1:30.

Wilkes Wins 32d in Row

WILKES-BARRE, Oct. 11. — Bill Lazor set two school pass-catching records and Pete Gennero scored three times as Wilkes College defeated Delaware Valley, 27-10, Saturday for the Colonels 32d straight football victory.

The winning streak is the nation's longest.

Wilkes defenders had a major role in the victory, intercepting four passes, three in the second half. Garf Jones had a pair of interceptions.

Many of Lazor's nine catches, good for 158 yards, helped set up Wilkes scores. Joe Zakowski was the passer.

All of Gennero's scores came on 1-yard runs. Ted Yeager scored Wilkes' other touchdown on a 77-yard run.

Lazor bettered the records of eight catches and 145 yards set last year by Joe Skvarla.

Wilkes is 3-0 for the season while Delaware Valley is 1-2.

Gennaro Paces Wilkes' No. 32

WILKES-BARRE, Pa.—Bob Gennaro, Lake Hiawatha, N.J., fullback scored three touchdowns yesterday as Wilkes came to life in the second half to make Delaware Valley its 32nd consecutive victim, 27-10.

All of Gennaro's scores came on one-yard runs. Ted Yeager had put the Colonels ahead with a 77-yard gallop in the first quarter after Delaware Valley had taken a 3-0 lead. That 7-3 count still prevailed at halftime.

Bill Hazor, junior end, set a Wilkes pass catching record with nine receptions for 155 yards.

WILKES ROLLS TO 32ND STRAIGHT VICTORY

Dave Kaschak of Wilkes is shown after he made a key interception of a Delaware Valley pass near the end of the first half. Wilkes won the game 27-10 to continue its win streak.

Wilkes College Colonels registered their 32nd win in succession Saturday afternoon belting a spirited Delaware Valley squad, 27-10. The contest was nip and tuck between the two squads until the late stages of the third quarter when the Blue and Gold scored three touchdowns in seven minutes to turn a 7-3 game into a 27-3 route.

Junior split-end Bill Lazor had his greatest football afternoon, breaking two pass reception marks set last year by Joe Skvarla. Lazor obliterated the reception mark of eight, and the 145 yards gained, by pulling down nine aerials for 153 yards. In the first three games the receiver has caught 19 passes for 320 yards.

Bill Staake also added his name to the Wilkes record book with his 10-punt performance breaking the old individual mark by one.

The determined Aggies penetrated Colonel territory the first time they had the ball, mounting a rushing attack, which found holes in the Colonel line. Richard Glenn, a Delaware Valley back, appeared headed for a TD before he was hit hard on the 17 and lost the ball. Garf Jones, a offensive back turned defense, hopped on the ball for Wilkes.

The remainder of the half was played between the 20-yard lines as both teams played for the break, checking each others field position. Bill Staake, kept the Colonels out of trouble getting off a couple of 50-yard punts.

Dave Kaschak pulled the Colonels out of another jam with an interception on the 19 in the closing minutes of the half. Four seconds before the gun sounded, one of Zakowski's passes went astray again, and Gleen Harkswell grabbed it and raced down the side line from the 40 to the 1-foot line.

With time running out in the third quarter the Colonels began one of their biggest scoring salvos in history. Zakowski, cold in the first half, began throwing strikes to Lazor, opening up the running game for Bob Gennaro. The Colonels climaxed a 70-yard march on a 22-yard third down completion to Lazor, setting the pigskin at the three where Gennaro rifled in for his first of three touchdowns.

The Aggies, behind by 10 points, were forced to go to their passing game which met immediate disaster as Garf Jones recorded his first of two interceptions, stealing a Ron Timko toss, which resulted in another Gennaro touchdown minutes later. Lightning struck twice in seconds as Timko was robbed for the third time with Ron Hillard doing the honors. Visitors got on the board again in the final minutes as Ron Timko hit Dan Guers with a 30-yard touchdown pass.

After falling behind in the statistical department in the first half the Colonels second half effort tied the Aggies in first downs 14-14, and got past in total offense 350-323.

When Wilkes goes against Delaware Valley Saturday afternoon at 1:30, the Colonels will have added incentive now that this week's national polls have been released.

Moving up to the 17th slot, Wilkes appears to have established itself as a leading contender for the Top Ten. Last week's cliff-hanger against Moravians revealed a need for improvement on offense as well as strategy.

Monday morning quarterbacks had a field day regarding the field goal attempt and also with several pass situations within ground striking distance of the enemy goal.

Hopefully, the Colonels will straighten things out this week and reach their peak for the upcoming toughies with non-conference foes.

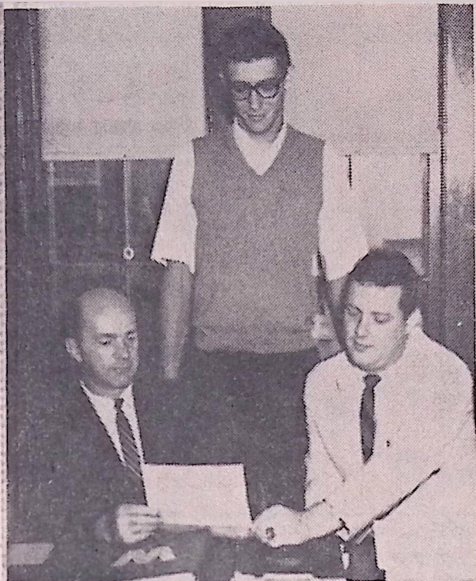

Minimite, Ted Yeager Helps Wilkes to Win

Catawissa's Ted Yeager, former Southern Area star, took a Joe Zakowski handoff on the 27 yard line and went off on a 77-yard scoring burst to put the Wilkes College Colonels ahead, 7-3, in the first quarter Saturday afternoon and the Wilkesmen never lost the lead as they won their 32nd straight contest, 27-10, against Delaware Valley.

The not-so-tall and not-so-big Yeager, who is one of the shining stars in the backfield also came through with a defensive gem in the closing seconds of the first half when he hit an Aggie defender returning an intercepted pass on the one-foot line as the first-half gun sounded.

The 77-yard TD jaunt was the longest since 1965 when Paul Purda scampered 88 to paydirt. Yeager broke a personnel record with the split-second gem set last year against Vermont when he rambled 67 yards across the double stripe.

The win stretched the Golden Horde's season log to 3-0 and the 32 straight represents the nations longest win streak.

ON ALL-EAST TEAM—Bill Lazor, Wilkes splitend, is shown receiving the news that he has been selected on this week's ECAC All-East football team for his record breaking performance against Delaware Valley. Seated and looking at the announcement are John Reese, director of athletics, and George Pawlush, director of sports information.

The 6' 3", 190-pound receiver shattered two of Joe Skvarla's single game records in smashing the Aggies pass defense for nine catches and 158 yards. The old marks were eight receptions, and 145 yards. Lazor, a former Scranton Central Standout, has been the star in the Colonels first three contest, collecting 19 receptions for 320 yards.

The Blue and Gold face a stiff test this Saturday when they move into inter-sectional play and play the Bombers of Ithaca College. Gametime at Ithaca, New York is set for 2 p. m.

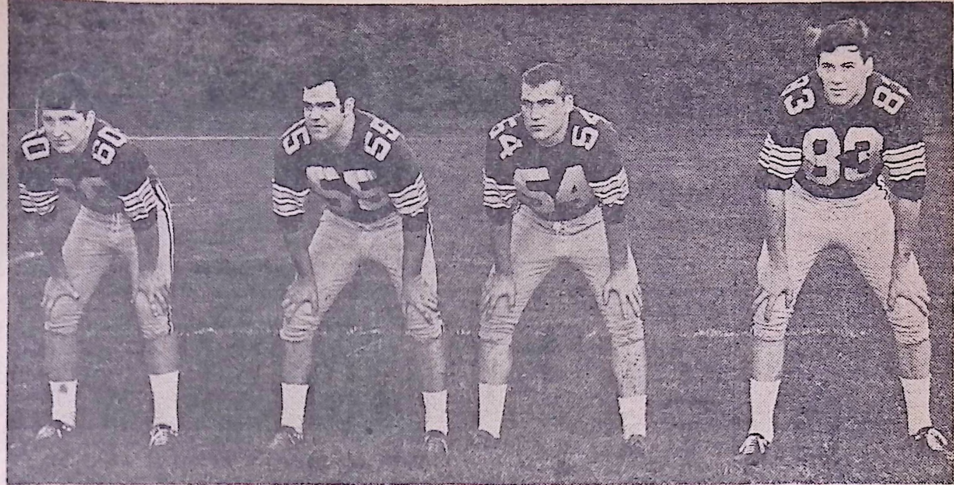

Ted Yeager Tops Wilkes Rushers

Former Southern Area product, Ted Yeager, is once again rolling along as the Wilkes College leading ground gainer. Yeager last year led the Golden Horde in the rushing department with 577 yards in 131 carries for a 4.4 average. This year the minimate speedster has compiled 242 yards in 55 calls to continue his average pace at 4.4.

The sophomore tailback also leads in kickoff return average romping 55 yards in two run-backs for a 27.5 average. In addition to leading two departments he has snagged five pass receptions and is the second leading scorer on the team with three touchdowns and 18 points to his credit.

The Catawissa native soared 77 yards last Saturday against Delaware Valley to break a personnel record he established last year against Vermont of 67 yards. The run is the second longest in the schools history, second only to Paul Purda's 88 yard TD run against Ursinus in 1965.

The victory Saturday marked the Colonels 32nd straight and is the longest win streak in the nation. The contest was nip and tuck between the two squads until the late stages of the third quarter when the Wilkesmen turned a close 7-3 (Yeager's TD) game into a 27-3 rout, scoring three touchdowns in seven minutes.

Wilkes Gunning For 32nd In Row

The Wilkes Colonels will be aiming to extend their winning streak to 32 games this Saturday when they entertain the always tough Aggies of Delaware Valley College. Kickoff time at Ralston Field is scheduled for 1:30.

The series between the two schools has become a major rivalry. Although the Colonels hold a 7-1-1 edge over the Aggies, the southeastern Pennsylvania institution has given the Blue and Gold their roughest competition in recent years. A third quarter touchdown was the measure of defeat or victory in 1966 as Joe Zakowski hooked up with Joe Skvarla on a 69-yard aerial which proved to be the only score of the game. In 1967 the Blue and Gold trailed 13-7 late in the third quarter until the all-conquering Joe Wiendl broke loose for 68 yards on a punt return. Seconds later the toe of Dave Kaschak gave the Colonels their go-ahead point and the 14-13 win.

Last year's action was nip and tuck in the first half as the Wilkesmen held a 10-3 lead at halftime. Action between the two teams was fierce and close until Wiendl shut the shades in the third quarter, reeling off punt return touchdowns of 88 and 62 yards, which eventually propelled Wilkes to a 31-3 victory.

Delaware Valley stands as the last major roadblock for the Colonels in their quest for an unprecedented fifth MAC football championship. Always on the line is the Wilkesmen's 31 game streak, the envy of every school on the Wilkes schedule.

Fans should expect to see the Aggies, under the guidance of Head Coach Bill Craver, operate out of a pro-set offense. Delaware Valley, as the Colonels, are also encountering the sting of graduation with 15 seniors having departed.

Getting the opportunity to fill the runner slot in the backfield will be senior Dennis Shank, 5-11, 195 and Donald Chance, a junior, 6-2, 210. Being touted as a pro prospect is offensive center, Wayne Mehalick, 6-2, 265. The Plains Township contingency of seniors Gene Wallace, a 5-10, 195 pound linebacker, and Ron Timko, 6-2, 210 pound quarterback further highlight the Aggie invasion into Wilkes Barre.

The Colonels stand ready for the battle with their one-two running combo of Ted Yeager and Bob Gennaro who have already accumulated 154 and 126 yards respectively. The passing team of Zakowski to Lazor has accounted for 10 of the Colonels 19 completions thus far this year.

The Defense might hold the key to victory. In the past two weeks the charges of Roland Schmidt have encountered successive intensive passing and rushing attacks with fair success. The front four, led by All East selection Charlie Fick stand ready, as well as the linebackers, and defensive backs.
