Whoop it up! Stroehmann Sunbeam Ranch Bread captures the untamed taste of the Old West. Chuck wagon freshness . . . hearty texture and packed with good food energy, too. The kind your cowpokes need for a rugged day on the range. Easy to spot in its yellow air-tight bag that holds in freshness. So round up some Sunbeam Ranch Bread, y'hear!

ABOUT OUR FOOTBALL COACHES

BUDD F. WHITEHILL, Head Coach

Budd Whitehill is in his fifth year as head football coach. He has been a member of the Lycoming faculty since 1957 and served as backfield coach under former coach Dave Busey for eight seasons before succeeding Busey. In 1956, he inaugurated the College's intercollegiate wrestling program. Since that time he has become recognized as one of the outstanding small college wrestling coaches in the East.

A native of Bellefonte, Whitehill initiated football at East Lycoming High School in Hughesville when he was a member of that school's faculty.

Whitehill played collegiate football at Lock Haven State College in 1951 and 52, performing in the Bald Eagle's backfield as a quarterback and halfback. He signed a professional baseball contract with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1953 and pitched for two years with minor league teams in that organization. In wrestling at Lock Haven, he became a State College champion and won honors in the Four-I tournament.

SETH D. KELLER, Assistant Coach

Former Warrior backfield great Seth Keller is in his 6th year as a member of the coaching staff. Seth matriculated at Lycoming and led the northern division of the Middle Atlantic Conference in rushing in both his sophomore and junior years. He was named track coach at Lycoming in 1969 replacing Ray Jamison.

The 1965 Lycoming graduate is serving as a science teacher at Stevens Junior High School in Williamsport. He is a candidate for a master's degree from Bloomsburg State College. Seth coaches the junior varsity and the offensive backfield.

WILLIAM F. HUBER, Assistant Coach

Bill joined the Warrior coaching staff last year after one season as varsity football coach at Mount Carmel High School, Auburn, N. Y. He had been named to the head position at the New York school after a year as assistant coach.

Bill, whose primary responsibility will be the defensive line for Whitehill, played high school football at Bishop Guilfoyle High School, Altoona, and starred on the gridiron for the Nittany Lions of Penn State. He received his master's degree from Penn State and teaches accounting at Lycoming.

ROBERT WINTER, Trainer

Winter graduated from Williamsport High School in 1959. He graduated from West Chester and earned his masters from Penn State in 1969. He coached football at Stevens Junior High School for 3 years and at WHS for 2 years. Bob played football in high school and at college.

FRANK L. GIRARDI, Assistant Coach

Frank, a native of Williamsport, starred at Williamsport High School from 1954 to 1956 and won letters in football three years at West Chester State College, where he graduated in 1961. He was a member of the 1960 team that captured the state college championship.

He joined the faculty as physical education and health teacher at Jersey Shore High School after graduation and was backfield coach for two years before being named head coach in 1963. His best year in six seasons at the helm of the Bulldogs was in 1968 when his team won 8 and lost 2. He resigned after the football season in 1968 to accept a position as health and physical education teacher at WHS. He coaches defensive backfield.

HUBERT H. JACK, Assistant Coach

Retired after a long and successful career as the football coach at Lock Haven State College, Hubert Jack volunteered to assist with the Warrior team without compensation because he did not want to disassociate himself completely from the ranks of coaching. At Lycoming, Jack works with one of his former players, Whitehill, who played football at Lock Haven in 51 and 52. Jack was also Whitehill's wrestling coach at Lock Haven. He assists with the offensive backfield.

JOHN J. KUTNEY, Assistant Coach

John Kutney, who joined the Lycoming staff last year as trainer, this year will assume the responsibility of coaching the Warrior quarterbacks. He graduated from Mansfield State College and played on the Mountie football team. He was football coach at Central Dauphin High School in Harrisburg before joining the faculty at Williamsport High School in 1966, where he was also an assistant coach until joining the Warrior staff in 1970.

WILLIAM G. McQUOWN, Assistant Coach

William McQuown joins the staff to fill a vacancy created by the departure of Jack Zimmerman, who resigned as head of the Education Department at Lycoming to become supervising principal of the Montoursville School District. Bill, a native of Punxsutawney, played football at Bucknell, where he received his bachelor of science degree. Hewas awarded a master's degree from Bloomsburg State College and taught social studies at Loyalsock Township High School for three years before joining the faculty at Williamsport High School in 1967. McQuown will coach the Warrior offensive line.

Our '72 wagon tailgates go up, down, sideways, slideways and one even disappears.

We've got five different kinds of wagons. One for every kind of wagon buyer.

Wagons with different kinds of tailgates especially designed for convenience. Including one that vanishes—the window into the roof, the gate under the floor. Out of sight. Out of your way.

Wagons that seat four, six, eight, nine or as many as twelve. If you like, our Sportvan can even be converted to sleep up to six. We're serious when we say we want your 1972 Chevrolet wagon to be the very best wagon you ever owned.

THE ALMA MATER

Words—Prof. Helen B. Weidman
Music — J. Brahms — adapted by W. L. Maxson

We sing to Lycoming with clarion voice of praise,
The thunderbird speaks for the glory of yesterdays
The blue of honor, gold of valor, born of sky and sun.
We blaze a trail of light through our valley
Holding a torch of flame for our Alma Mater,
Illustrious be her name.
With tribal devotion we pledge our consecration.

A Chieftain of old, standing sentinel in the sun.
Old Main guards the memory of battles lost and won,
Of our incantations, dedications, praising our warriors bold.
Abidingly true, old friendships and new, find worth
In the bonds of Lycoming; long may her sachem
Proclaim her noble birth
With high exultation, we chant to her creation.

NCAA COLLEGE FOOTBALL RULES CHANGES - 1971

Spearing has been added to the list of personal fouls & prohibits such an act by a player against all opponents.

Of great importance is the restriction of offensive players positioned 5 or more yards outside the legal clipping zone or in motion toward the ball when it is snapped. Such players are prohibited from blocking below the waist TOWARD the ball in the clipping zone extended to side lines. In the effort to reduce overall elapsed time, the number of free time outs allowed each team during each half has been reduced from four to three.

Also, instead of the game clock starting on the snap after a penalty, it will be started when the ball is declared ready for play - if the foul caused the clock to stop.

After the ball has been declared ready for play and before the snap a player or a substitute may request a time out if he is within 15 yds. of ball.

When a scrimmage kick strikes the ground in-bounds in the receiving team's end zone untouched by the receiving team beyond the neutral zone, it is a touchback.

When a backward pass is caught or a fumble recovered simultaneously by opposing players, the ball is declared dead and belongs to the team last in position. This is similar to forward pass regulations.

Fouls by the defensive team behind the offensive team's neutral zone before a change of possession, shall be penalized from the spot where the ball was put in play. This change makes the enforcement of penalties more equitable.

Decorations are prohibited on the uprights and crossbar of goal posts.

THE MEETING PLACE FOR YOUNG FASHIONABLES

A Look at Lycoming . . .

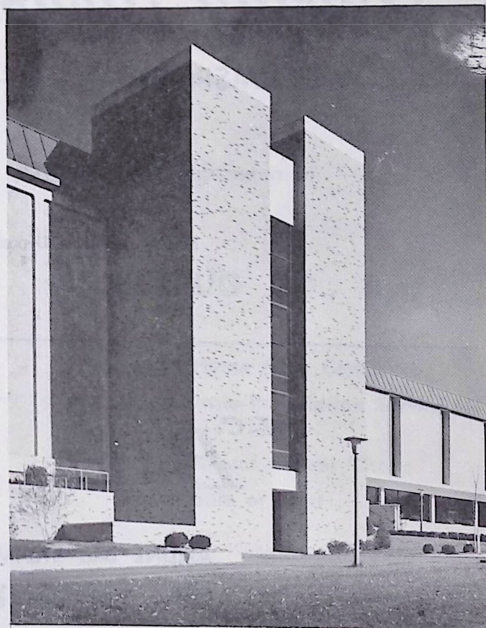

Founded in 1812 as Williamsport Academy, it is the oldest educational institution in the city of Williamsport. At first, the Academy served only the Elementary grades. It later expanded its curricular offerings to include high school and college preparatory work when public schools were established in the city.

In 1848, under the patronage of The Methodist Episcopal Church, the Academy became Williamsport Dickinson Seminary, a private boarding school. Expansion to a two year college resulted in a change of the institution's name to Williamsport Dickinson Junior college which became Lycoming College, a four-year degree-granting institution.

Lycoming College is located in Williamsport, a city in the scenic north central region of Pennsylvania. Situated at the intersection of U. S. Routes 15 and 220 and just fifteen miles north of Interstate 80, Williamsport is within easy driving distance of Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo and Pittsburgh.

Students who successfully complete their work at Lycoming receive the bachelor of arts degree. They may major in any one of twenty-one subject areas. Special curricula enable the student to prepare for graduate study in the fields of medicine, dentistry, law and theology. Students preparing to teach select an academic major as well as completing professional courses required for certification by the Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction.

Lycoming's buildings are compactly arranged on an attractive 20-acre campus with an additional 12-acre athletic field nearby. During the past year the new five million dollar academic center was completed. This unusual structure provides new classroom space, laboratory facilities, faculty offices, the arena theatre, a planetarium and a library which will accommodate 250,000 volumes.

A view of Lycoming's academic center.

A United Methodist institution, the College is open to students of all faiths, backgrounds and opinions. At Lycoming it is believed that a liberal arts education is the best hope for an enlightened citizenry

LYCOMING COLLEGE IS A MAC MEMBER

History of the Middle Atlantic Conference

The Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference, commonly known as the Middle Atlantic Conference, originated 56 years ago as a loose confederation of colleges. It was unified into an actual playing conference in 1952.

The earliest records of the organization indicate that the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Association was organized on December 11, 1912. The first annual meeting of the association was held May 16, 1913. The following day the first annual track meet was held at Lafayette.

In the years that followed, the association grew. The members assembled once a year to discuss mutual problems and to prepare schedules. Eventually, the colleges with common interests began to band together in leagues and associations in individual sports. The Middle Atlantic Collegiate Wrestling Association was formed in March, 1952. Teams which won titles in the various leagues and associations were named Middle Atlantic Conference champions even though the competition was not really conference-wide.

The first basketball league was formed with three divisions—north, west and south—and the winners of these three divisions met with an at-large team in a playoff. The three-section alignment eventually dissolved, but the southern division remained intact and perpetuated interest in the conference.

Today the Middle Atlantic Conference is a nation's largest playing conference, with 38 member colleges and universities located in five states and the District of Columbia.

Lycoming is a member of the College Division north.

Gary Cudmore and Dan Zembek are two fine receivers for the Knights . . . Offensive tackle Pete Zak and defensive tackle Paul Rossman are Bridgeport headliners, as are defensive backs Tom Tyndall and Art DiBenedetto . . . Top men offensively for Grove City are fullback Chuck Gaetano and halfback Steve Oliver, who were standouts in last year's game, which G.C. won, 14-3 . . . Offensive tackles Walt Edwards and Dennis Kienzie are top blockers for Gaetano and Oliver . . . Defensively, the Grovers have seven returning starters who helped last year's defensive unit to allow but eight, or less, points in six games . . . - THE 50 YARD LINE -

A big welcome to the parents of our Ithaca College students who are visiting the campus this weekend. Today's football game should be one of the highlights of your stay, since both squads are among the finest small college football teams in the east.

Ithaca College's soccer team is trying to improve on its 3-2 seasonal record, this weekend, up in the North Country. The Ithacans played Clarkson yesterday, and are meeting tough St. Lawrence this afternoon. I.C. is 2-0 in Independent College Athletic Conference competition, this fall, and both Clarkson and the Larries are ICAC foes. An I.C. sweep would put the Bombers in great position for a Conference title.

Ithaca College's junior varsity football team took a 1-1 record into yesterday afternoon's game at St. Lawrence. The Bombers lost to Cortland in their opener, 20-6, but rebounded to blank Brockport last week, 19-0 . . . The Junior varsity soccer team was 3-2 on the season, going into today's game with Oswego State.

Ithaca's cross country team will be trying to even its dual meet record at 3-3 this coming Wednesday when it entertains Hobart. I.C. has to take this meet if it has any hopes of a winning season.

Congratulations to linebacker Tom Ciccolella and offensive guard Bob Wojnar, who have been named to the ECAC All-Star weekly teams, after the last two games. Ciccolella received his honors for his standout performance against Cortland, while Wojnar gained his award following the big win over Fordham last week.

We are happy to have the Mynderse Academy band with us today. The band is under the direction of Mr. David Fleming.

The referee for today's game, Mr. John Wegerski, is the Coordinator of Mathematics for the North Syracuse Central Schools . . . Umpire Don Hogan is a Project Engineer with IBM, while Field Judge Mike Stark is the Vice Principal of Lincoln Elementary-Junior High School in Syracuse.

The next Ithaca College football Booster Club luncheon will be held on Oct. 28, two days before the next home game against Grove City. The luncheon will start at 12:10, and will be in the Job Room of the Union Building. Price for the luncheon is $3.00. . . And a reminder that anyone interested in joining the Booster Club should contact Phil Langan — Sports Information Director — in the Administration Building, or call 274-3233.

With the exception of Cortland (1-3) and Grove City (1-3), all of Ithaca's football opponents are enjoying winning seasons . . . Denison is 3-2, Wilkes, 3-0, Bridgeport, 3-1, West Chester, 4-0, and C.W. Post, 3-1.

For the many football buffs around, we can't say enough about the NCAA's 1971 College Football Record Book . . . Every record imaginable is included in this 109 page volume, and all for the price of $2.00. To order a copy send a $2.00 check or money order to—NCAA, Box 757, Grand Central Station, N.Y., N.Y. 10017.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

To me, Parents Weekend is one of the most important events on our college calendar. . . . It gives students and parents a chance to discuss the first several weeks of the academic year, and to enjoy some outstanding college social and cultural events But more importantly, it gives the faculty and administration a chance to meet you and for you to find out more about what the college is and what it is doing for your sons and daughters. . . . I am looking forward to meeting as many of you as possible this weekend We planned the weekend this year to include a football game in response to many requests from parents. . . . The Wilkes College game is always exciting, and I'm sure today's contest will be no exception.

THE ITHACA COACHING STAFF

Head Coach Jim Butterfield

After four years of countering depth problems and a schedule that rates as one of the toughest College Division slates in the east, Jim Butterfield may just have himself a winner this year.

Butterfield's clubs, always superbly conditioned, have pulled off some big upsets over the past four years, including a 20-17 win over C. W. Post last year in the season's finale which gave I.C. a 4-4 record. Some victories this season, though, will not be upsets.

Jim rates as a highly skilled technician, evidenced by his many appearances at football clinics, and as a top notch recruiter, a fact brought out clearly by last year's frosh team that went 5-1 and this year's talented incoming freshman group. Most important, though, he is a coach who is dedicated to the overall welfare of his students. A winning season would be a just reward for one of the real gentlemen of the game.

Born in Tampa, Florida, Butterfield moved to Westboro, Mass. as a youngster and graduated from Westboro High School in 1945 after three years of varsity football experience. From there, he entered the Navy, serving as an aviation machinist mate, third class. After a year and a half of duty, he was mustered out in late 1946.

In 1949, after one semester at the University of Florida, he entered the University of Maine and was one of the Black Bear's top performers for the next three years at guard. He captained the 1952 team, and the same year was selected for the "All Maine" and "All Yankee Conference" teams.

His first coaching job was at Arms Academy in Shelburne Falls, Mass. where he posted a two year record of 11-4.

Butterfield returned to Maine in 1956 as line coach, a post he held until 1960. While at Maine he received his Masters Degree in Education with an emphasis on administration.

From 1960 until he began his Ithaca career in 1967, Butterfield served as line coach at Colgate under Alva Kelley and Hal Lahar.

An intense student of the game of football, Butterfield is not afraid to try something new either on offense or defense. He was able to produce those excellent wins last year because of this forward approach and also because he has the ability to spot opponent weaknesses and work on them hard and often.

Jim, 43, is married to the former Lois Day. The couple have three children; a boy, Terry 13; and two girls, Kristen, 12, and Gail, 10.

FRANK KENNEDY, Defensive Coordinator

Frank is starting his third year as defensive coordinator. Despite a lack of depth and weight, I.C.'s defense has played fine football over this period of time against some very strong opponents.

Frank originally came to Ithaca in 1968 as freshman football coach. That year, he led the Ithacans to a 3-2 record with 30 men against a stiff schedule. It was I.C.'s first winning season since 1961. (Ed. Note — The growth of our football program is evidenced by the fact that we will have at least 50 freshman candidates this season.)

Before his arrival at I.C., where he is also the assistant varsity track coach, Kennedy spent 12 years at North Plainfield, New Jersey High School as line coach and assistant track coach. During this period of time, the grid team had an 88-15-2 record and much of the success can be attributed to the outstanding linemen who got the Kennedy training.

Born in Scranton, Pa., Frank had eight years of playing time. He attended Scranton Central High School where he was an offensive and defensive guard and end. Four years of similar duty followed at East Stroudsburg State where he received his Bachelor's degree in 1953. He picked up his Master's degree a year later at Rutgers. From there, it was two years of Army duty in Alaska, and then on to North Plainfield. Frank, 39, is married to the former Jean Griffiths. They have two children; Kathy, 12, and Stephen 8.

GARY FALLON, Offensive Backfield Coach

Gary is now in his third year at I.C. A large share of the credit for the Bombers improved offense over the past two years, especially the development of Doug Campbell into an All-American quarterback, can be given to Fallon.

Gary came to I.C. with a top reputation. From 1965-68, he served as Vice Principal and Athletic Director at Jordan Elbridge High School near Syracuse. During this time, he was an assistant coach in football and head coach of varsity wrestling. At Ithaca, Fallon is also the J.V. lacrosse mentor. Gary was born and raised in Watertown, N.Y. He attended Watertown High School, and then moved on to Manlius Prep for a year. He played football, basketball, and baseball at Watertown High, and was second team All State quarterback in football. At Manlius, he was the captain of the football and baseball teams, and also performed with the basketball team. He entered Syracuse in 1958 and was a three sport performer for the Orange. In football, Fallon was a top backup fullback for two seasons and then started as a senior. He played in the same backfield with Ernie Davis both in his freshman and senior years. Fallon also wrestled, and was a three letter man in lacrosse. He captained the stickmen as a senior, and was selected to play in the North-South game in 1962. After graduation, he signed with the Minnesota Vikings, was released, and then played Canadian football for two years with the Toronto

BOB CHARNEY, Defensive Backfield Coach

When Bob arrived at I.C. last fall, he had an excellent reputation as a defensive backfield coach following two very successful years at Bridgeport. Charney did nothing to tarnish that image. I.C. allowed 901 yards passing last year compared to 1436 in 1969, and the number of completions also dropped from 92 to 73.

Charney was not totally unfamiliar with the Ithaca campus when he arrived in 1970, having served one year as a graduate assistant under head coach Jim Butterfield in 1967. His 1968 defensive backfield at Bridgeport was ranked 4th in the nation among college division teams in pass defense, and his 1969 contingent was 10th. Bob was born in Bridgeport and attended Warren Harding high school in that city where he earned three letters in football, as a quarterback and defensive safety, and one in baseball. He moved on to Bridgeport University and was a letter winner as a defensive safety in his sophomore and junior years. Bob missed his senior year because of an injury, but spent that season as an assistant freshman coach. After graduating from Bridgeport with a B.S. in Physical Education in 1965, he spent the next two years as the assistant varsity football coach at Burlington, Vermont high school. He was at I.C. for the next year, earning his Masters Degree in Physical Education, before moving on to Bridgeport. Bob, 28, and a bachelor, is a fine ski instructor in the College's School of Health and Physical Education.

FRANK SLATTERY, J. V. Coach

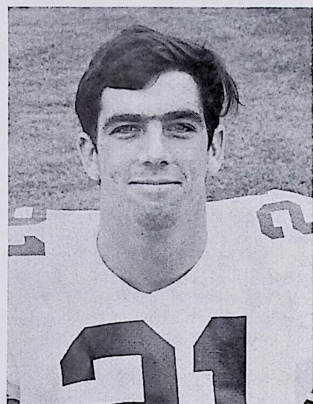

The appointment of Frank Slattery as freshman coach in 1970 gave Ithaca's staff a young man who is highly familiar with the I.C. football philosophy. Frank combined that familiarity with enthusiasm and a vast amount of technical knowledge to lead Ithaca to a 5-1 mark, which represented the School's best ever frosh record. The lone loss was a 14-12 decision to Cortland, that came in the last minute of the game. Frank played on South Hill from 1963 to 1967, and then served as a graduate assistant under freshman coach Howard Hartman in 1969. Frank attended Vincinian Institute in his home town of Albany, New York, where he won two letters each in football, and baseball. He was named to the All City football team as a senior. Frank was the starting quarterback for Ithaca's '63 freshman team, and then saw limited action as a sophomore behind his brother Dennis, who was just appointed head coach at Vincinian. Frank suffered a pre-season injury in '65 and missed the entire campaign, but did retain a year of eligibility. He started at quarterback in '66 and '67 and did a solid job. After graduating in 1968 with a B.S. in Physical Education, he moved on to Watchung Hills Regional high school in Plainfield, New Jersey where he taught physical education and served as an assistant varsity football coach and head coach of freshman basketball and J.V. baseball. He returned to Ithaca in 1969 for graduate work. Frank, 26, teaches physical education at the Cayuga Heights Elementary school in Ithaca, in addition to his football duties. He is married to the former Linda Olynciw.

GRADUATE ASSISTANTS FOR 1971 — George Neher (Ithaca '63), Mike Podlucky (Ithaca '71) and Tom Schoen (Ithaca '71). Undergraduate Asst. — Jim Bell (Ithaca '72).

TODAY'S GAME

Just one year ago, Ithaca College's football team travelled to Wilkes with a 1-3 record. The Colonels weren't exactly knocking the world apart, either, with their 0-2-1 mark, so no one expected much.

That was a bad mistake. With the previous two games between the teams as a background, people should have known better. Ithaca pulled the 1970 classic out, 25-21, thanks to an 80 yard t.d. drive that ended with one minute to play in the game.

Co. Capt. Ted Yaeger

This year the records are different: Wilkes with a perfect 3-0 slate, and Ithaca with a three game winning streak and a 3-1 report card.

Today's game? It should be the fourth straight, down-to-the-wire battle. The game is rated dead even so a break or two, along with mental preparation, will determine the outcome.

The last three Ithaca-Wilkes games are discussed in depth in another part of the magazine, but here is a quick refresher. I.C., lost 28-19 in 1968. The Bombers were big underdogs, but were still fighting until a last minute interception t.d. return killed them.

Two years ago, the Ithacans stopped Wilkes' 32 game win streak with a great defensive effort. Last year was a see-saw struggle with Ithaca coming back from a 21-13 deficit to win.

"In Wilkes and Ithaca you have two teams who always seem to be evenly matched in every department," I.C. head coach Jim Butterfield pointed out. "This is why it is imperative to keep mistakes at a minimum, and why every player must be mentally prepared to play an outstanding ball game. There is no let down in this game. Every minute, including the last one, is important.

Wilkes suffered its first losing season since 1963, last year, but in the last five plus years, the Colonels have still rolled up a 36-6-1 mark. This year, coach Rolie Schmidt's squad is back on top, and looking every bit like one of Schmidt's typical powerhouses; strong, agile, spirited and fast.

The Colonels opened their season with a 29-0 romp over Lycoming. That was followed by a 20-2 win over Moravian, but last week the bubble nearly burst. Wilkes, looking ahead to their game with I.C. had to scramble for a 35-30 win over Delaware Valley. With 6:16 left in the third period, the Colonels trailed, 17-3. Then they exploded for 32 points in the next 20 minutes to pull the game out of the fire.

The big plays for Wilkes were a 74 yard punt return for a touchdown by Garf Jones, and two t.d. passes from quarterback Jeff Giberson to freshman split end Bill Horan, which covered 73 and 43 yards.

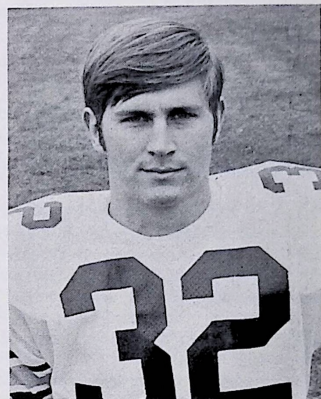

The Colonels will bring some talented performers in today, and right at the top of the list is half-back Ted Yaeger who has rushed 92 times for 386 yards and a 4.2 average. He has also scored six touchdowns this year. Yaeger has rushed for over 2200 yards in his three plus seasons.

Giberson has completed 27 of 62 passes for 433 yards and three touchdowns in 1971. His favorite receivers have been Neil Langdon, with 10 receptions for 107 yards, and Horan, with six for 187 yards and two touchdowns.

Jones is the man to watch on punt returns. He has returned 20 this year for 311 yards and a 15.5 average.

"This is a well balanced team," Butterfield continued. "They can do a lot of things to beat you, so you can't really concentrate on just one phase of their game."

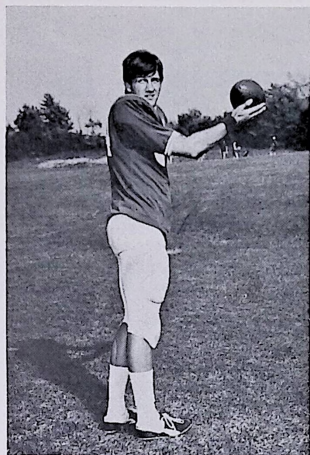

Neil Langdon

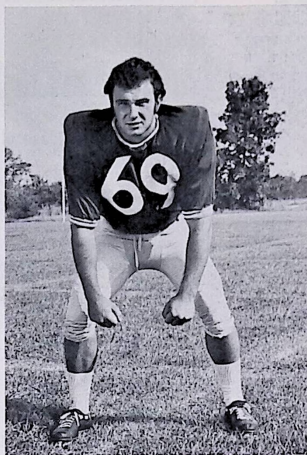

Ithaca's followers were in a state of semi-shock last Saturday after Ithaca won a game so easily over Fordham, 39-6. It was just strange winning that way, after I.C. had its fans used to last minute victories.

The Bombers have now won seven of their last nine starts. Against Fordham, quarterback Doug Campbell was the standout, running 12 times for 101 yards and two touchdowns, and completing six of 12 passes for another 100 yards and one touchdown.

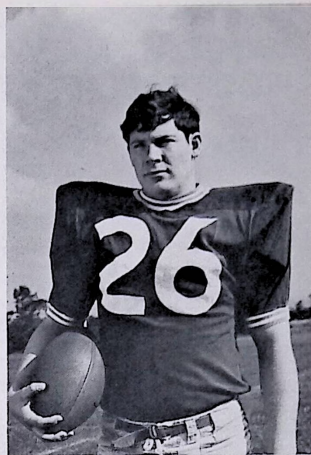

It was great seeing Campbell

Joe Moresco

Tom Ciccolella

back to his regular form after playing limited portions of the last two games.

Offensively, Doug had a lot of help from halfback Mike Welch who played his third fine game in a row with 82 yards in 17 carries and one t.d., fullback Bill Kleinfelder, 10x43 yds. and one t.d., and reserve quarterback Ted Greves, with seven carries for 60 yards. Ted also completed three of five passes for 45 yards.

Flanker Barry Smith had three receptions for 58 yards and a touchdown, and was a standout blocker. Split end Joe Moresco had two fine punts, and caught a big pass which led to a t.d.

The offensive line played its best game of the season, setting things up for the I.C. backs to gain 524 yards in total offense. Defensively, Ithaca was paced again by tackle John Schmonsees and backer Dan Hallenbeck, along with a standout defensive backfield that intercepted three more passes. I.C. now has 12 interceptions in four games. That's one more than all of last season.

"Winning the game was important, but the fact that everyone got a chance to play for an extended period of time was the best part of the afternoon for me," Butterfield added. "And everyone contributed to our victory."

Statistically this year, Welch is the top rusher with 274 yards in 64 carries for a 4.5 average. Campbell is next with 182 yards in 35 carries for a 5.2 average.

Campbell is the top passer with 17 completions in 40 attempts for 238 yards and one touchdown. His top receivers are Moresco, with 10 for 123 yards, and Smith, with eight for 134 yards. Campbell is Ithaca's leading scorer with 24 points, while Moresco is the top punter with a 38.3 yard average per kick.

Both teams came through last week without any major injuries. This week, the Ithacans will get two key men back in the persons of captain and safety John Baumann and linebacker Ed Gryska. "We'll need all the help we can get," Butterfield added. "This is going to be a tough afternoon of football. It always is."

The Ithaca scouts who viewed the Wilkes win last weekend feel the same way. "They told me the one thing the fans and players were talking about after the game was Ithaca College," Butterfield continued. "We had better be ready. We know they are."

WEEKLY WINNERS ANNOUNCED

The Coaching Staff has made its fourth set of weekly awards, following last Saturday's win over Fordham.

Flanker Barry Smith was named as the team's Honorary Offensive Captain for today's game with Wilkes, while defensive halfback Dave Reed was named as the Honorary Defensive Captain. It was the second time Reed has received the honor this year.

Quarterback Doug Campbell was given the nod as the Outstanding Back of the Fordham game, and as The Hustler of The Week. Linebacker Dana Hallenbeck was selected as the Outstanding Lineman against Fordham, while the Best Hits of the week were registered by linebacker Tom Rosenthal and Reed.

"This series is one of the best in the east. The last three games have proved that." I.C. coach Jim Butterfield

ITHACA

The first ten games of the Ithaca College-Wilkes series contained some good football and a few close games, but nothing really spectacular.

The series started in 1949, stopped in 1957 and was not resumed until 1968. Since that time, though, the embers of a good series have been fired into a classic confrontation between two teams that always seem to be equal in every respect.

Lets take a look at these last three episodes to emphasize our point.

1968 — Wilkes was riding the crest of a 24 game winning streak, while Ithaca was 1-3 on the season. The oddsmakers make I.C. look like the poor soul and that, combined with a few technical adjustments, was all I.C. needed to give the heavily favored Colonels a real run for their money.

The I.C. defense stopped Wilkes until the second period when Rich Simonson hit current Colonel coach Joe Skarvala with a t.d. pass. Towards the end of the period, though, Ithaca's Rod Howell scored from the one and the game was even at the half.

Wilkes struck for two third period t.d.'s to go ahead, 21-7, and apparently put the game on ice. One of those scores was a 95 yard punt return by Joe Wiendl. The Ithacans, though, came right back in the final period as Charlie Hill returned a kickoff 90 yards for one t.d., and Howell plunged over from the one. Each time, however, the Ithacans just missed on their two point conversion try.

I.C. tried desperately to score in the final minute, but back Bruce Holliday returned an interception 44 yards for a t.d. to make the final 28-19. It was the end to a gritty effort by I.C.; one of its best ever.

1969 — Wilkes brought a 32 game winning streak to Ithaca, while I.C. was 2-2 after pulling off consecutive upsets over Cortland and Susquehanna. The upset string went to three, and the Wilkes streak ended, as the Bombers won out, 13-7, with a sterling defensive effort.

I.C. dominated the first half, scoring once in the first period on a five yard run by Doug Campbell, and once in the second stanza on a one yard jaunt by Tom Polimeni. The Colonels, who were staggering at this point, gather themselves behind quarterback Joe Zakowski and scored just before the half ended on a 23 yard, Zakowski to Neil Langdon pass.

The second half was a constant battle between the Ithaca defense and the Wilkes offense. Four times, the Colonels were inside the I.C. 20, and each time the Bombers rose up and stopped them.

The only offensive thrust in the entire second half for I.C. was full-back Bill Kleinfelder's 57 yard run.

The game ended with Ithaca's Larry Nevil interception a last ditch Wilkes pass, which seemed to be a fitting end considering what happened the year before.

1970 — Last year, Wilkes was 0-2-1 and Ithaca was 1-3 but the two teams put on a show at Wilkes-Barre that few will forget. The Ithacans won it, 25-21, but not before the sellout crowd had been rendered somewhat limp by the 60 minutes of continuous action.

I.C. started off with a bang when Campbell hit Mike Podlucky with a 46 yard touchdown pass. Wilkes came right back, though, to go ahead 14-7 on a nine yard run by Jeff Giberson and a one yard scamper by Bob Gennaro.

Kleinfelder closed the gap to 14-13 with a two yard t.d. run, but the extra point was wide. Ned Holmes rebounded for Wilkes on a two yard run, to make it 21-13, but the Ithacans refused to hang it up, and marched back to score on Campbell's four yard run. The try for two points failed, however, just as the half ended.

That's the way it stood until four minutes were left in the game, despite plenty of chances for both teams. Then I.C. got the ball on its 20 and began the winning drive.

The big play was a 30 yard pass from Mike Podlucky to Barry Smith. The final play was a six yard t.d. burst by Dale Volpe on a third and goal situation.

"This series is one of the best in the east," Butterfield stated this week. "Our last three games have proved that. And the way the two teams play football, I think the next 33 will be just as close. Wilkes has a first class football program, and we are proud to be a part of it."

Doug Campbell scores first Ithaca t.d. in the 13-7 win, in 1969, that snapped Wilkes' 32 game winning streak.

The Ivy League idea survives, but not without struggle

IN THE LITTLE KINGDOM OF CAMELOT

by Baaron Pittenger
Associate Director of Athletics
Harvard University

When the presidents of Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Princeton, Pennsylvania, and Yale signed the Ivy League agreement in 1954, they hoped they were creating a little kingdom of Camelot in the sometimes wicked world of intercollegiate athletics. The Ivy League, built on the similarities of the institutions, the integrity and mutual trust of their administrators, was to be a noble experiment in which the membership would pursue the highest ideals of amateur athletics. There would be no commissioner to oversee its operation, and hopefully, a minimum of "win, win, win" pressures to rip it asunder.

Fifteen years down the road of history, Camelot survives — but not without problems. The competition has not been as balanced as the signators hoped it might be. There are "haves" and "have nots," and some of the "have nots" show signs of restlessness. Integrity remains, but trust has eroded. And now, enter the financial squeeze — a situation which tests philosophical stances to the limit, and tends to heighten differences rather than similarities.

No close observer doubts that the League has become a much stronger athletic entity than it was at the beginning. While the football teams don't rank nationally, they play an extremely interesting and exciting game sufficient to satisfy both player and fan. Several Ivy basketball teams have crowded into the national rankings, and in hockey, lacrosse, rowing, soccer, baseball, fencing, and squash, the League compares favorably with any in the nation.

Some of that increasing athletic prowess is due to the inflationary-like upward spiral of competition in a formal group. But even more is probably attributable to the ever increasing interest in quality education nationally. Simply put, more outstanding athletes from all parts of the nation are academically qualified for Ivy admission, and interested in obtaining it.

One of those who notes the increased proficiency in football is Joe Restic, Harvard's new head coach by way of the Hamilton Tiger Cats of the Canadian pro-League. Joe was an assistant at Brown from 1956-58, and worked with Al Kelley at Colgate before heading north in '62. "There are a lot more outstanding players in the League than there used to be," he said after viewing a large assortment of game movies last spring.

Almost every Ivy college has its "thing," a sport in which it does particularly well. In football, the chief knights of the round table have been Dartmouth, Princeton, and Yale — with Harvard half a step behind. Under the leadership of Bob Blackman, who departed for Illinois last spring, Dartmouth has won 79 Ivy games, lost only 24, and tied 2 since round-robin play began in 1956. That lustrous record produced four titles outright, and a share of the championship in three other seasons.

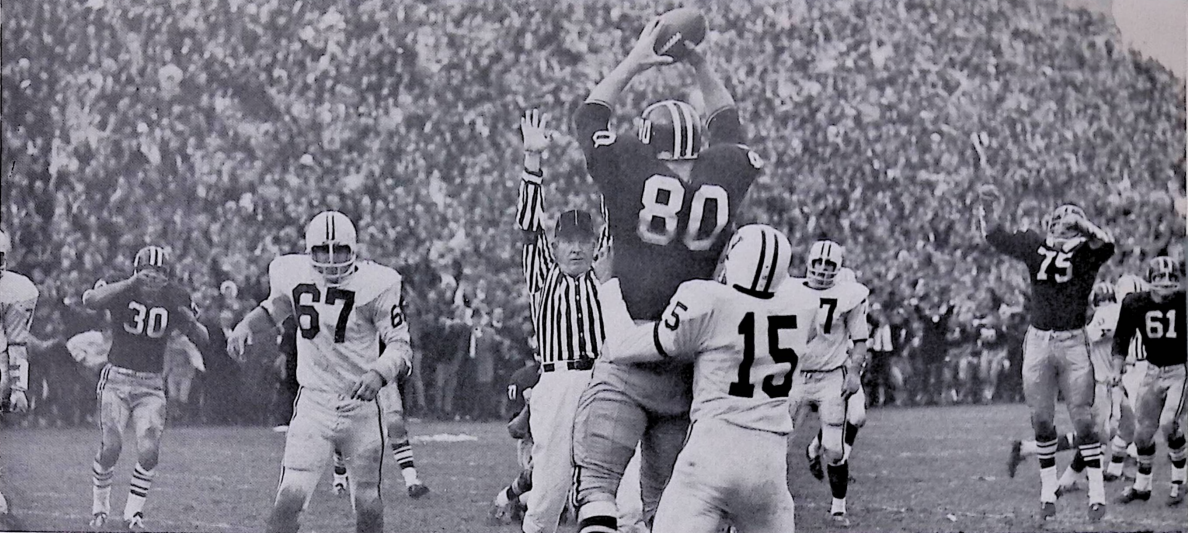

If you give 10 points for an outright title and five for a share, Dartmouth would lead the tabulation with 52 points, followed by Yale, 40; Princeton 35, Harvard 15, Penn 10, and Columbia 5. Neither Cornell nor Brown has ever had its hands on the Ivy trophy.

The won-lost records show a distinct gap between the "haves" and "have nots." Here are the composite standings entering the current season:

	W	L	T	Titles	Shared
Dartmouth	79	24	2	4	3
Princeton	75	30	0	2	3
Yale	64	37	4	3	2
Harvard	61	40	4	0	3
Cornell	46	57	2	0	0
Penn	37	67	1	1	0
Columbia	28	69	2	0	1
Brown	21	81	3	0	0

Most dramatic moment in 15 years of Ivy football: Harvard end Pete Varney clutches the two-point conversion pass which completed a 16-point rally in the last 42 seconds to give the Crimson a 29-29 tie with Yale, and a share of the 1968 Ivy title. (Courtesy of Sports Illustrated)

Princeton collared Bobby Leo (15) in 1966 to hand Harvard its only loss of the year, and keep that Crimson team from ranking among the League's greatest to date. Harvard, Princeton, and Dartmouth finished in one of two triple ties for the championship.

Harvard missed a great chance to show better in the title tabulations in 1963 — probably the strangest of all the championship races. The Crimson defeated both of the co-champions, Dartmouth and Princeton, by scores of 17-13 and 21-7 respectively, but played a 3-3 tie with Columbia, dropped an unbelievable 7-2 decision to Penn (its only League victory of the year), and then stumbled to a 20-6 loss at Yale after that nightmarish postponement which followed President Kennedy's assassination.

Harvard hasn't had one of the League's really great teams, either, although the 1966 aggregation came close. That squad lost to Princeton, 18-14, to wind up in a triple tie with the Tigers and Dartmouth. It had a great pair of halfbacks in Bobby Leo and Vic Gatto, certainly one of the finest sets the League has shown. And it was distinguished for another reason. Offensive guard Al Bersin and defensive back Tommy Williamson, both All-League performers, were named as Rhodes Scholars.

The truly great teams, however, have belonged exclusively to Yale ('56, '60, '67), Dartmouth ('62, '65, and '70), and Princeton ('64).

Yale's team of '56 — the first Ivy champion — had a splendid pair of halfbacks in Al Ward and Denny McGill, a gifted quarterback in Vern Loucks, and such stalwarts as Mike Owseichik in a line that was tough on both offense and defense. The League's first "show-down game" was on the eighth Saturday. Princeton also came to that date undefeated in Ivy play. But Yale put on a stunning display as it swept to a 35-13 half-time lead, and coasted through the second half to a 42-20 triumph.

Yale's '60 team was an even finer aggregation. Mike Pyle, later a standout with the Chicago Bears, was the big man in a strong line, and Tom Singleton guided an explosive backfield that had both speed and power. That team outscored its Ivy opposition 206-51, and again beat previously undefeated Princeton in a showdown game, 43-22.

Yale in '67 had Brian Dowling and Calvin Hill. What more need be said. But that team's undefeated record nearly evaporated against an inspired Harvard team in a game many rate equal to the epoch struggle of '68 between those two old rivals.

Yale led 17-0 before Harvard scored on the last play of the first half. Harvard dominated the second half and finally went ahead with 3:05 to go on a gutsy fourth-down call by quarterback Ric Zimmerman. Trailing, 17-13 with the ball at Yale's 31 and one yard to go for a first down, Zimmerman sent one receiver deep, the fleet Carter Lord, and faked a play into the line. When Yale took the bait, he found Lord all alone for the touchdown. But Dowling responded with a 62-yard scoring bomb to end Del Marting less than a minute later, and saved the day for old Eli, 24-20.

Blackman produced the first of his truly great teams at Dartmouth in 1962. Led by quarterback Bill King and halfback Tom Spangenberg and featuring center Don McKinnon up front, the Indians piled up 199 points to 54 for their Ivy foes, and had only two close games. Yale provided one of them, making Dartmouth work hard for a 9-0 victory, and Cornell provided the other. With Gary Wood having one of his great days, the Big Red put up a big fight before finally bowing, 28-21.

In '65, Dartmouth was back again with an undefeated-untied team. The star of this one was quarterback Mickey Beard — but balance was the team's hall mark. It's only tight game was against a mediocre Yale team that almost turned one of the League's big upsets. The Eli built a 17-7 lead early in the fourth period, but succumbed to an Indian rally that produced a 20-17 triumph.

Dartmouth's '70 team was the equal of any of its predecessors, (Continued on page 29)

"PIGEON racing?" questioned the telephone answerer.

"Yeah . . . I guess we'll take it . . ." he continued.

The Guinness Book of World Records doesn't include how many different sports are covered by the Ithaca Journal, Ithaca's sole daily newspaper, with a circulation of 18,000. Maybe the Book should.

Pigeon racing is just another one of the many endeavors on the fields of athletic combat that makes it to the Journal sports desk, manned by 36-year newspaper veteran Ken Van Sickle.

Ken Van Sickle

Ken, now 55, has spent his entire newspaper career at the Journal, completely involved with sports. Including a stint in the Navy from 1944-46, he was a sports writer from 1935-44, and sports editor from 1946 on.

His "Sports Tower" column is widely read.

Van Sickle is most noted for his Cornell football coverage. His writings date back to the glory days of the Big Red on the Schoellkopf Field gridiron, back with names like Carl Snavely and "Lefty" James, and back when Cornell toyed with teams like Michigan, 20-7, the year after the Wolverines had been to the Rose Bowl.

A thumb through Ken's yellowed file of memorabilia lures you to a comfortable chair in the office, and a couple of hours reliving the Ivy League of yore, with Dick Kazmaiers running for last second touchdowns.

Ken's pace has slowed somewhat from the 1940s and 1950s, when seven-day work weeks were accepted as part of a young sports editor's job.

With the authority of that Guinness book, Ken can recite the big plays and the big names of the big games.

He remembers when Cornell was in the twilight days of big time collegiate football, when the Big Red lost to Rice, 42-13, at Houston, in 1954, and the Ivy League's "de-emphasis" was just around the corner. In 1956, the Ancient Eight voted to play a nine-game schedule, with seven league opponents in each year.

For Cornell, that vote hurt, although Big Red administrators were behind the move because of financial reasons.

Cornell, which didn't always play Harvard, Yale and Princeton . . . had to resign itself to the eight-team setup in 1956.

But Ken can still look back on the historic days with a grin.

Like the "Fifth Down" game at Hanover in 1940, when a 7-3 Cornell victory was turned into a 3-0 Cornell loss, a year the Big Red had been triumphant, and the Big Green quite dismal.

Ken's not convinced, but Dartmouth claimed the game films showed Cornell scoring on a fifth down, when the referee had forgot to count properly following a penalty.

"We thought that Dartmouth would never accept the offer and take the win. But then they turned around and did. We were all quite shocked," Ken remembered.

Van Sickle hasn't really accepted the realignment. "It's too bad the Ivies will never get a chance to play the teams that they used to play . . . the great undefeated teams under Snavely and the teams that followed in the next couple of years, with players like Bud Hollard . . . we'll never see the likes of again."

After the long weekend trips to Houston faded into memory with the realignment, quarterback Gary Wood's long runs and inspired play were the next "glory" 'at Schoellkopf, in the early 1960s. Gary went on to struggle in Yankee Stadium for the Giants, and now he starts for the Ottawa Roughriders in the Canadian league.

The current man of the hour is All-American Ed Marinaro, "Spaghetti Legs" as Ken calls him, when he's in the Journal's composing room, filled with Italian football fans.

College football has only been part of Van Sickle's repertoire as sports writer and editor.

Cornell has a vast varsity sports program, which includes everything from championship hockey and lacrosse, to polo, crew, squash, gymnastics and cross country.

Covering it is a massive job of reconstructing what happened Saturday afternoon for Monday night's readers. Making those 48 hours disintegrate can be a challenging, and sometimes boring, task.

Ithaca College, currently with sports publicist Phil Langan handling the bulk of the stories (since 1967), has an extensive small college sports calendar. When Langan was not there, Van Sickle would be cleaning up the I.C. sports on Sunday evening, as well as Cornell.

Oh, there's a couple more areas. Don't forget the high schools — the "schoolboys" as Ken calls them, and the local sports groups.

Other than covering Ithaca High, which has had state champions in football for the past two seasons and is strong in every major and minor sport offered on the New York State smorgasboard, the Journal is involved with 16 rural high schools.

Student populations at these schools range from Romulus (with 90 boys grades 9-12) at the north end of Seneca Lake; all the way to Newfield and Spencer-Van Etten (about 150 boys), both located about 10 miles south of Ithaca.

And what about . . . the slowball softball players, the bowlers, the golfers, the pigeon racers, the pool shooters, the youth hockey players, the summer basketballers, the small fry footballers, the Kiwanis baseballers, the snowmobilers, the dirt-track auto drivers, the autocrossers and rallyists, the archers, the sailors, the fishermen and the hunters, the conservationists, the skiers, the bicyclists, the long distance runners, the horseshoe tossers, the fastpitch softballers, and the Youth Bureau swimmers.

The light side of the sports world has been part of "KV's" specialty.

Thanks to Kenn Van Sickle . . .

by Fred Yahn

Ithaca Journal Sports Writer

One fellow horse bettor once owned him some long overdue money. So Van Sickle placed a line in his "Sports Tower" and the friend quickly returned the cash.

On another occasion, Ken was running a semi-true column on "Where have all the bachelors gone?" and one woman called up a day later, wondering why her husband had been referred to as a bachelor.

Kenny and three Journal editorial people test each other's college football prognostications each Fall, picking the scores for ten games each week throughout the season. First place award: a gold statue of a donkey's hind quarters.

The howls of delight come from the north end of the Journal's second-floor editorial room (the sports department) when one of the Journal's selections for the local horse tracks comes in with a big payoff.

Each time the Super Bowl rolls around, Ken "polls" the downtown Ithacans — the "man on the street" — for his prediction.

The results make funny reading.

On the more serious side, Ken's column has outlined the ups and downs of Ithaca sports, and the people that inhabit the sidelines and the field of play. He has helped groups who have become involved with youth sports in the community, and he's quick to accept a telephone message about obscurities like horse shows in Groton and football physical schedules in Spencer.

"We have always asked for more space . . . and when the season is on . . . we need all the space we can muster." The Journal, on heavy sports weekend in the Fall, will use four pages in its Saturday morning edition (started in the mid-1960s, a change-over from a little-read Saturday afternoon paper), and go with six pages on Monday afternoon.

The Friday night sports deadline is 2 a.m. for national action, and 1 a.m. for local happenings. That means nothing misses, whether it's a fight in Los Angeles or a late-night locker room feature following another Ithaca High football victory.

The Journal has carried six sports bylines on some occasions, using several stringers and help from the regular news staff.

Ken has a long list of sports stringers who have helped him with the extensive collegiate and scholastic coverage, ranging from John Masterman, who's now with NBC in Washington, to C. David Burak and "Chip" Marshall, two Cornellians who went the radical route in college but who retained their love for sports.

Ken's nearest scrape with actually playing came in 1932, when he was a 120-pound hopeful at Ithaca High. He managed the football team, then coached by Eddie Pierce. Pierce fielded some great teams for 18 years, with the Little Red.

"High school athletics in New York State should be loosened up a little. I think we need a state tournament in basketball," Ken says.

"Because every section is different (N.Y. is divided into 11 sections for high school sports), a tourney would be a good measure of just how good one section is. It's something that has to come," adds Ken, who remembers when the state still had a cage tournament, in the 1930s.

On the national professional sports level, Ken feels that there is too much saturation. "You should see the wire copy we get . . . the run-of-the-mill fan just doesn't have the time to read about all of this stuff. And television. Television has made it too easy for the fan to sit home. And college sports have suffered."

Ken, who has struck up friendships with all types of persons from the spectrum of sports, was born in Sheldrake, just north of Ithaca. He lived in Dryden, across Cayuga Lake, during his childhood.

He wrote sports for three years at Ithaca High, and when he graduated, the now-retired Journal editor, Bill Waters, gave him a job as sports writer. "We had a lot fewer writers then than we do now, and we had to handle everything." Ken was then writing a column six times a week.

During the late 1930s, he met his late wife, women's editor Genevieve Wood, while at the Journal. They had two children, Betsey, who now works in Ithaca, and Peter, presently a world traveler.

He got some editorial experience in San Diego, Calif. with the Navy, working with the base's newspaper.

When he came back to Ithaca, he was named sports editor.

"It's always been a question of balance," Ken summarized.

"We've usually received a lot of co-operation from the man on the street, in reporting the local sports happenings. We can't get overly snowed by one sport . . . if we do, we don't do justice to the others."

So pigeon racing, my friend, will still have its place on the Journal sports pages. But watch out for curling and barrel-jumping. They might have a revival this year.

The old tube to the press room has received plenty of Ken's contributions over the years.

Our '72 wagon tailgates go up, down, sideways, slideways and one even disappears.

We've got five different kinds of wagons. One for every kind of wagon buyer.

Wagons with different kinds of tailgates especially designed for convenience. Including one that vanishes—the window into the roof, the gate under the floor. Out of sight. Out of your way.

Wagons that seat four, six, eight, nine or as many as twelve. If you like, our Sportvan can even be converted to sleep up to six. We're serious when we say we want your 1972 Chevrolet wagon to be the very best wagon you ever owned.

Jake Gaither will be a permanent part of college football's history as . . .

A GREAT MAN.... A GREAT COACH.... AND A BIG WINNER

by Roosevelt Wilson
Sports Information Director
Florida A&M University

WHEN Alonzo Smith "Jake" Gaither surrendered his head coaching position at Florida A&M University on Jan. 29, 1970, there came to a close one of the most fantastic coaching careers in the history of college football.

He still remains at FAMU as athletic director and professor of physical education but Gaither hung up his cleats after compiling a remarkable record of 203 victories, 36 defeats and four ties. Although his 203 wins place him only fifth on the list of alltime winners in college football — both small and major colleges — behind Alonzo Stagg (314), Pop Warner (313), Warren Woodsen (239) and Jess Neely (207), no other coach in the history of the game ever won so many while losing so few. In fact, Gaither's 83.54 percent winning mark over the quarter century he coached has yet to be surpassed.

Even more fantastic is his record in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SIAC), which his Rattlers dominated unmercifully. Of the 119 SIAC games Gaither coached, he won 116 and lost only three (97 percent). Those three losses represent the only times Gaither did not win the league championship in 25 years.

By any normal measure, a won-lost record like Gaither's would be sufficient to earn any man a seat among college football's immortals, and it will play no small role in the coach's expected enshrinement in the Hall of Fame, but there are several ironies which lend even greater significance to the contributions of this man.

He speaks with authority and with a force that commands the attention of the listener, and with a substance that is not easily forgotten. With Gaither, winning is not an end in itself, but a means to an end. "Football is a great character builder", he often said, "but I can build more character winning than I can by losing." He was more than a coach to his players. "When we take these boys away from their parents and bring them here to play football, somebody has to take the place of mother and father and I feel that's our responsibility as coaches," he said.

To many who have become successful in their chosen fields, their success is the realization of a lifelong dream. If Gaither had realized his dream as a youth or the dream of his father, he probably would be either another Perry Mason or a Billy Graham. Gaither's father, a Methodist minister, wanted his son to follow in his footsteps. Young Jake himself wanted to be a lawyer.

But when Jake was a senior in college his father died and Jake had to assume the man-of-the-house responsibilities. So, when he got his undergraduate degree from Knoxville (Tenn.) College, he also got a job — as teacher and coach in a high school.

Gaither made a very spectacular debut as a coach. He finished his first season with a perfect record — eight games, eight losses. The second season wasn't quite as bad but it was just as spectacular. This time his team lost only three of the eight games . . . but tied the other five. So, after two seasons and 16 games, Jake Gaither's lifetime coaching record was 0-11-5.

His third year, though, was an omen of what was ahead for coaches unfortunate enough to be on the opposite side of the field. Gaither's team started winning and couldn't break the habit. They won the state championship. Gaither has been a winner ever since.

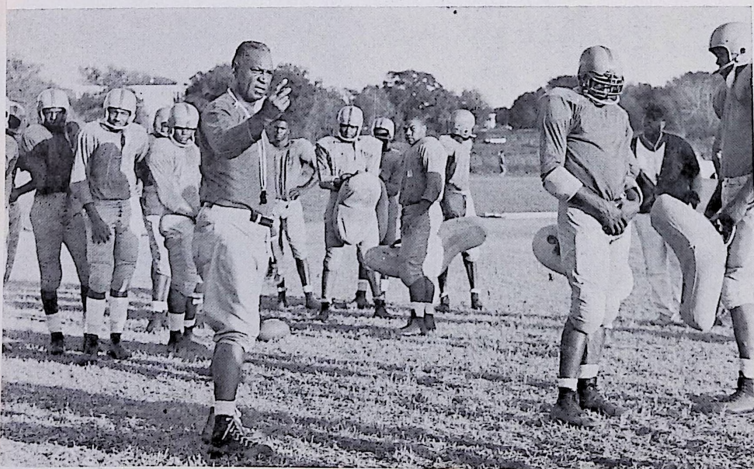

Of the 25 successful seasons he enjoyed at the helm for the Rattlers (Gaither lost three games or more in a single season only three times the 25 years at FAMU. He never lost more than four) Gaither picks 1969, his final, as the one to remember. It wasn't his most successful recordwise for his '69 squad finished 8-1 and several times before he had guided his team to undefeated seasons and several Negro national championships. But with Gaither, championships are incidental. They come with winning.

In 1969 Gaither reached two mileposts that have earned a room in his storehouse of precious moments. First was his 200th victory as head coach of the Rattlers and second was his victory over predominantly white University of Tampa.

The 200th victory came Nov. 15, over tough Southern University of Baton Rouge, La. The game was played at Tallahassee and it has to go down as one of the greatest of Rattler games.

As was most apropos, it was a decision by Gaither himself that decided the outcome of the game. Late in the first quarter with the Gaither stresses point during practice session.

Rattlers in possession on the Southern nine in a fourth-and-two situation, Gaither elected to go for a field goal instead of trying for a first down.

"I felt the field goal would be the difference," Gaither said later. "We were moving the ball on them and I felt pretty sure we would eventually score a touchdown." And the Rattlers did score a touchdown to eke out a 10-7 win.

Two weeks later it was at Tampa in the Spartans' beautiful 47,000 seat stadium. They had turned away thousands at the gate because every crack and crevice were overflowing.

The game represented the removal of the racial barrier from the Florida college football scene. More was at stake than just another victory for Gaither, although his diplomacy in playing it down beforehand gave no external indication that the game meant so much. But it did, Gaither knew it, too. He was carrying the weight of all the other predominantly Negro colleges on his shoulders as well as the responsibility for future interracial games in the South.

The game was another heart-stopper. It went right down to the wire. It had been literally an offensive display. Florida A&M led 7-0. Tampa came back to tie it, 7-7.

Rattler boss ponders next move during close contest.

Gaither (right) announces his retirement from active coaching ranks on Jan. 29, 1970. On left is successor Pete Griffin.

The Rattlers went ahead 14-7. Tampa came back again, 14-14 at the half.

In the third quarter it was FAMU 21, Tampa 14 and later FAMU 28, Tampa 14. Rattler fans sighed, "Ho, hum, chalk up another one for Jake." But near the end of the third quarter it was FAMU 28, Tampa 21 and early in the fourth quarter it was tied up again, 28-28. The noise was deafening.

Less than four minutes remained when Hubert Ginn banged over from two yards out. Horace Lovett missed the PAT but FAMU won the game, 34-28. Jake had done it again.

There had long been doubts in the minds of the pollsters as to the quality of Negro college football. Tampa was ranked sixth among small college and FAMU 16th. Gaither erased the doubts with his 34-28 victory. There had long been doubts in the minds of the southerners that a game of this type could be played in the South without incidents. Gaither erased these doubts, too. "You can't get any further south than Florida and if we can do it here, it can be done anywhere," he said.

After the game, Tampa's Coach Fran Curci sped across the field to Gaither and congratulated him, saying, "Jake, it was a great game. You deserved to win."

A fitting testimonial.

Jake Gaither as an active coach is a legend now and it's obvious he found his real calling. But even while he was coaching, anyone who ever heard him captivate an audience with one of his dynamic speeches, or anyone who ever heard him pleading the cause of justice on behalf of today's youth would have to agree: Jake Gaither is part lawyer and part preacher, too.

and quite possibly the greatest of all the Ivies yet. It had tremendous speed on both offense and defense, and another great quarterback in Jim Chasey to pilot Blackman's intricate and imaginative offense. The Tribe scalped everyone in sight, shut out five of its seven League foes, and put 234 points on the scoreboard to a meager 28 for the opposition.

The other Ivy team that gets "great" rating is the Princeton squad of '64, led by rambunctious fullback Cozmo Iacavazzi. That team cut a wide swath through the League, too, with nary a tight contest.

The most dramatic game? You've read about it in another I.C. program. Harvard and Yale, 1968. Undefeated together for the first time since 1909; Yale still boasting the devastating duo of Dowling and Hill, but lacking a little on defense. Yale ahead, 29-13, and trying for another touchdown late in the game. A fumble at the Harvard 14 with 3:34 — and then, an unbelievable series of events.

Frank Champi, a substitute quarterback, threw a scoring pass to end Bruce Freeman with 42 seconds to go. A two-point conversion, and an on-side kick which Harvard recovered. A last-play, eight-yard scoring pass from Champi to hobbled captain Gatto, and a two-point conversion to end Pete Varney. The Crimson headline said "Harvard Beats Yale, 29-29." No one who saw it will ever see anything like it again.

It may be, as the Ivies head into their 16th year, that the old order will change; that there will be new "haves" in football. The coaching lineup has changed almost overnight. Such familiar names as Blackman at Dartmouth, Dick Colman at Princeton, and John Yovisin at Harvard have moved from the scene (the latter two retired.) Carmen Cozza at Yale, entering his seventh season, is the senior coach in point of service. Dartmouth, Harvard, and Pennsylvania all have new coaches this year.

The competition in '71 should be among the best the League has ever enjoyed. The "haves" all look strong on paper. The "have nots" have seldom looked stronger themselves.

And despite some of the internal problems which exist, chances are that the Ivy League will continue in its efforts to set a standard for sanity in major college football, and every other sport — for that matter. The League continues to resist the "athletic scholarship" and a double standard of admissions; it still seeks to make its athletic teams representative of its undergraduate bodies, and it still fights NCAA legislation which tends to separate the athlete from the rest of the student population. There may be some frayed feelings here and there in Ivy halls, but the similarities still serve as an adhesive force.

It's like the story about the couple which had been married a long time. "Have you ever considered divorce," the husband was asked.

"Murder, many times," he replied. "But divorce, never."

ABOUT WILKES COLLEGE

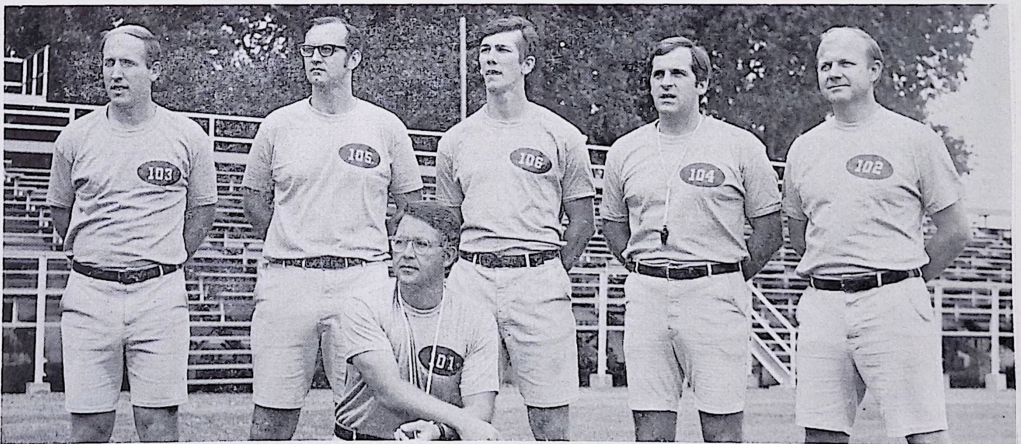

Wilkes College had its beginnings in 1933 when Bucknell University, responding to a request of community leaders, established its Junior College in Wilkes-Barre. On June 26, 1947, Bucknell University Junior College came to an end and Wilkes College received its charter as a four-year, coeducational, liberal arts college. The College has grown slowly to its current enrollment of approximately 2,556 full-time students and 620 part-time evening school students.

From its inception, the College has been dedicated to these twin goals — a sound and stimulating intellectual experience for students and a program of service to the community.

A MAN NAMED SHAUGHNESSY

by RUBE SAMUELSEN

Clark Shaughnessy

Call the roll of coaches whose names are etched in bold type on the pages of college football history . . . Knute Rockne, Pop Warner, Walter Camp, A. A. Stagg, Bill Roper, "Hurry-Up" Yost, Percy Haughton, John Heisman, Bob Zuppke, Andy Smith, Gil Dobie, Tad and Howard Jones, Wallace Wade and so many more.

Add the names, and quickly, of Dana X. Bible, Fritz Crisler, Frank Leahy, Bud Wilkinson, Bill Alexander, Bob Neyland, Don Faurot, Andy Kerr, Pappy Waldorf, Frank Cavanaugh, Jess Neely, Ossie Solem, Slip Madigan, Red Sanders, Bernie Bierman, Lou Little and Buck Shaw.

The list goes on. Nor are the giants of today, their careers now in full flower, to be overlooked. On them the record book is not closed but their deeds are certain to live in golden memory.

Most of the pace-setters gained added lustre because they were identified with one university. One man, however, was not so catalogued. His name is Clark Shaughnessy.

Shaughnessy coached at Loyola (New Orleans), Tulane, Chicago, Stanford, West Virginia and Pittsburgh, not to mention with three more teams in pro ball. Indicative of his restless, challenging spirit, he moved around just like the teams he coached. Perhaps that dimmed the overall recognition he was accorded. Nonetheless and conceivably, Shaughnessy contributed more to football strategy, offense and defense alike, than any man who ever lived. Off the field as well, he was indeed quite a man.

Changed Football's Face

Shaughnessy, who died last year, changed the tempo and face of football so that it is almost unrecognizable from that of 50, even 25 years ago. He didn't invent the T-Formation, but he took it out of its swaddling clothes, constantly streamlined it and wrote the doctoral thesis. Literally, and figuratively as well, he put wings on the football.

This dedicated man, who weight hardly varied an ounce from the 198 pounds of his Minnesota playing days some 60 years ago, took virtually the same Stanford team, which had won but one game in 1939, and coached it to an unbeaten 1940 season. As the "T", with its ball-handling wizardry, deception, brush blocking and so much more, provided the key, a 21-13 win over Nebraska in the Rose Bowl followed. That turned on, electrically, the entire college football world — turned it on receptively, so that the T-Formation almost became standard procedure.

Before he died, Gus Welch, who starred at Carlisle with Jim Thorpe, and whose life spanned Shaughnessy's, turned to George Reiffenach at a football gathering, pointed toward the noted innovator, and said:

"There's the man who has filled every stadium in the country."

Tom Fears, who played under Shaughnessy, pin-points it well with:

"Shaughnessy's dedication and his tremendous new concepts changed football immeasurably. Never has he received his just due, while others used his ideas and theories to their profit, and often took the bows. But more than anyone else, Clark Shaughnessy remains in the hearts of those who played for him."

Impressive Integrity

His influence and character also were acknowledged outside of the football sphere. To illustrate, back in the 30's, he was summoned to New York by George Whitney, head of the J. P. Morgan Company, in the hope of securing Shaughnessy's assent to coach Harvard, his alma mater. Clark declined, but the impression of his integrity upon Whitney was deep. A few weeks later the financier called the coach who was then at the University of Chicago.

"Can you recommend some young man in the midwest who would fit well into the J. P. Morgan Company program?" he asked.

Clark recommended Elmore Patterson, who played with Jay Berwanger, at the Maroon school. Patterson rose to the company's presidency.

The trail-blazing mentor was also the man most sought, largely by Jake Gaither, Florida A&M's coach, to help in opening pro football's gates wider for Negro players.

In the 30's as well, Shaughnessy was approached by representatives of the Temple Shalom, in Chicago. They asked his advice concerning Rabbi Louis Binstock of New Orleans, who Clark knew well. Later Rabbi Binstock became head of the Temple Shalom.

That was Clark Shaughnessy, who was 99 per cent Irish. To repeat, he was quite a man . . . and on all counts. Perhaps it figures. Daniel was his middle name.

Bill Kleinfelder blocks well, runs well and is a fine receiver . . .
He's Ithaca's . . .

TOUGH MAN FROM PHILLY

by Phil Langan
Sports Information Director
Ithaca College

Fullback Bill Kleinfelder won't gain 2000 yards rushing, or catch 100 passes in his career, but when they check back through the record books 50 years from now, the 6-0, 190 pounder from Philadelphia will rank as one of Ithaca College's best all around backs.

"The one word I would use to describe Bill is dependable," head coach Jim Butterfield pointed out. "Whenever we need the big one or two yards for a first down, a reception on a third down play or a block to spring someone loose, he's the man we usually call on. Bill has to gut out some tough plays for us. The running game for the fullback and halfback in our offense is geared towards the inside. That's where you get tagged hard and often. Bill does it without a whimper. He's been a great asset to Ithaca College football for these past three years.

We'll miss him when he graduates next May."

"Kleiney" gained 273 yards in 76 carries for a 3.6 average as a sophomore. Last year, he increased that total to 409 yards in 102 carries, for a 4.1 average, and also scored six touchdowns to lead the Ithacans in scoring. Thus far this season, he has carried 46 times for 173 yards and a 3.6 average with 2 t. d.

Passing-wise, Bill caught only two as a sophomore, increased that total to seven last year and this season has 6. Just about all came on crucial plays.

"Bill has the experience now to go with his natural cutting ability," Butterfield pointed out. "He has good speed and can find a hole in a hurry. Another of his major attributes is following downfield blocking. He was the major reason we upset Bridgeport last year, and it was due mainly to his ability to follow blockers."

A solid performer, Kleinfelder rarely loses ground rushing. He has been thrown for losses just four times in his three year career. "He gives it 100 percent all the time," Butterfield continued. "I've seen him trapped behind the line of scrimmage, and battle until he gained two or three plus yards on his desire alone."

Kleinfelder was a standout athlete at Chestnut Hill Academy where he earned four letters in wrestling, and two each in track and football. As a senior he won City honors in football and was named as the school's outstanding athlete.

At Ithaca, Kleinfelder has earned one letter each in wrestling and lacrosse, in addition to his two in football. There is an excellent chance that he will be a starter in every sport this year.

"Athletics are a major part of my life," the Physical Education major commented. "The main reason is the chance to be a part of a team. You learn discipline, of course, but you also learn the true meaning of teamwork." And no one has contributed more to a team than "Kleiney."

Kleinfelder is about to break through Wilkes defense for 57 yard run in 1969 game, which I.C. won, 13-7.

... College Football Highlights ...

Summer jobs offer great experiences for most college students, and especially football players.

Here's what some of the nation's top players consider their most stimulating summer work.

"Working with underprivileged youth in my hometown of Barberton, Ohio, and in San Diego. It reminds me of my own background and environment. I had someone to look up to, and there were people who let me know I had a chance even though I had few material things. So I want to help someone else see this and believe it."

(Bill Taylor, Sr. Tailback, Michigan)

"I was a playground director for two summers. Many children who cannot be reached by any other means seem to respond very well in situations like this, and it is most rewarding to reach those children and help them."

(Jim Cederna, Jr. Linebacker, Central Michigan)

"Working with a poverty program. I feel it is my duty to help people who are less fortunate than I am."

(Roscoe Word, So. End, Jackson State)

"Participating in a program of physical activity for the physically and emotionally handicapped."

(Joel Klimek, Sr. End, Pittsburgh)

"For two summers I worked with underprivileged children. This made me realize how lucky I really am."

(Larry Russell, Sr. Quarterback, Wake Forest)

"Helping to clean up after the tornado hit Fayetteville, because I love to help people who need help."

(Kenneth Gamble, Sr. Punter, Fayetteville State)

"Youth director in church, trying to show young people how Jesus Christ is so real."

(Mike Roberts, Sr. Linebacker, East Tennessee State)

"Helping the political science department establish our research room."

(Walter Slezak, Sr. Guard, Illinois Benedictine)

"Working as equipment manager for my brother, the pop singer Oliver. The travel and exposure to people in different parts of American was eye-opening and educational."

(John Swofford, Sr. Defensive Back, North Carolina)

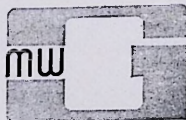

"Working in a lumber mill. It has afforded me educational opportunities that are not readily accessible in the classroom — and can never be."

(Mike Connolly, Sr. Safety, San Francisco)

ITHACA COLLEGE SONGS

ITHACA COLLEGE ANTHEM

1957

Marion Miller and Warren Benson

When young in heart we sing thy praise
O College of our golden days,
And celebrate thy lasting fame.
Ithaca, we hail thy name
In the stirring rains of autumn,
In the greening sun of spring,
Thru golden elms that tower o'er gleaming lake
That breasts the shore, o'er valley, town and wooded hill,
Loud thy praises echo still.

FIGHT SONG

1962

Evelyn Speakman Brayshaw

We're here to cheer, cheer, cheer for Ithaca
College that we love
For the blue and gold
at every game
We'll cheer and cheer again
So fight team fight for Ithaca
Till victory is won
Then the hills that rim Cayuga's shores
Will echo back our cheers
Rah; rah; Ithaca!
Rah! rah! rah!

ALMA MATER

1903 - 1904

Rosa K. Hamlin and Harry Nordin

1. Ithaca, thou lovely city;
Hill and lake and dell,
Home of our loved Alma Mater,
Loud thy praise we'll tell.

Refrain

Ithaca, dear Alma Mater,
Hail to thee, all hail!
May the brightness of thy glory
never, never fail.

2. World wide go thy sons and daughters
On their mission bent
Cheering, blessing, and uplifting
As from Heaven sent.
3. As the waters of Cayuga
Smile beneath the sun,
May God's blessing smile upon thee
While the years roll on.

WILKES COLLEGE

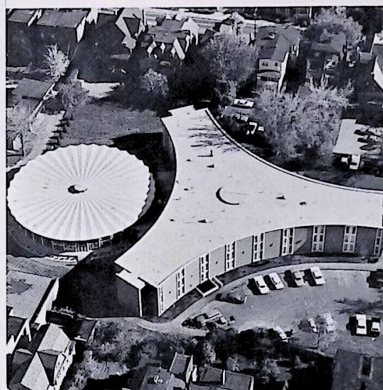

Wilkes College had its beginnings in 1933 when Bucknell University, responding to a request of community leaders, established its Junior College in Wilkes-Barre. On June 26, 1947, Bucknell University Junior College came to an end and Wilkes College received its charter as a four-year, coeducational, liberal arts college. The College has grown slowly to its current enrollment of approximately 2368 full-time day students and 682 part-time evening school students.

From its inception the College has been dedicated to these twin goals — a sound and stimulating intellectual experience for students and a program of service to the community.

WILKES COACHING STAFF

ROLAND C. SCHMIDT — Head Coach

The upcoming 1969 football season will find Coach Roland Schmidt beginning his eighth year as the Colonels' mentor. In seven years he has accumulated a lifetime log of 38-16. His teams in the last four years have won 31 of 32 contests and currently are riding the crest of a 29-game winning streak, the longest in collegiate football. Coupled with this incredible record are four M.A.C. championships, two Lambert trophies, and one Timmie Award, gained last year for being the outstanding collegiate team in the country.

Schmidt has also achieved success on the baseball field. In the past two seasons his teams have won 22-5, including an M.A.C. championship in 1968.

A 1950 graduate of Wilkes-Barre Coughlin High School, Coach Schmidt took part in football, wrestling and track. He attended Bloomsburg State College before serving a two-year stint with the Army. Returning to Bloomsburg in 1955, "Rollie" played football and track for the Huskies.

The mentor graduated from Bloomsburg in 1956 with a B.S. in education and served as a member of the Clarks Summit teaching staff for three years. In addition to being an assistant football coach, he also served as the head wrestling coach and assistant track coach. The Wilkes mentor later moved on to Kingston High School and was an assistant coach for three years. Coach Schmidt holds a master's degree from the University of Scranton. He is married to the former Margaret Dombroski.

GENE DOMZALSKI — Defensive Line

A recent full-time addition to the Wilkes teaching staff, Domzalski is beginning his second year as a Colonel coach. Gene played for five years in the New York Yankee chain before retiring in 1964. He matriculated at Newport Twp. High School and starred in baseball, basketball, and football for the Nutcrackers. In his sophomore year at the Univ. of Wyoming, Domzalski led the nation in punt returns. Two years ago he guided the Nanticoke Area Trojans to their first PIAA Dist. II baseball championship.

Next spring he will make his debut as the Colonel's baseball mentor. Gene is married to the former Arline Barnowski of Wilkes-Barre.

ROBERT HERMAN — Defensive Linebackers

Bob will return to Wilkes College after a six-year lapse. A 1963 graduate of Wilkes College, Herman was a center for the Colonels during the lean years between 1960 and 1962. He was a three-year Wilkes letterman and capped his grid career by being named to the MAC team.

Herman received his Master's Degree from Scranton University in 1967 and will remain in the Wyoming Valley West School District as a teacher and wrestling coach. He is a native of Nanticoke. He is married to the former Carol Wojciechowski and they are the parents of a daughter.

ROBERT CORBA — Defensive Secondary

Corba is another new addition to the Colonels' coaching staff. He is a graduate of Abraham Clark High School in Roselle, New Jersey, where he played football and baseball. After high school he continued his education at Upper Iowa College, receiving his degree in 1966. He was formerly an assistant coach at Northwest Area High School. Corba is married to the former Alice Koury of Wilkes-Barre. The new mentor will remain on the physical education staff at Coughlin High School.

JONAH GOOBIC — Offensive Backs

Jonah was a three-sport athlete at Plains High School. Graduating from that Wilkes-Barre area institution in 1954, Coach Goobic was a standout football, baseball, and basketball player. He later matriculated at Bloomsburg State College, receiving a degree from that down-river institution in 1958. During his four years at Bloomsburg he played football and baseball. Jonah teaches at the Northwest Area High School, Shickshinny, and is first assistant and backfield coach at Wilkes. In the spring he serves also as an assistant baseball coach for the Colonels. Coach Goobic will be starting his eighth year at Wilkes.

CHARLES ADONIZIO — Offensive Line

A former Colonel line standout, Coach Adonizio played two years of football at the Univ. of Pittsburgh before transferring to Wilkes where he played under Coach Schmidt. 'Chuck' received his degree in Business Administration. He played high school football for St. John's High School in Pittston and later attended the Fork Union Military Academy. At Wilkes, Coach Adonizio has been offensive line coach for the past three years. He is married to the former Catherine Fahey and is associated in business with the Addy Asphalt Company, Wilkes-Barre.

CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY OF FOOTBALL

In conjunction with the hundredth anniversary of collegiate football in the United States, Wilkes College has set aside today's game to join in and commemorate the great impact football has had on the college scene.

One of the highlights of today's celebration will be the introduction of the All-time Wilkes offensive and defensive teams at halftime. The following were the best during the first 24 years of football at Wilkes:

THE OFFENSE

Joe Skvarla is regarded as the greatest receiver to have ever donned a Blue and Gold uniform. From his split-end position he battled defenders for the ball and more times than not caught the pass. His most productive endeavor came in his senior, the 1968 season, when he caught 47 passes for 848 yards and 11 touchdowns. For his efforts the Plymouth native was selected on All-State, All-East, and All-MAC teams. He set eight reception marks during his career.

Jack Feeney went both ways in the golden years of George Ralston. He was a long-side end on a single-wing team. An excellent receiver, he had blocking responsibilities also. He played scholastic football at Kingston High School and was named to the All-Scholastic team in 1943. Probably the best placekicker in Wilkes annals, his record of 27 PAT's in one season still stands.

Joe Roszko was a solid block of granite from his guard position. He was a co-captain of the undefeated 1967 team. A tough man to knock out of a play, he was named to the MAC team in his senior year. Currently he is completing a one-year stint in Vietnam.

Jim Brunza became Wilkes' first All-American in 1961. He accomplished the almost impossible dream by standing out on a team which produced a 1-6 record. A fierce competitor, he was named to the NAIA second team.

Bruce Comstock, besides Bill Layden, holds the rare distinction of being named to the All-MAC team for his entire four-year career. Well-versed at line play, he played havoc on enemy forces. During his senior year, the 1968 Wilkes tri-captain was chosen on the All-State team.

Gerard Washco was one of the fastest and smoothest big men to ever play on a Wilkes team. The Nanticoke native was a co-captain of the 1947 squad and was regarded by many as the best blocker of the Ralston years.

George Conway is still engaged in combat on the football field as the captain and starting center on this year's squad. A mobile and agile performer, he is a Coughlin High School product. Conway is regarded as a fine blocker and an excellent field leader.

Joe Zakowski is also presently engaged on the gridiron in quest of the Colonels' fourth straight undefeated season. The Hanover Twp. southpaw is a double threat. To date he has completed 76 of 165 passes for 1132 yards and 13 touchdowns. With the addition of 678 yards rushing, the injury-prone signal-caller has already amassed 1810 yards, the most in Wilkes' history, with five games left to play.

John Florkiewicz is another Nanticoke High School grad. Florky provided the bulwark on the initial Wilkes grid teams. His 105-yard touchdown kickoff return, 12-touchdown performance in 1949, and career accumulations of 25 touchdowns and 151 points still remain on the Colonel record books. He was a bone-jarring runner who thrived on contact. Florky served with Washco as a co-captain of the 1947 team.

Paul Purta provided Colonel fans with the big play during the mid-1960's. His 80-yard Zakowski reception in 1966 still rates as the most dramatic second in Wilkes football history. During his four-year career he rushed for 1253 yards on the ground, and picked up an additional 207 from passes. He was the most valuable player in the MAC in 1966, while also gaining a first-team shot on the all-state squad. What he lacked in speed he made up in determination.

Marv Antinnes was the Colonels' handy-man during the years of famine. In his final three years he gained 1187 yards on 347 carries. Much of the real estate which he gained came without openings in the line. He was the co-captain of the 1960 team.

Ron Rescigno was a fast, tough triple-threat tailback who played both ways in the days of the single-wing. His 810 yards rushing in 1957 gave him 21st place in the national records and an All-Time Colonel mark. He accounted for 1043 yards gained offensively, which amounted to 66 percent of the team total.

THE DEFENSE

Alex Molosh was known as the "Mad Russian" during his playing days. He never played organized football until he came to Wilkes. Molosh, with that do-or-die Brooklyn spirit, relied on strength and fierceness to humble opposing players. He was a co-captain of the 1951 squad.

Bill Layden, a solid four-year MAC All-Star tackle selection, was also a second-team All-State selection for three years. Layden possessed excellent lateral movement and was a terror on the pass rush. His best campaign was the 1967 season when he accounted for 48 tackles and 58 assists. He was a tri-captain of the 1968 team.

John Howe came back after a knee injury to lead the Wilkes front four during the 1968 season. Although small, compared to college defensive tackles, his presence was felt among opposing ball carriers. In 1968 he recorded 42 tackles and 52 assists.

Walt Hendershot was a fast and agile powerhouse on the field. He teamed up with Gerard Washco to provide Wilkes with a tough one-two combo during the early Ralston era.

Al Yatko was a hardnose tackler who was on top of every play before it happened. He was the defensive signal-caller on the Colonels' great defensive squads of 1965 and 1966. During his junior and senior years he was named to the first teams of the All-MAC, All-State, All-East and was an Honorable Mention All-American.

Paul (P.J.) Kane, another ardent student of the game, smelled and destroyed enemy ball-carriers for four years. In his final season, 1968, he was involved in a Colonel record of 154 hits, for which he was named to the All-MAC team.

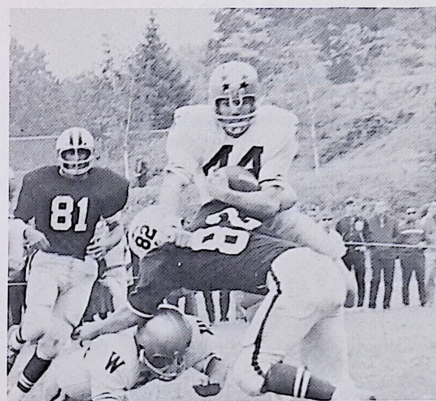

Brinley Varchol was an explosive defensive player in the Schmidt era. Varchol was an excellent pass defender, intercepting 10 passes during his career. He was the defensive signal-caller and co-captain of the 1967 team. In his senior year he was a first-team All-State and All-MAC selection.

Pete Winebrake, a tough competitor, played freshman ball at Wilkes, and then returned after a stint in the Marine Corps. He was a rugged performer on four squads with losing records.

Joe Wiendl was the greatest all-around athlete in Wilkes College history. The records he set speak well for his football ability. His number 44 was the only one ever retired in Wilkes annals. He was the co-captain of the 1968 team.

Al Nicholas gained fame as a running half-back. His college career, interrupted by the Korean War, extended from 1949 to 1954. Besides being a swift and elusive runner, he was an excellent pass defender.

Dan Malloy, unclaimed by fame, was a solid four-year performer in recent Schmidt years. With Joe Wiendl and Jay Holliday, the trio probably formed the toughest defensive backfield in the MAC. His big game came on September 30, 1967 when he intercepted five passes in one game against Moravian.

JOE WIENDL

This fall the football squad is minus a number 44. Last spring, in an unprecedented move, the Wilkes faculty athletic committee retired jersey number 44 as a tribute to the service and dedication that Joe Wiendl has given to Wilkes College. With the completion of baseball season he became the first Colonel in history to ever earn 12 letters.

Following are his major athletic achievements:

Wilkes, our Alma Mater
 We pledge our hearts to thee,
 Honor, faith, and courage,
 Truth and loyalty.
 In our work as in our pleasure
 Guide us as a friend;
 We shall always love thee,
 Loyal to the end.
 Thou shalt lead us onward
 In search of finer things.
 May we find the wisdom
 That thy spirit brings.
 May our deeds of love and service
 Ever swell thy fame —
 Wilkes, we stand to greet thee!
 Glory to thy name!

TV FOOTBALL . . . of Rules, Rain and Ratings

by BEANO COOK, ABC-TV Sports

ROONE ARLEDGE
President and Executive Producer of ABC Sports

On the 28th floor of ABC Television's office in New York, there is a saying which goes, "If you think the network did a good job in picking this season's college football schedule for television, send all congratulatory mail to Chuck Howard, vice-president of program production, and Jim Spence, vice-president of program planning. If you don't like the schedule, blame Roone Arledge, President of ABC Sports."

See, my friend, it really boils down to one person, Arledge. He makes the final decision. Take the 1969 schedule. When he talked to Darrell Royal of Texas and Frank Broyles of Arkansas about playing the first Saturday in December instead of the middle of October, Royal asked, "Why?"

"It will be for the national championship," replied Arledge casually.

"What about Ohio State?" said Royal. In 1968, the Buckeyes swept to the national title and nearly every key player was returning.

"They will lose," said Arledge. "Don't worry about that. Your game will be for No. 1."

Everybody thought Arledge was nuts, including all the pre-season experts who saw no way Ohio State could lose. Well, as the season progressed, it seemed as if Arledge had been wrong and the game between Texas and Arkansas would be just for No. 2 and for the Southwest Conference title. After Ohio State walloped Purdue on national television, only Michigan remained for the Buckeyes, who were called by some, "the greatest team ever." A reporter asked Arledge what he thought.

"Look, Ohio State plays at Michigan and 100,000 screaming fans will mean the difference."

As Arledge watched the Ohio State-Michigan game on television, he really didn't believe what he saw. "Look, I thought Ohio State would lose, but when it came down to just one game, I had my doubts."

Arledge, Spence and Howard picked the 1971 television schedule for ABC. The National Collegiate Athletic Association Television Committee only verifies that the schedule meets the criteria of the television plan as voted by the members of the NCAA.

In the early fifties, the NCAA wisely formed a Television Committee, which has closely watched the effect live television has on attendance. Many critics, especially sportswriters, criticize the NCAA for not allowing the network to pick any game. Yet, when television was not controlled, attendance declined. The press blames television for killing boxing, but also criticizes the NCAA when it tries to supervise the televising of college games so the live gate won't decline rapidly.

In recent years, the Television Committee has given ABC more flexibility, especially for late-season games. Sometimes Arledge feels frustrated. When he thinks he has the schedule completed, he notices that a team isn't eligible because of previous appearances on the schedule.

"I remember when we called California to request an earlier start for a certain game," recalled Arledge. "After the call, somebody noticed that California already was on the schedule the maximum number of times permitted. Anyway, we were saved when California called back and said it couldn't accommodate our request. I was quite happy over the refusal."

The general public becomes confused over the various rules, but as a guideline, here are some basic ones to remember. The rules start in the even years. No team can now appear more than four times in two years, or more than three times in one year. No team can appear on national television more than two times in one year. There are no blackouts. There are a few remifications to these rules, such as a team can benefit just once in two years from the wildcard game.

Since this year's schedule came in the odd year, Arledge, Howard and Spence had to check the previous year's schedule to be positive that no team would exceed the limit of appearances for a two-year period. When this trio made the schedule, the national dates were completed first. (There are 12 national games and six regional weekends. Each station receives a total of 18 games.)

Then came the 24 games for the regional weekends. "You run into problems but none as rough as having universities move dates, although sometimes you can't blame an athletic director for not switching a date," said Arledge. "However, on some occasions, we are against the wall and must ask institutions to cooperate. In most cases, the athletic directors have been great."

Via the regional weekend games, ABC fulfilled many of the obligations of the contract, such as including at least 12 independent teams on the schedule, and ensuring the required appearances for each major conference for the two-year period.

"I would rate this year's schedule the most difficult one to make in six years because of the problems we faced late in the season," said Arledge. "Yet, I think we will do well ratings-wise, and will provide games of considerable interest and attractiveness regularly."

Under Arledge's brilliant leadership, viewership of NCAA football reached new peaks in 1970.

"If the large cities could have a snowstorm on two straight Saturdays in September, it would help. And if the national games are closer than they were last year, I think 1971 could be a super year. We are the only people who pray for rain for the entire country every Saturday, except at the site of the TV game.

"When it rains on Saturday, several million more fans watch college football on television, and that's good for ABC, the advertisers and college football."

THOU SHALT LEAD US ONWARD
IN SEARCH OF FINER THINGS.
MAY WE FIND THE WISDOM
THAT THY SPIRIT BRINGS.
MAY OUR DEEDS OF LOVE AND SERVICE
EVER SWELL THY FAME —
WILKES, WE STAND TO GREET THEE!
GLORY TO THY NAME!

ROLAND C. SCHMIDT

This fall Roland Schmidt will begin his tenth season at the helm of the Wilkes football Colonels. During the nine year span between 1962-1970, his teams compiled a 47-22-1 record which ranks him near the top among the nations college division coaches.

From 1965 to 1969 his squads terrorized the Middle Atlantic Conference and other eastern independents, winning 37 of 40 contests. Included in this impressive total are five straight Northern Division MAC titles (1965-69); two Lambert Bowls, symbolic of ECAC Division III supremacy (1966, 1968); three straight undefeated seasons (1966, 1967, 1968); and a 32-game winning streak, the third longest in the history of NCAA College Division.

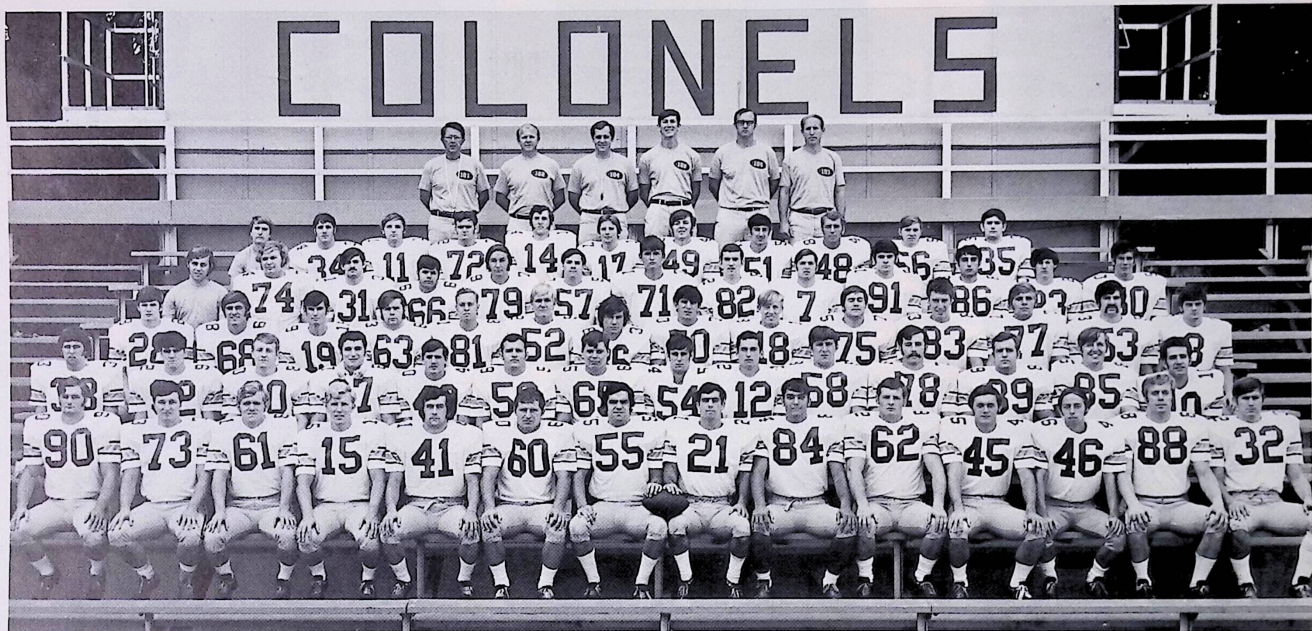

Not to be outdone on other fields of sport, Schmidt coached the Wilkes baseball team from 1962-69, and in 1970 assumed the duties as the golf mentor. His 1968 and 1969 baseball teams combined for a 22-5 record, which included an MAC championship in 1968. Although loaded with underclassmen the past two years, Coach Schmidt guided the Colonel golfers to an 8-3 record in 1970 and went a step higher in 1971 by copping MAC Golf laurels.

A 1950 graduate of Wilkes-Barre Coughlin High School, "Rollie" took part in football, wrestling, and track. He attended Bloomsburg State College for two years before serving a two-year stint in the Army. Returning to Bloomsburg upon the completion of his military obligation, the Colonel head participated in football and track for the Huskies.

His coaching career began at Clarks Summit High School where he served as assistant football, track, and head wrestling coach for three years. Schmidt put in another three-year tour with Kingston High School as an assistant before moving on to Wilkes in 1962.

"Rollie" is married to the former Margaret Domzalski.

Life can be hectic for a 5-6, 160 tailback as Ted Yeager (21) will soon pay for his successes.

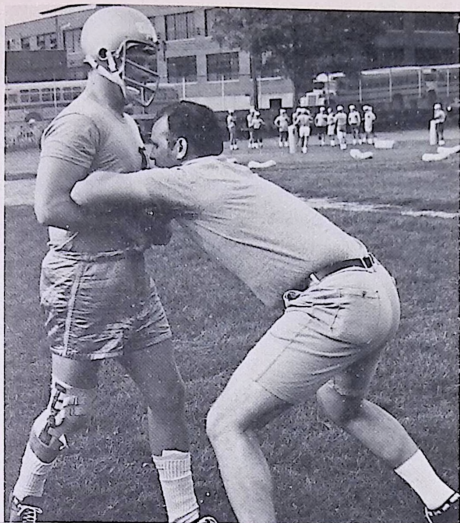

Fullback Jim Yanora (34) and tightend George Sillup (80) clearing the way for a Yeager scamper.

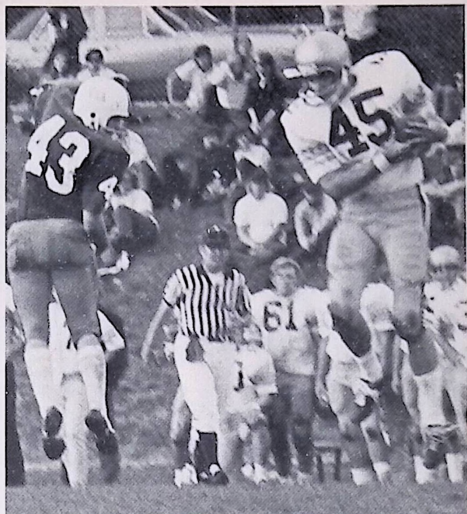

John Kerr (46) and Ron Hillard (41) fight Moravian receiver for possession of the football . . . Kerr prevailed.

42 Seasons, 203 Victories, Teaching Character

by BILL MCGROTHA, Tallahassee Democrat

Up a steep drive at 212 Young Street in Tallahassee sits the house with the pine tree in the furthestmost room.

All around the pine tree at the base are white rocks and mostly-beige seashells. Covering the circular rim of the whole is a woven piece done in the bright orange and bright green of Florida A&M.

On the walls of the room are dozens of plaques and pictures. There seems no space for more. One picture shows the man of the house with Lyndon Johnson.

But the most striking part of the picture-plaque alignment is squarely in the center of the furthestmost wall in the furthestmost room.

At the bottom of that central display is a picture of a woman. Just above it is a picture of a man. And just above that is a little teddy bear . . .

It is obvious that this is the most special part of the room.

The woman is Jake Gaither's wife, Sadie. The man is Jake Gaither's father, a 6-foot-6 Tennessee preacher in his day.

And the teddy bear?

It came from George (Papa Bear) Halas, the owner-coach of the Chicago Bears, when Gaither lay long in bed with a severe foot ailment three years ago. Halas sent flowers, and in the middle was the teddy bear.

203-36-4

After 42 years of coaching football, after an extraordinary record of 203-36-4 through 25 seasons as head coach of the storied Florida A&M Rattlers, Jake Gaither retired from the game in January of 1970.

He remains with the Rattlers as director of athletics.

"Just say," says Gaither, "that I am 65, because somebody has already printed that I was. Say also that I am going to stay 65 for a very long time."

It was Sadie who built the trophy room, not long ago. Jake shakes his head over it: "Cost a lot of money."

Sadie smiles and says: "It didn't cost you anything." . . . She cashed in an endowment insurance policy on herself to build the room.

She built it where there had been a concrete patio. The pine tree was already there. "Just build around it," said Jake. So she built around it, and sometimes the tree—70 feet tall—gets wet inside. Nobody worries about it.

Football Every Day

While Gaither has retired from coaching the game, the game won't retire from him. Every day is still football.

The phone rings and it's a head coach of a big Eastern university wanting Gaither to recommend "one of your players" as an assistant coach.

The phone rings and it is Bob Hayes wanting Jake's advice on this or that.

The phone rings and it is the White House or the NCAA wanting Gaither to serve on a committee.

The phone rings and it's somebody wanting him to make a speech.

A gifted orator, Gaither is extremely active with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes "and they're working me to death." He is on the President's Committee for Physical Fitness, and is on the NCAA Television and American Football Coaches Association committees.

Never far removed from Gaither's thoughts are "my boys," the former A&M players now in the pros, the ones in coaching, the ones who have become doctors, lawyers and business men.

Childless himself, he worries about some of his boys, thinking he has a greater feeling for particular ones.

"Some boys," he says, "just tug at your heartstrings more than others. It's just that way."

Sadie teaches freshman English at A&M. She has taught there since 1942.

The A&M gymnasium is named after Gaither. So is a city golf course—though he doesn't play golf—and a city street.

M-A-H

Once he declared that he liked his football players "mo-bile, a-gile and hos-tile." He also likes his players to get their degrees, to be notably aware—for all the merit of the game—that there is much more in life.

To a player once complaining about the practice-field heat, Gaither replied: "Yes, baby, that sun is hot. I've been trying to think of a way to put an umbrella over that sun just for you. But I want you to know one thing, baby—if you can practice and play under this Florida sun, you can play under any sun."

Invariably calling his players, "baby," making his points with occasional humor and rare sarcasm, Gaither tells how life is as he sees it.

"Baby, you ain't gonna dream any

JAKE GAITHER

Florida A&M Director of Athletics

number," he said once, "you ain't gonna win any Irish Sweepstakes. You're gonna have to work for everything you get."

"Give me a boy on a football field, and I'll strip his soul. I'll tell you everything about that boy."

"You teach more character winning than losing."

"It is fourth down and goal to go at the two. We are going to run off tackle. I want that defensive tackle double-teamed. I want that halfback to take out the cornerback. And I want my fullback to take that football and charge with his knees high—up under his chin—and I want him to run up that linebacker's stomach and leave him flat."

"Now, you tell me you're gonna talk about character to that poor linebacker!"

. . . Traditionally, after every A&M home football game, the crowd gets together at 212 Young Street.

They waded through the food that Sadie was preparing all day Friday and most of Saturday. They fill every nook of the house.

Eventually, they'll make their way back to that furthestmost room with the pine tree where a smiling Jake Gaither holds forth on the sofa.

And, chances are, somebody will ask him about the teddy bear.

Muskies-Colonels Meet in Finale

With this the final game in a Muskie losing season, people have the tendency to think the Muskies just want to get things over and pack up the gear.

Not so when you're rebuilding a program. The Muskies will have over a dozen freshmen seeing action in today's game and it is important that these athletes get some sort of momentum built up to get ready for next year.

It is also the last game for seven seniors and they would like to prove that this team can win another ball game.

There is also the element of revenge in this match-up with eastern power Wilkes. Last year the Muskies came home 14-12 losers and there may not be another chance to mark up a win against the Colonels.

Wilkes has been building quite a reputation in the east. From 1965-1969 coach Rolland Schmidt's Wilkes-Barre, Pa. unit won 37 of 40 contests with a 32 game winning streak, the third longest in the history of the NCAA College Division.

Today the Colonels bring in an offense, led by passer Jeff Giberson and halfback Ted Yeager, that has accounted for 2257 yards in seven games. Giberson, who Muskie boss Al Christopher said "is one of the best passers we have seen," has been good on 73 of 142 tosses for 1067 yards.

Yeager, who ranks among the nation's top 15 ball carriers, has racked up 834 yards in 191 trips while notching nine TD's. The senior back is the greatest rusher in the history of Wilkes football. To date he has accumulated 2551 yards in 597 carries.

The Muskies will be going with a backfield comprised of 75 percent freshmen with quarterback Dan Tarulli, tailback Jim Rockwell and fullback Dan Murphy. Regular fullback Dave Hayes has turned up lame again and is listed as doubtful for today. The lone "upperclassman" in the backfield is wingback Brenin Hill, a sophomore.

Today's battle is mainly a matter of how much experience the Muskie youngsters have gained in a season, how well the seniors perform in their last home contest, and how well the sophomore and junior ranks can help everyone put everything together.

The Series

This is only the second meeting of these two grid teams. Last year the Muskies traveled to Wilkes-Barre and came out on the short end 14-12.

The Muskies had notched the first score but missed the extra point and then fell behind 14-6 in the third quarter.

A touchdown via a halfback pass to Brenin Hill put the Muskies within two, but the pass for a two point conversion fell incomplete.

With one second left on the clock the Muskies had the ball at the Wilkes 10 yardline and set up for a field goal. It was the week of the last minute field goal victories in the NFL, but it wasn't the week for the Muskies as Dick Pollock's kick fell inches short.

Muskie Basketballers Set for Second Step

Last year Muskie basketball coach Jim Burson took the first step toward trying to build an Ohio Conference hardcourt contender at Muskingum. He had only three lettermen back and went through most of the year with two sophomores and two freshmen playing regular roles.

The Muskies ended up 6-16 and 3-10 in the conference while losing five games by three points or less.

Muskingum's Football Coaching Staff

AL CHRISTOPHER, Head Coach

Al Christopher returned to his native southeastern Ohio last season for his first collegiate head coaching assignment and he began to meet the challenge immediately.

He produced a 6-3 record with only seven starters back and without a previously experienced quarterback.

Prior to coming to Muskingum, Christopher spent three years as a member of the coaching staff at Kent State of the Mid-America Conference.

Beginning his athletic career at nearby Caldwell High School, where he was a quarterback and basketball player, he went on to Ohio University as a kicking specialist. Graduating from O.U. in 1957, he spent the next three years on the staff at Wyoming high school helping to compile a three-year record of 33-1-2.

The next three years were spent at New Philadelphia high school as head football coach. In his last year there, his team was co-champion of the Cardinal Conference with a 9-1 record.

Christopher holds a masters degree in education from Xavier and he also coaches the Muskie tennis team.

JIM BURSON, Defensive Secondary

A former Muskie athlete, Jim Burson returned to his alma mater in 1964 as assistant basketball coach, and has been head basketball coach since 1967.

After graduation from Muskingum in 1963, he coached for a year at Worthington high school under Ralph Sabock, another former Muskie athlete. In 1966, he received his master's degree from Ohio State University, and is currently working on a doctorate.

Burson won three letters in football, three in basketball and one in baseball at Muskingum. He quarterbacked the unbeaten Ohio Conference championship team of 1960 which broke all league records for scoring and yardage.

RUSS WICKERHAM, Defensive Guards and Linebackers

Joining the Muskie coaching staff in 1969, Russ Wickerham coached that year's baseball team to one of the best records in recent years. He is also wrestling coach.

A native of Cincinnati, he spent his boyhood in Athens, where he was a high school star in three sports. He won three football letters at Miami University as an offensive end and, in his senior year, was named the team's outstanding player.

He coached football and wrestling for one year at Berne-Union high school in Fairfield county and for three years was head football coach at Chillicothe high school. He holds the master's degree in education from Miami.

GENE LAUGHMAN, Offensive Backfield

A former quarterback at Wittenberg, Gene Laughman came to the Muskingum coaching staff in 1969 after receiving his master's degree from Kent State University.

A high school athlete at Covington, Ohio, Laughman won All-Ohio Conference football honors at Wittenberg where, during three years as starting quarterback, the Tigers lost only four games. In 1967, he lead his team to the only victory Wittenberg has been able to score over Muskingum in their last four meetings.

In his senior year, he threw 20 touchdown passes and won honorable mention on the 1967 Little All America team. While studying for his master's degree, he was a graduate assistant in football at Kent State.

BARRY PARSONS, Defensive Ends and Tackles

Graduating from Muskingum in 1970, Barry Parsons was immediately appointed to the athletic staff as head track coach and assistant football coach at his alma mater.

As a Muskie athlete, he won four letters each in football and track. He was an end on the football team and a pole vaulter and hurdler in track, holding the school record for the 120-yard high hurdles.

Muskie Basketball

This year Burson has seven lettermen back, and not a one of them a senior. Juniors Todd Brown and Jim Vejsicky are back with two years experience, along with Larry Burke, also a junior, who has been strong coming off the bench. Vejsicky averaged 18.3 points a game last year as the top scorer and Brown dropped in 13 a game.

Add to these, freshmen Gene Ford and Gary Ferber along with junior transfer Barry Keim and the Muskies have the formula for step two.

Ford, and Vejsicky will give the Muskies the most exciting pair of guards around. Last year Ford, who only stands 5-8, became the highest scoring freshman in the history of Muskingum averaging 17 points a game.

Keim, at 6-4 200 gives the Muskies added strength underneath, and comes to us from Orlando Community College where he was the leading scorer and rebounder last year.

The schedule follows:

Nov. 23—Intersquad Scrimmage
Dec. 1—Ohio University	Away
Dec. 4—Ohio Northern	Home
Dec. 9—Marietta	Away

ROLAND C. SCHMIDT

This fall Roland Schmidt will begin his tenth season at the helm of the Wilkes football Colonels. During the nine year span between 1962-1970, his teams compiled a 47-22-1 record which ranks him near the top among the nations college division coaches.

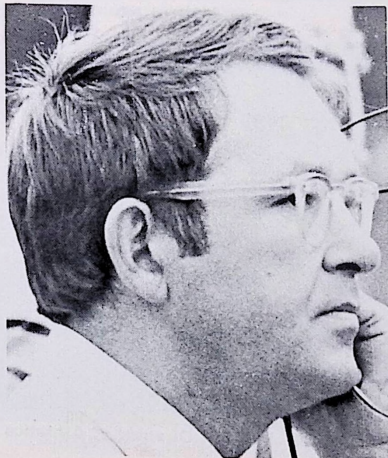

From 1965 to 1969 his squads terrorized the Middle Atlantic Conference and other eastern independents, winning 37 of 40 contests. Included in this impressive total are five straight Northern Division MAC titles (1965-69); two Lambert Bowls, symbolic of ECAC Division III supremacy (1966, 1968); three straight undefeated seasons (1966, 1967, 1968); and a 32-game winning streak, the third longest in the history of NCAA College Division.

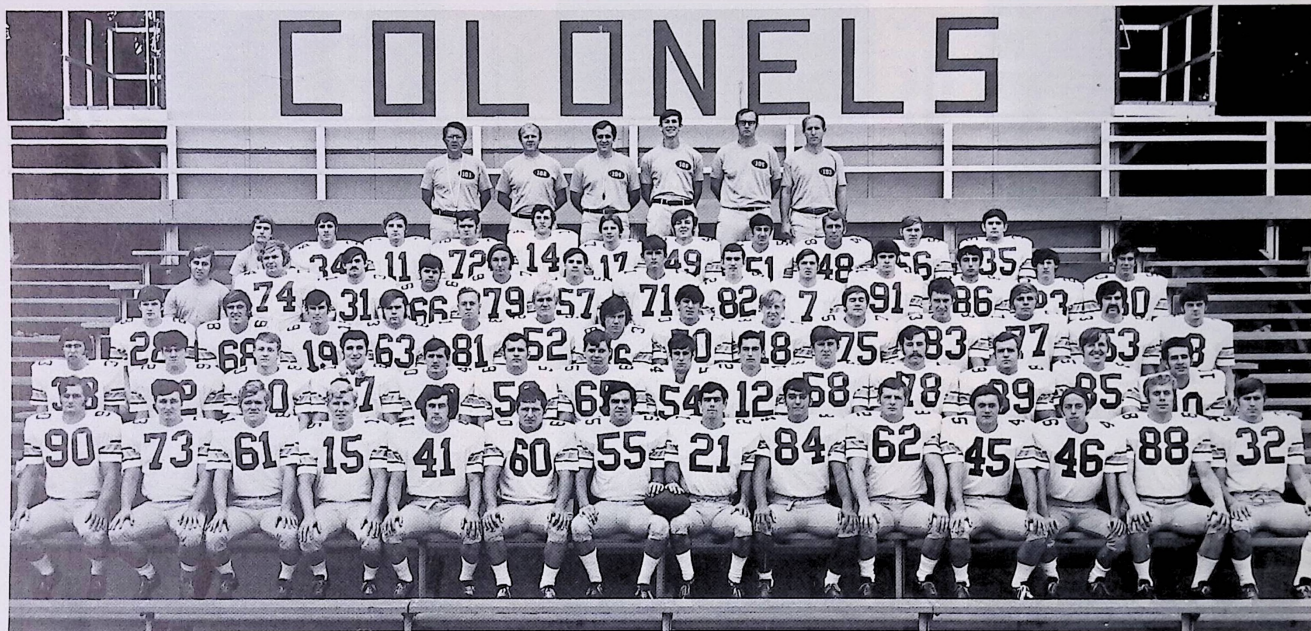

Not to be outdone on other fields of sport, Schmidt coached the Wilkes baseball team from 1962-69, and in 1970 assumed the duties as the golf mentor. His 1968 and 1969 baseball teams combined for a 22-5 record, which included an MAC championship in 1968. Although loaded with underclassmen the past two years, Coach Schmidt guided the Colonel golfers to an 8-3 record in 1970 and went a step higher in 1971 by copping MAC Golf laurels.

A 1950 graduate of Wilkes-Barre Coughlin High School, "Rollie" took part in football, wrestling, and track. He attended Bloomsburg State College for two years before serving a two-year stint in the Army. Returning to Bloomsburg upon the completion of his military obligation, the Colonel head participated in football and track for the Huskies.

His coaching career began at Clarks Summit High School where he served as assistant football, track, and head wrestling coach for three years. Schmidt put in another three-year tour with Kingston High School as an assistant before moving on to Wilkes in 1962.

"Rollie" is married to the former Margaret Domkowski.

FOOTBALL POTPOURI

... jottings from the 5TH DOWN (official publication of the Football Writers of America)

DANGER — AP story says no team sport anywhere in the world has an incidence of injury more frequent than American football . . . But—

"When comparing deaths on the gridiron with those in other sports," said Dr. Charles M. Henderson, "football seems almost sedentary."

The hazards of ordinary driving in an automobile, Dr. Henderson told the National Athletic Trainers Association, are nine times greater for young men in the 15-22 age group than participation in football. Other findings cited by Dr. Henderson: A 1964 study showed a ratio of 3.9 deaths for each 100,000 participants in football, 16.7 deaths per 100,000 in power-boat racing, 120 per 100,000 for auto racing, 133.3 for horse racing and 278.6 for motorcycling.

But the long-ago effort of James Haxall of Princeton overshadows them all. The record book credits him with a 65-yard field goal against Yale on November 30, 1882.

In the trophy case at Wittenberg there's a picture of the 1970 squad and a caption reading "Won 9, Lost 0." Officially, however, the record stands as 0-9, all games being forfeited because a player had neglected to register before the opening game. Said Bill Edwards, athletic director, at the Wittenberg spring banquet: "Games are won on the field. We won nine and lost none, so we're 9-0."

FIELD GOALS — An ABC release points out that the number of field goals by major college teams more than tripled, from 224 in 1960 to 754 in 1970. Records don't last long. In 1967 Washington's Don Martin booted one from 56 yards out but Dennis Leuthauser knocked it off the books with a 57 yarder in 1968. Mississippi's Cloyce Hinton banged one home from 59 yards away in 1969 and Bill McClard of Arkansas drilled one from 60 yards in 1970.

The modern record however, belongs to Bill McShear of Cortland, N.Y. State, who kicked a 61-yard field goal against Hobart in 1966.

BALTIMORE COLTS middle linebacker, Mike Curtis, has his own ideas on playing defense.

"I want to hurt people when I hit them, but I don't want to put them out of the game. It's no fun to do that."

"When I was a kid, I not only liked to ride bicycles, I liked to ride bicycles into things — like walls." Curtis sometimes is referred to as "the animal," to which Mike replies:

"I'm aggressive, very aggressive. But I'm no animal."

1971 Gold Machine

★ A TALE OF TWO COMEBACKS ★

By LOWELL CADE, Huntington Advertiser Sports Editor

Scorched by intense heat and soaked with high-octane airplane fuel, a small patch of ground on a West Virginia hillside is reluctant to grow vegetation. The wounds of tragedy do not heal easily.

And so it is with the football programs at Marshall University and Wichita State University.

Separated by almost 1,000 miles, and never rivals in athletics—although the WSU Wheat Shockers once won a basketball game, 36-33, from the Thundering Herd—Marshall and Wichita State became sister widows in mourning last fall.

On October 2, 1970, the sports world was stunned by the tragic news that an airplane carrying members of the Wichita State football team, coaches, athletic staff members and boosters, had crashed in rough Rocky Mountain country near a little Colorado mining town named Silver Plume, killing 31 of the 42 persons on board.

Among the dead were 15 starters, Coach Ben Wilson and A. C. (Bert) Katzenmeyer, director of athletics. The sports world and the nation mourned, but the depths of its grief would be far more reaching.

Similar Tragedy

On November 14, 43 days later, on a dark, rain-swept hillside in southwestern West Virginia, a similar air crash occurred, an even more tragic one, for it claimed 75 lives. Marshall University's varsity football program was all but decimated.

The Wichita team was on its way to Logan, Utah, for a game with Utah State, when one of the two team aircraft suddenly lost altitude, crashed in timber and burned. The second plane carrying 23 players and other staff members landed safely at Logan.

Wichita officials canceled the Utah State game, and the following Southern Illinois game. But, on October 24, at Little Rock, Arkansas, the now-famous "Second Season" began. Bob Seaman, offensive coordinator, was elevated to the head coaching position. Wichita combined its freshman players with surviving varsity members after the young men voted in favor of playing the remaining six games. The Shockers finished with an 0-8 season.

The Marshall tragedy occurred when the Thundering Herd was returning from a game with East Carolina University. The flight was about a mile-and-one-half from touchdown, when the jetliner clipped some treetops on a ridge and plunged out of control to its fiery end.

Marshall lost 35 football players, head coach Rick Tolley, four assistants, Director of Athletics Charles Kautz, head trainer Jim Schorer, Sports Information Director Gene Morehouse, other athletic department staff members and 24 of its boosters.

The defeat at East Carolina was the Herd's sixth in nine games. The season finale, which was to have been played against arch rival Ohio University November 24, at Athens, Ohio, was canceled.

Almost immediately following the crash of the Wichita State plane, a special memorial fund was established, and plans were set in motion for a benefit television program from the Wichita campus—the "Night of Stars." But, before the nationally telecast program became a reality November 28, the Marshall team was struck down November 14. Dr. Clark Ahlburg, president of Wichita State, immediately extended to Marshall an invitation to share the proceeds from the benefit.

With Monty Hall serving as master of ceremonies, and a live cast including Bill Cosby, Kate Smith, Mac Davis, Minnie Pearl, Phil Ford, Mimi Hines, Lou Rawls, the Humble Pie rock group, Leif Erickson, Marilyn Maye and George Gobel, the Wichita Fund received $175,000 in gate receipts from the capacity turnout. Another $123,000 was received from viewer contributions, of which Marshall was presented a $45,000 share.

Fund Totals

At last count, the Wichita Fund exceeded $604,000. Including the Marshall share from the "Night of Stars," the Marshall Memorial Fund has surpassed $300,000.

Human needs, not the rebuilding of two football programs, will benefit from the funds, according to H. R. (Dick) Reidenbaugh, vice-president of Wichita State, and John Callebs, director of development at Marshall.

Outlining the use of the Wichita Fund, Reidenbaugh said his institution was able to pay "the tremendous expenses involved in transporting survivors of the Wichita victims to and from the crash site, the transporting of bodies and the funeral arrangements."

Reidenbaugh also said separate annuities have been arranged for children orphaned by the crash, through age 18, for an additional $8,000 each when they reach 18. It is hoped each youngster will use the money for a college education, but there are no restrictions.

Another portion of the Wichita Fund is being used to establish a memorial scholarship in the name of each athlete who died, to be awarded to a graduate of that individual's high school.

Wichita State also had to replace $20,000 worth of equipment, and some contributions were earmarked especially for that purpose.

The Marshall University Foundation Committee on Human Needs has been busy all summer compiling information and making judgements for the use of its funds.

While most of the Marshall Fund monies will be paid out to meet these needs, some contributions were made with specific notations. Some collections will finance construction of a Memorial Monument to be placed on the campus, naming all those who lost their lives.

Human Needs Paramount

But, the human needs are paramount. The Marshall crash orphaned 24 children, survivors of the eight sets of parents who were among the boosters traveling with the team. And, it left 35 children with but one parent, survivors of other victims who included married coaches, players, administrative staff and followers.

Prospects on the football field are a lot brighter for the Shockers this fall than for the Thundering Herd.

Jack Lengyel, who left a fine College Division team at the College of Wooster (Ohio) to accept the head coaching challenge at Marshall, conducted spring practice with a squad which included only four regulars from the 1970 season. These young men—Nat Ruffin and Felix Jordan, defensive halfbacks; Pete Naputano, defensive end; and Ed Carter, offensive tackle—were not on the ill-fated Marshall flight. Carter was at home in Wichita Falls, Texas, because of the death of his father. The others were injured.

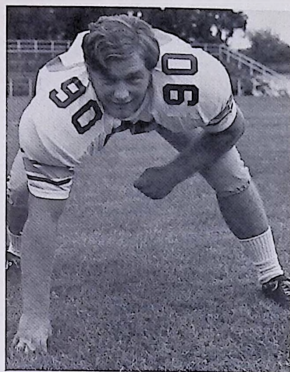

The spring squad, which began with 61 prospects, diminished to 47. Marshall will play freshmen this fall to augment this group of upperclassmen.

The Shockers, under Coach Seaman, profited from the "Second Season" despite the fact the freshman-dominated team gave up a record 62 points to Arkansas its first time out.

Twice the young Shockers almost broke into the win column—at Tulsa, and in the season finale against Missouri Valley Conference champion Louisville. The scores were 21-12 and 34-24, respectively. WSU actually led Louisville 17 to 14 at halftime.

But throughout this 1971 season, these two sophomore-dominated teams will face teams of proven juniors and seniors—the greatest challenges in college football today.

JOHN GOLDEN

His Job: Protecting the President

by DICK HERBERT, President, Football Writers Association of America

John Golden at work

Roman Gabriel and John Golden were co-captains of the North Carolina State freshman football squad in 1958.

Today, Gabriel, as a professional quarterback, plays before thousands and before millions of television watchers.

Golden's name is not known to the sports fans around the nation, but he, too, performs before huge crowds and is seen by millions on the TV screen. But the less he is noticed, the better is his performance. His high school and college football background helps him as much in his work as it does for Gabriel.

John, you see, is in his fifth year as one of the key protectors of the President's safety. His assignment with the Secret Service is the White House and its resident family.

To the former end and javelin and discus thrower, it is the most important job there is; and it is one where his football training is a valuable asset. Physical and mental discipline are needed now just as they were in his days of playing the game.

"I guess it sounds a little corny," Golden comments, "but you learn in football that if you relax or rest for just a second it can mean six points for the other team. In this work, a rest of a second could be fatal.

Disciplines Related

"Being disciplined physically helps in being disciplined mentally. They go hand in hand.

"I know that my football training in high school (Northeast Catholic in Philadelphia) and college has helped me in having the state of mind needed for the alertness and self-discipline my work requires.

"I make a point of staying physically fit—in fact, I weigh about 180 now compared to the 210 I played at in college."

In guarding the President, he says, strength is needed at some times and quickness at others. Oddly enough, it is the friendly crowd that usually causes the most problems. It surges forward in its enthusiasm and sometimes gets out of hand.

The worst experience John had in this respect came during President Nixon's visit to Ireland. "I was driving the Secret Service car that follows directly behind the President's car," Golden recalls, "and some of the well-wishers got up on the hood of my car and I couldn't see anything. In Rumania there was another huge friendly crowd that got too close."

Presidential Family Cooperative

Golden and his fellow workers find the Nixon family very cooperative. "They try not to notice us," he points out, "which is what we want. But they listen when we ask them to do certain things that will help us."

John was the driver of President Nixon's car in Spain when a fellow passenger was President Franco of Spain. "I had heard about Franco all my life," he says. "Naturally, having him in the car with President Nixon and with me at the wheel was something I won't forget."

Pro football stars travel a lot, but Gabriel has not logged the miles of his former teammate.

"I've been around the world six times," says John. "Each year there are new countries to which my work takes me."

His most difficult assignment in the five years was that of guarding a presidential candidate rather than the chief executive.

In the last election campaign, John was assigned to Governor George Wallace of Alabama for six months of whirlwind campaigning. "That was difficult because some of the crowds were angry," he recalls.

Fortunately, there have been no real close calls in the five years of constant pressure. "It is the most important work I will ever attempt," believes Golden. "I thoroughly enjoy what it means."

The travel and schedule are demanding and leave little time for family (wife Jo Anne and John David 6 and Tracy 5). John expects to be transferred to another assignment that will not take him away as much.

He will welcome that, but the five years of the present assignment will be remembered fondly for a lifetime.

Football helped make it possible.

1971 College Football Rules Changes

by ELLWOOD A. GEIGES, Assistant to Commissioner Eastern College Athletic Conference

For the past several years the NCAA Football Rules Committee has concerned itself with the formulation of new rules or the revision of present regulations that would reduce the number of injuries to players, shorten the total elapsed time of the game and clarify what constitutes offensive and defensive forward pass interference.

Here are some of the more important changes that will affect college football for the 1971 season:

1. Sparring has been added to the list of personal fouls and prohibits such an act by a player against all opponents.
2. Of great importance is the restriction of offensive players positioned 5 or more yards outside the legal clipping zone or in motion toward the ball when it is snapped. Such players are prohibited from blocking below the waist toward the ball in the clipping zone extended to the side lines.
3. In the effort to reduce overall elapsed time, the number of free time outs allowed each team during each half has been reduced from four to three. Also, instead of the game clock starting on the snap after a penalty, it will be started when the ball is declared ready for play if the foul caused the clock to stop.

4. After the ball has been declared ready for play and before the snap a player or a substitute may request a time out if he is within 15 yards of the ball.
5. When a scrimmage kick strikes the ground in-bounds in the receiving team's end zone untouched by the receiving team beyond the neutral zone, it is a touchback.
6. When a backward pass is caught or a fumble recovered simultaneously by opposing players, the ball is declared dead and belongs to the team last in possession. This is similar to forward pass regulations.
7. Fouls by the defensive team behind the offensive team's neutral zone before a change of possession, shall be penalized from the spot where the ball was put in play. This change makes the enforcement of penalties more equitable.

In addition, other alterations and changes prohibit decorations on the uprights and crossbar of the goal posts and defines the completion of a catch and recovery of a backward pass and fumble.
