Wilkes University Fieldhouse to be Named for Munsons on October 22

WILKES-BARRE -- Wilkes University will pay tribute to J. Donald Munson on Saturday afternoon (10/22) as the recently renovated fieldhouse is named in his honor and in memory of his late wife, Marion.

The University will host a reception and dedication ceremony before the Wilkes vs. Widener football game at Ralston Field. Student-athletes will join University trustees, faculty and staff in thanking Mr. Munson for his generosity. A bronze plaque with a cast likeness of the fieldhouse will be unveiled. (Reception will begin at 11:30 a.m. in the President's Box followed by the dedication program in the lobby at 12:00 noon.)

"Our student-athletes will benefit from Mr. Munson's generosity for decades to come," said Wilkes University President Christopher N. Breiseth. "The J. Donald and Marion E. Munson Fieldhouse will serve as a reminder of the importance of education, perseverance and good will to all who pass through its halls."

A resident of Edwardsville, Munson recently made a gift of $250,000 to the University in memory of his wife Marion who passed away in February. "Our romance began when she brought a pie to the office," he said. The Munsons were married in 1942 after working together and dating for five years. The couple owned Climate Equipment, an air conditioning and plumbing equipment store operating in Wilkes-Barre and Kingston from 1933 until 1988.

Mrs. Munson was a lyric soprano and sang with area choral groups. She was a soloist at the First United Methodist Church of Wilkes-Barre and the Church of Christ Uniting, Kingston.

Born in Hazleton, Mrs. Munson was the daughter of the late Edward and Martha Braun Zboray. A 1938 graduate of Hanover High School, she also studied music with Sarah Stanford.

Mrs. Munson was a member of the Women of Wilkes-Barre Kiwanis and Irem Temple Auxiliary. She also served as a board member of the YWCA.

Mr. Munson has followed Wilkes University's progress through the years. "I know that Marion would be glad that we're supporting the school and especially the students," Munson said. He was an acquaintance of Wilkes University's first president, Dr. Eugene S. Farley, through local civic clubs.

Munson's connection to the Fieldhouse mirrors his lifelong interest in renovating old buildings for new uses. When the 1972 flood destroyed his home and business in Kingston, Munson purchased some land in Edwardsville. Two buildings, formerly used as engine houses to pull coal from the mines, were located on the land. "The architects told me to dynamite them," he recalls. But he didn't listen, and instead renovated one of the buildings as a large warehouse and office and the other as a home.

In the early 60's, the University acquired a shifting shack and drill house which were used in mining operations. These buildings were of similar design and purpose as Munson's home. Wilkes converted these structures into locker rooms and showers for the athletic teams using Ralston Field, dedicating the complex in 1965.

In the most recent renovations, the two structures, which formerly stood apart, were gutted and joined. The $1,000,000 improvement project, which included a new weight and training rooms, offices, a conference room, and several new locker rooms, was completed in time for the football, field hockey, baseball and women's tennis teams' championship seasons last year. In addition to the football, field hockey, baseball, and tennis teams, the softball and men's and women's soccer teams use these facilities.

A full third of Wilkes University's 1,800 full-time undergraduate students participate in one or more of the school's 13 formal athletic programs.

Dear Randy,

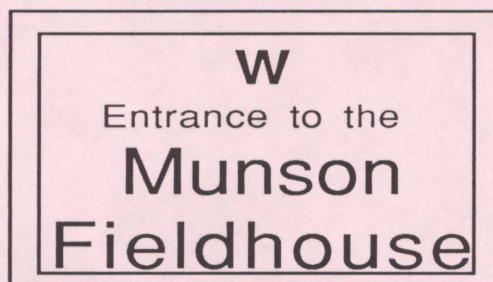

Thanks for all of your phone calls to help us get our Munson Fieldhouse sign projects off the ground. I have enclosed a photograph from an architect's rendering, a photo of the finished building, and a rough comp of the entire plaque for your artist. I would like to preserve the angle shown in both pictures and my thumbnail sketch. Eliminate the trees and people and show that the building rests upon a hill.

The cost you quoted for the plaque, including the fieldhouse image, of $1,295 is acceptable. Please let me know if you will incur any extra costs before you proceed. We will also expect some form of a proof sheet before you finish the project.

On to the building letters. I received your font chart yesterday. Times Roman is just fine with me. I will leave it on Tom's desk for his approval and will check with him when I return to the office Tuesday, August 30. If you need to get moving before then, he will be back Monday.

We have decided to go with the 10 inch letters for the front of the building. As I mentioned to you earlier, the correct spelling is "Munson Fieldhouse". Your estimate of $650 is acceptable. Let us know if there are any additional charges.

Here's a rough of the layout for the two entrance signs on the hurricane fences:

Use the logo, with the words "Wilkes University" at the top. Please use our PMS colors, if possible (540U-blue and 115U-gold). We would like to see a proof or comp of the layout. Let me know what the estimates are for these signs as soon as possible.

Call me with any questions. You can fax the proofs to me at (717) 824-2934. I'll talk to you soon.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Geyer

Dear Randy,

Thanks for making the trip to Wilkes-Barre last week to meet with us. We're excited about the new plaques and signs for the Munson Field House.

I have enclosed a copy of the architect's rendering for the placement of the letters on the outside of the building. Bob Saffian, our staff architect, feels that for the letters we should go with one or the other blue colors used on the roof and windows. He is still working on obtaining a swatch for you to match. There is also some discussion over whether we will use "fieldhouse" or "field house". We will let you know the final verdict.

You should also be aware that we have discussed using a photograph of the field house on the bronze dedication plaque for the lobby. We were thinking that it would "jazz up" the plaque and prevent it from being overshadowed by the McBride Wing plaque. I have also enclosed a rough copy of the layout. Approval from Mr. Munson is still pending.

We are hoping to rescheduling the dedication for October 22, 1994. I will confirm the date as soon as possible.

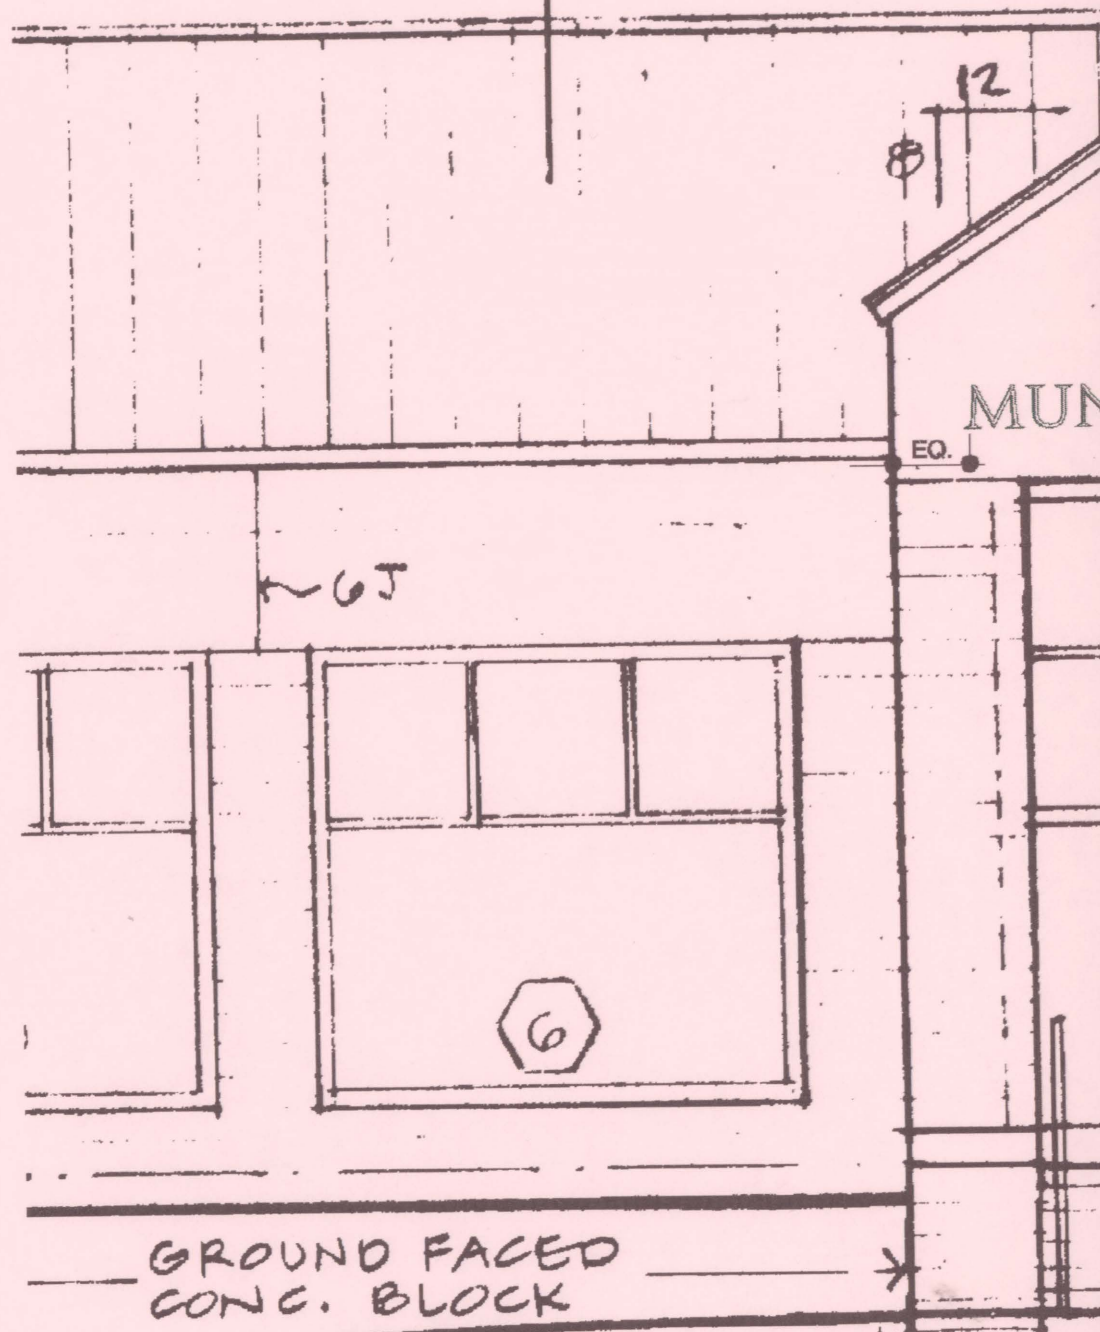

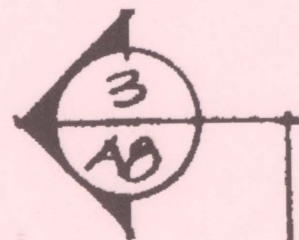

I hope that this information will be useful for you as you crunch some numbers and prepare us for the cost. Please contact me at (717) 831-4772 if you have any questions. Thanks again for your help. We're looking forward to your next visit.

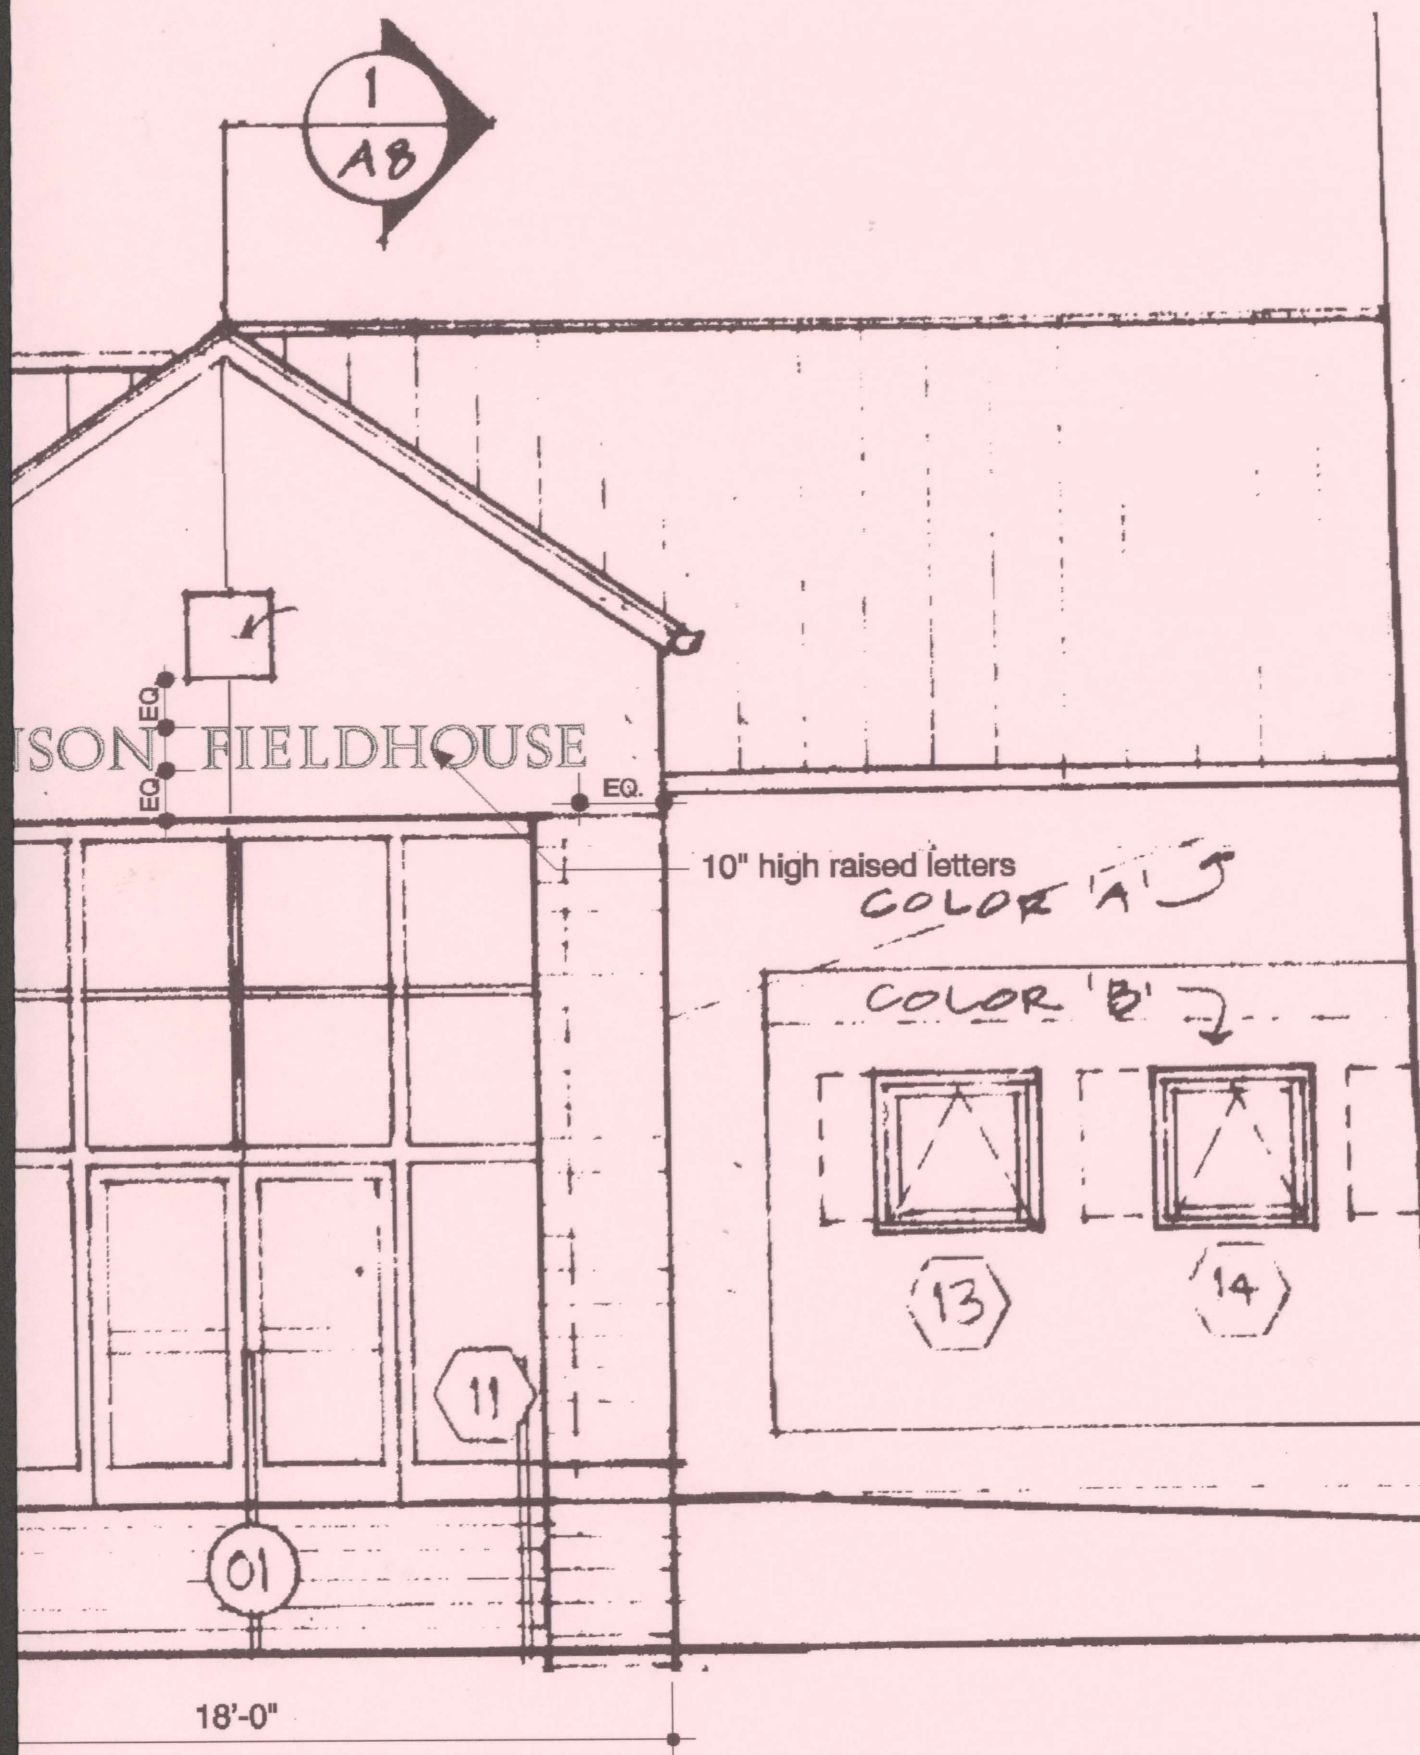

Sincerely,

MEMORANDUM

To: Tom Hadzor

From: Stephanie Geyer

Date: August 24, 1994

Subject: Munson Fieldhouse Signs and Letters and the final verdict on the correct spelling of f-i-e-l-d-h-o-u-s-e

Welcome back! I hope your vacation went well.

I've attached a copy of the letter I sent to Randy today (8/24) and a font chart. See Times Roman. This is the font we want to use in 10 inch letters on the Munson Fieldhouse. I think that they're fine. Please call Randy (215) 374-1384 to let him know if you agree. The 10 inch letters will give us 2 feet of clearance on either side of the letters to the edge of the facade.

F-i-e-l-d-h-o-u-s-e is officially and forever to be known as "fieldhouse" at Wilkes University (with a small exception in the Locator). After consulting several dictionaries, Ph.D.'s and style books, we have determined that it can be used as either one word or two.

I spoke with Mr. Munson yesterday and read him the copy from the attached rough draft for the plaque. He's fine with everything. I asked him to start his invitation list for the dedication. In a few weeks, I'll have a rough draft of the story which I will review with him.

If we are going to give him any kind of memento at the dedication, we should probably be thinking about it and ordering very soon. Let me know what direction you want to go.

Lewis and I will be in Chicago from Friday through Monday. I'll be back in the saddle here at the Flying W Ranch on Tuesday, August 30.

New field houses give Wilkes strong selling point

By STEVE SEMBRAT
Times Leader Sports Writer

Several days ago, Joe DeMelfi saw a familiar face on the Wilkes University campus. The head football coach of the Colonels, who is also an assistant dean of admissions at the school, greeted a gentleman whose daughter was interested in attending Wilkes.

DeMelfi had met the man a couple of years earlier when his son, a soccer player, was looking at colleges. During their conversation, the gentleman asked DeMelfi about "those old field houses" over at Ralston Field. DeMelfi sported a wide grin and asked "got a few minutes?"

DeMelfi took the man across the river from the main campus in Wilkes-Barre to Ralston Field in Edwardsville. There, they gazed at "those old field houses" on the hill overlooking the playing fields which are currently undergoing over $1 million in renovations.

"He couldn't believe it," DeMelfi said with a chuckle. "He asked, 'Where did those old buildings go?' I told him they're still there, we're just building around them."

DeMelfi explained that the man's son picked Lycoming over Wilkes, but not because of the field houses. At the same time, though, the old dilapidated brick buildings weren't the kind of facilities which would make anybody give Wilkes a second thought.

School officials are hoping the renovated facility, due to be completed in mid-November, will turn quite a few more heads.

"Being as competitive as recruiting is, you like to have an edge," DeMelfi said. "This facility is one of the finest in the Middle Atlantic Conference.

"The commitment is there. There are a lot of things going into the athletics programs at Wilkes, and not just in football."

The new athletic facility will serve all the sports programs at Wilkes as well as the entire student population.

Tom Hadzor, vice-president for development at Wilkes, said the project should cost about $1.2 million. Hadzor has already headed one $1 million fund-raising campaign to finance the project and is currently involved with a second one to meet the final cost.

"What we've done is take the two buildings that were here, gutted them, rebuilt them and built a link between them," Hadzor said. "The Historical Society should be POINTING TOWARD THE FUTURE — Wilkes University's fieldhouse facilities at Ralston Field are undergoing a complete renovation, with work scheduled to be completed in mid-November. happy that we didn't nuke the existing facilities."

There probably were a lot of coaches and athletes who would have loved to nuke the old field houses. Those had enough mold in them to make one think: A) the mold was used as mortar to hold the brick walls together; or B) these were actually labs for producing penicillin.

The contractors probably felt the same way. The roofs on the two buildings didn't slope the same way and gutting them and then making them appear as one was an architectural headache.

Yet it was done, and designed in a way to make the new field house look like the Marts Center, which was built a few years ago.

"One of the ideas was to make this look like it belonged to the Marts Center," Hadzor said.

Some of the facilities at the new field house are currently in use. The Wilkes football team moved into its locker room and there is another ready for use by visiting teams. In addition, there is a trainer's room which should be ready for use today.

When the building is finished, there will other locker rooms ready for the other sports teams which play at Ralston Field. In addition, there will be a weight room which is just about completed and will complement the facilities which currently exist in the basement of the Marts Center.

"We have $10,000 of equipment on order," said John Pesta, director of campus services at Wilkes. "Most of it is free weights. It will be open to anyone on campus once it is open."

In addition, there will be a main balcony with display cases for trophies. And there will be one room which could be best described as a "sky box."

Actually, this "sky box" is a conference room which will have a picture window overlooking the field.

As required by law, there are also entrances and bathrooms accessible to the handicapped.

Overall, the new facility will be 16,000 square feet. There will be some sprucing up outside, too, with landscaping work currently under way.

There are two other projects worth note taking place at Ralston Field. Eventually, permanent restrooms behind the home stands will replace the portable toilets.

Also, in the newly-paved parking lot, a mobile home has been placed at the end of the lot nearest the Susquehanna River. That mobile home will be used as a laboratory by the Wilkes Earth & Environmental Science Department to study the wetlands which border Ralston Field.

If construction continues according to the schedule, the finished product will be unveiled at a Wilkes home football game either Nov. 7 or Nov. 14.

"We're looking at doing something at the Juniata or Lycoming game," DeMelfi said. "Of course, construction schedules will have a lot to do with that. One of my real concerns is if it would be ready for recruiting, which we do in January, and it will."

Wilkes University will host a ceremony and reception Saturday, October 22 to dedicate the J. Donald Munson and Marion E. Munson Fieldhouse. The reception will begin at 11:30 a.m. in the President's Box with the program to follow at noon in the lobby. The Wilkes University Colonels Football team will meet Widener University at 1 p.m. on Ralston Field.

A resident of Edwardsville, Mr. Munson recently made a gift of $200,000 in memory of his late wife Marion. The couple owned Climate Equipment, an air conditioning and plumbing equipment store from 1933 until 1988. Mrs. Munson was a lyric soprano and sang with area choral groups and as a soloist at the First United Methodist Church of Wilkes-Barre and the Church of Christ Uniting, Kingston.

An acquaintance of Dr. Farley's through local civic clubs, Mr. Munson has followed Wilkes University's progress through the years. "I know that Marion would be glad to know that we're supporting the school and especially the students," Munson said.

The University recently invested $1,000,000 to renovate and expand the Munson Fieldhouse. The improvements, including new weight and training rooms, offices, a conference room, and several new locker rooms, were completed in time for the football team's championship season last fall. In addition to the football team, the baseball, softball, field hockey, and men's and women's soccer and tennis teams currently use these facilities.

I am pleased to invite you to a reception honoring Mr. J. Donald Munson on Saturday, October 22, at 11:30 a.m. in the President's Box of the J. Donald and Marion E. Munson Fieldhouse. A dedication program will follow at noon in the lobby as we pay tribute to Mr. Munson for his generous gift to the University.

In memory of his late wife Marion, Mr. Munson made a donation of $250,000 to the University. This gift was applied toward the $1,000,000 renovation project.

The improvements, including new weight and training rooms, offices, a conference room, and several new locker rooms, were completed in time for the football team's championship season last fall. In addition to the football team, the baseball, softball, field hockey, and men's and women's soccer and tennis teams use these facilities.

I hope you will be able to join us in honoring Mr. Munson for his vision and foresight as an advocate of Wilkes University and higher education. Please call the Wilkes University Development Office at (717) 831-4300 with your reservation.

WILKES-BARRE -- Wilkes University paid tribute to J. Donald Munson on Saturday afternoon (10/22) with a reception and dedication ceremony in the recently named Munson Fieldhouse. A bronze plaque with a cast likeness of the fieldhouse was unveiled, and the University presented Munson with a framed photograph of the facility bearing his name.

Wilkes President Christopher N. Breiseth echoed the dedication on the plaque, which honors Munson, at the ceremony. "Our student-athletes will benefit from Mr. Munson's generosity for decades to come. The J. Donald and Marion E. Widener coach baffled by Colonels lack of regional ranking

By PHIL GIANFICARO
Citizens' Voice Staff Writer

Bill Cubit is head football coach at Widener University. He is also a Wilkes University lobbyist.

"The thing that baffles me is that Wilkes is not ranked in the region in Division III," Cubit said. "They lost on the road to a Division II team (28-7 to Southern Connecticut State) to start the season, won the rest, but can't crack the top six in the (South) region? Rowan loses to that same Division II team last weekend yet is ranked first in the (East) region? That makes no sense at all."

"Wilkes is the best football team in the MAC over the last two years. They lost only two games — one in the NCAA playoffs and another to a Division II team — but they're not one of the best teams in the region? Something's wrong with that logic."

There is, however, nothing wrong with Cubit's assessment of the MAC showdown between the Commonwealth League-leading Pioneers (5-1 overall, 5-0 MAC, 3-0 Commonwealth) and the Freedom League-leading Colonels (5-1, 4-0, 2-0 Freedom) Saturday at Ralston Field at 1 p.m. He predicts the winner will win the overall MAC championship.

Well, sort of.

"If Wilkes wins, they're the champions," he predicted. "Nobody else is good enough to beat them. I don't think they'll lose to Lycoming, Susquehanna or King's."

"If we win, well, we've got Susquehanna and FDU-Madison (both at home, as well as at Lebanon Valley in the season finale). We'd be in good shape. But I don't think we're good enough for me to say we'll win the rest of them. If Wilkes wins, however, I can't see them not winning the title again."

Just as the Pioneers will be the Colonels' toughest test to date, the Colonels are not likely to play a more potent team this season. Widener has bolted to the top of the Commonwealth League on the strength of balance. The offense, which averages 36.2 points per game, tops the MAC with 453.3 ypg., including a No. 1 ranking in rushing with 261.7 ypg. and No. 4 in passing with 191.7 ypg. They have scored less than 33 points just once this season, in a 15-14 season-opening loss at Kean.

"We're playing OK, but we really haven't played the schedule yet that Wilkes has," said the Pioneers' third-year coach. "Our schedule is bottom heavy and our toughest games are to come, starting with Wilkes. We can't get too excited right now because we started 5-1 last year and finished 6-4."

"I do think we have some team speed on offense which helps us, but we're not big and physical. On defense, we've been able to stop the run. But again, the opposition hasn't tried to run against us so much. We'll find out where we stand this weekend."

The Pioneers showcase a two-headed running game of juniors George Jones (58 for 483 yards, 6 TDs) and Anthony Gosette (52 for 455 yards, 6 TDs) who rank second and third, respectively, in the MAC behind Wilkes freshman Elijah Powell (120 for 588 yards, 3 TDs), and who each average more than eight yards per attempt. The top receivers are 5-foot-6, 145-pound junior Boonta Kheuangthirath (22 for 372 yards, 2 TDs) and 6-foot-3, 175-pound junior Jimmy Burton (12 for 297 yards, 3 TDs).

But the key to the Pioneers' offensive explosion has been junior quarterback Vic Ameye who leads the MAC in passing efficiency on 65 of 103 for 1,150 yards and nine touchdowns, and six interceptions.

"The key has been the consistency of Ameye," Cubit said. "He's making better decisions than last year when we alternated him. From the third game of this year until now, he's done some nice things for us. This is my third year here, but the first time we've settled on one quarterback."

"Jones and Gosette give us a good punch running the ball. Boonta is an exciting kid with speed. He came to America from Laos when he was four or five. He was a big soccer player and didn't play football until high school."

The Pioneers' defense allows an average of 13 ppg. and is ranked No. 3 in the MAC at 290.2 ypg. The unit is an opportunistic one which has intercepted 18 passes and recovered seven fumbles in six games. The defensive leader is 6-foot-4, 240-pound junior right end O.J. McElroy, a second-team all-America last season who has 7½ sacks and a fumble recovery this year. Junior Blaise Coleman, a 6-foot-3, 210-pound inside linebacker, leads Widener with 70 tackles, while the secondary is led by 5-foot-8, 175-pound sophomore cornerback Antonio Moore, who leads the MAC with seven interceptions.

"We need to play mistake-free football for us to win," Cubit said.

"We also need to find a way to stop their offense."

College Basketball

Chaney expects Owls to struggle

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — For Temple basketball, life after Eddie Jones and Aaron McKie is about to begin. Owls coach John Chaney candidly admits it won't be easy.

"This year we might take some lumps," Chaney said Wednesday, introducing a Temple team that may start as many as three freshmen during Media Day.

"With the schedule we have it would certainly be foolish on my part to suggest we're going to beat up on people. I don't see anybody on this club who can give us 40 points and 18 rebounds, the way Eddie and Aaron did. Not any two people. Those two kids were something special."

Jones has gone on to play for the Los Angeles Lakers and McKie for the Portland Trail Blazers.

But Chaney, 62, does have a couple of solid pieces remaining from last year's 23-8 club that fell in the second round of the NCAA tournament to Indiana.

Junior guard Rick Brunson, who averaged 12.4 points and 4.1 assists, and junior forward Derrick Battie, (5.9 ppg, 5 rebounds) are back.

"This year we need five players scoring," Brunson said. "Our freshman have to step up."

"Everyone's looking for Temple to be down because we lost two All-Americans. I don't look at it that way I think we're going to have a great year."

Brunson is optimistic about three freshmen: point guard Johnny Miller, forward Lynard Stewart and forward Huey Futch.

"I honestly believe we'll start 2-3 freshmen," said Chaney. "We're playing some tough teams, so those kids have to grow up. I don't think we'll be able to live up to what we've done in the past."

"If we do it'll be my surprise and it'll be because we worked our tails off."

Temple will play its first game Nov. 27 against USC at the Memphis Pyramid, then will head to a preseason tournament in Charlotte, N.C.

Raiders

the team.

"It's protecting the quarterback's blind side, it's a heavy responsibility. I'm up to the challenge."

The Raiders, considered Super Bowl contenders when the season started, bring a 2-4 record into Sunday's game, their first at home in four weeks and only their third of the season. The Falcons are 4-3.

"There's a sense of urgency now," Shell said. "The ability's there. Defensively, we're beginning to make those plays. Now, we have to make those things happen on the special teams and on the offensive side of the ball."

Wilkes to dedicate Munson Fieldhouse on Saturday

Wilkes University will pay tribute to J. Donald Munson on Saturday, Oct. 22 as the recently renovated fieldhouse is named in his honor and memory of his late wife, Marion (inset).

The school will host a reception and dedication ceremony before the Wilkes-Widener football game at Ralston Field. Student-athletes will join University trustees, faculty and staff in thanking Munson for his generosity.

A bronze plaque with a cast likeness of the fieldhouse will be unveiled.

The reception starts at 11:30 a.m. in the President's Box, followed by the dedication program in the lobby at noon.

"Our student-athletes will benefit from Mr. Munson's generosity for decades to come," said

Wilkes University president, Dr. Christopher N. Breiseth.

A resident of Edwardsville, Munson recently made a gift of $250,000 to the school in memory of his wife, Marion, who died in February.

Mrs. Munson was a soloist at the First United Methodist Church of Wilkes-Barre and the Church of Christ United, Kingstown.

In the early 1960s, the University acquired a shifting shack and drill house, which were used in mining operations. These buildings were of similar design and purpose, like the Munson home.

Wilkes converted the structures into locker rooms and showers for the athletic teams using Ralston Field, dedicating the complex in 1965.

RESOLUTION

Whereas, Wilkes University renovated its field facilities at Ralston Field to provide for a better experience for its student-athletes, and

Whereas, the Board of Trustees committed Wilkes to this project and provided some of the funding in hopes of attracting other leadership gifts, and

Whereas, the reconstructed building is the pride of the University and a show place for Wilkes and the Middle Atlantic Conference, now therefore

Be it resolved that the Trustees name the Fieldhouse in recognition of a major gift by J. Donald Munson in loving memory of his wife Marion E. Munson, and that appropriate recognition be given the Munsons for the significant contribution to the student experience at Wilkes University.

Wilkes University Fieldhouse to be Named for Munsons on October 22

WILKES-BARRE -- Wilkes University will pay tribute to J. Donald Munson on Saturday afternoon (10/22) as the recently renovated fieldhouse is named in his honor and in memory of his late wife, Marion.

The University will host a reception and dedication ceremony before the Wilkes vs. Widener football game at Ralston Field. Student-athletes will join University trustees, faculty and staff in thanking Mr. Munson for his generosity. A bronze plaque with a cast likeness of the fieldhouse will be unveiled. (Reception will begin at 11:30 a.m. in the President's Box followed by the dedication program in the lobby at 12:00 noon.)

"Our student-athletes will benefit from Mr. Munson's generosity for decades to come," said Wilkes University President Christopher N. Breiseth. "The J. Donald and Marion E. Munson Fieldhouse will serve as a reminder of the importance of education, perseverance and good will to all who pass through its halls."

A resident of Edwardsville, Munson recently made a gift of $250,000 to the University in memory of his wife Marion who passed away in February. "Our romance began when she brought a pie to the office," he said. The Munsons were married in 1942 after working together and dating for five years. The couple owned Climate Equipment, an air conditioning and plumbing equipment store operating in Wilkes-Barre and Kingston from 1933 until 1988.

Mrs. Munson was a lyric soprano and sang with area choral groups. She was a soloist at the First United Methodist Church of Wilkes-Barre and the Church of Christ Uniting, Kingston.

Born in Hazleton, Mrs. Munson was the daughter of the late Edward and Martha Braun Zboray. A 1938 graduate of Hanover High School, she also studied music with Sarah Stanford.

Mrs. Munson was a member of the Women of Wilkes-Barre Kiwanis and Irem Temple Auxiliary. She also served as a board member of the YWCA.

Mr. Munson has followed Wilkes University's progress through the years. "I know that Marion would be glad that we're supporting the school and especially the students," Munson said. He was an acquaintance of Wilkes University's first president, Dr. Eugene S. Farley, through local civic clubs.

Munson's connection to the Fieldhouse mirrors his lifelong interest in renovating old buildings for new uses. When the 1972 flood destroyed his home and business in Kingston, Munson purchased some land in Edwardsville. Two buildings, formerly used as engine houses to pull coal from the mines, were located on the land. "The architects told me to dynamite them," he recalls. But he didn't listen, and instead renovated one of the buildings as a large warehouse and office and the other as a home.

In the early 60's, the University acquired a shifting shack and drill house which were used in mining operations. These buildings were of similar design and purpose as Munson's home. Wilkes converted these structures into locker rooms and showers for the athletic teams using Ralston Field, dedicating the complex in 1965.

In the most recent renovations, the two structures, which formerly stood apart, were gutted and joined. The $1,000,000 improvement project, which included a new weight and training rooms, offices, a conference room, and several new locker rooms, was completed in time for the football, field hockey, baseball and women's tennis teams' championship seasons last year. In addition to the football, field hockey, baseball, and tennis teams, the softball and men's and women's soccer teams use these facilities.

A full third of Wilkes University's 1,800 full-time undergraduate students participate in one or more of the school's 13 formal athletic programs.

PA ANNOUNCEMENT
WILKES VS. WIDENER GAME

As you enjoy the game today at Ralston Field, take a moment to look at the Munson Fieldhouse on the hill. At a dedication ceremony held earlier this afternoon, Wilkes University officially named the fieldhouse in honor of Mr. J. Donald Munson and in memory of his late wife, Marion.

A resident of Edwardsville, Munson recently made a gift of a quarter of a million dollars to the University. Our student-athletes will benefit from this gift for decades to come. The J. Donald and Marion E. Munson Fieldhouse serves as a reminder of the importance of education, perseverance and good will to all who pass through its halls.

Wilkes University's trustees, students, faculty, staff and administration thank you, Mr. Munson.

Tom, 12:30 is great! How about

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

On behalf of the student's, faculty, staff, and administration of Wilkes University, I welcome you to another season of Wilkes football.

After last year's MAC championship season there is much optimism about the 1994 season at Wilkes.

There is also much excitement elsewhere on campus that will surely make this a year to remember. Not only is Wilkes beginning its Doctor of Pharmacy program this fall, but the most significant building/renovation effort in more than two decades is underway.

We express our gratitude to you in the community for your continued support and I invite you to join me in cheering the Colonels on during another exciting football campaign.

Sincerely,

Chrisopher N. Breiseth

WILKES COACHING STAFF

HEAD COACH JOE DeMELFI

In just four years as head coach, Joe DeMelfi has taken the Wilkes football program from a conference doormat to a contender for the national championship.

With a 10-1 record, an appearance in the NCAA Division III championships, and the Middle Atlantic Conference title in 1993, DeMelfi quickly won acclaim for his abilities as a coach. In 1993 DeMelfi was honored as the MAC Freedom League Coach of the Year, the Kodak AFCA Division II Region 2 Coach of the Year, and the crowning achievement, the Josten's Division III National Coach of the Year.

DeMelfi, the sixth coach in Wilkes history, came to Wilkes after spending 15 years as an assistant coach at Bloomsburg (Pa) University. In those 15 seasons DeMelfi was involved with both the offense and the defense, most recently working with the tight ends and receivers. In addition to his football duties DeMelfi was also an assistant admissions director at Bloomsburg, heavily involved with the recruitment of students at Bloomsburg.

A native of Berwick, Pa., DeMelfi is a graduate of Berwick High School where he played football for the Bulldogs. In his senior year he was named MVP of the annual Big 33 Game. DeMelfi continued his education at Delta State University in Cleveland, Mississippi, graduating in 1966 with a B.S. in education. In 1973 DeMelfi received his Masters degree in education from Delta State.

DeMelfi, his wife Ann and daughter Christine reside in Berwick.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Frank Sheptock

Assistant head coach and defensive coordinator for the Colonels, Sheptock is a graduate of Bloomsburg University with a degree in Business Administration/Accounting. Sheptock played under DeMelfi while a member of the Huskies and three times was named a first team All-American linebacker, and All-East linebacker and four times was a PSAC first team linebacker. Frank and his wife Lisa, and daughter Nicole reside in Elysburg.

Bob Barbieri

A long time head coach at Pittston Area High School, Barbieri begins his third year as an assistant coach for the Colonels. While a high school coach Barbieri compiled a record of 157-100-4 in 25 years. A health education teacher at Pittston Area, Barbieri, who will coach the offensive line, resides in Duryea with his wife Henrietta.

Butch Jones

Starting his third year at Wilkes, Jones will coach the quarterbacks and receivers for coach DeMelfi and is the team's offensive coordinator. A graduate of Ferris (Mich.) State, Jones was previously a graduate assistant at Rutgers University and a general assistant with the NFL's Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Jones and his wife Barbara reside in Forty-Fort.

Pat Patte

In his third year on the Wilkes staff, Patte is a former MAC All-Star at Susquehanna University where he was a three year starter at center. Patte, who graduated with a degree in Business Administration, works with the offensive and defensive lines for the Colonels. Pat is single and resides in Wilkes-Barre.

Steve Duda

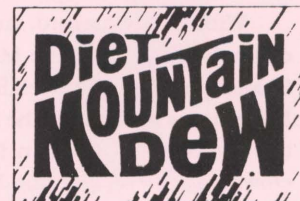

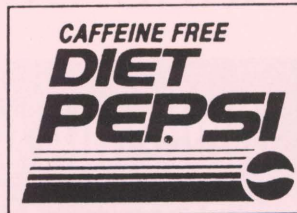

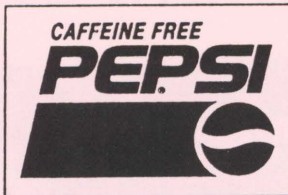

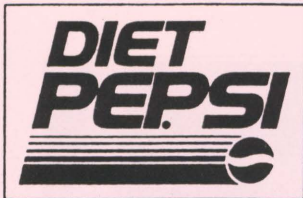

In his second year at Wilkes Duda is coaching the defensive backs for the Colonels. A former assistant at Wyoming Valley West for 10 years Duda was also the defensive coordinator for the Spartans. A former ECAC All-Star as a player at Villanova, Duda is currently attending Wilkes University. He is single and reside in Plymouth.

Matt DiBernardo

In his first year as a member of the Wilkes staff, DiBernardo comes to the Colonels from Tampa Catholic High School in Florida. Previously DiBernardo had coached at C.W. Post College and Chamberlin High School in Tampa, Florida. DiBernardo has also been a coaching assistant with several teams in the Arena Football League and with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers of the NFL. A graduate of the University of Tampa with a degree in Economics, DiBernardo, his wife Melissa, and daughter Jessica reside in Forty-Fort.

Volunteer Assistants

Several former players and non-players have volunteered their services to the Wilkes 1994 football team. Those individuals are John Quinn, Mike McCree, Chris Carr, Jack Swearhart, Jerome Hunsinger, Jason Feese, Larry Trakes, Bryan Adams, Lance Evina, and David Reese.

ABOUT TODAY'S GAME

Wilkes Colonels

Wilkes is coming off a 21-15 road win over FDU-Madison. The Wilkes defense was outstanding in limiting the highpowered Jersey Devils to just two scores. LB Lou Atkinson had the big hit in the game for the Colonels, forcing a fumble at the FDU one yard line early in the fourth period. On the next play Wilkes TB Elijah Powell punched it in giving the Colonels the lead for good.

Atkinson led Wilkes with 11 tackles while LB Bob Delbo had nine, including an interception. TB Bill Bachman led Wilkes with 77 yards rushing while QB Boo Perry threw for 137.

Last year Wilkes beat Widener 36-15 in Chester.

MAC PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

Offense--Bryan Snyder-Albright College--In his first collegiate start, Snyder set an Albright single game record for completions (35), attempts (55), and yards (390). In addition, he tied Albright's single game record with 58 offensive plays and broke Albright's record for total offense with 399 yards in a 46-20 loss to Albright.

Defense--Lou Atkinson-Wilkes University--Atkinson finished with 11 tackles, two solo, in leading Wilkes to a 21-15 win over FDU-Madison and first place in the MAC Freedom League. In addition, one of his tackles was for a seven yard loss which caused the FDU QB to fumble at the FDU one yard line with 10:00 left in a 7-7 game. Wilkes recovered and scored on the next play to take the lead for good.

A Professional Information Management Company

Player of the Game Award

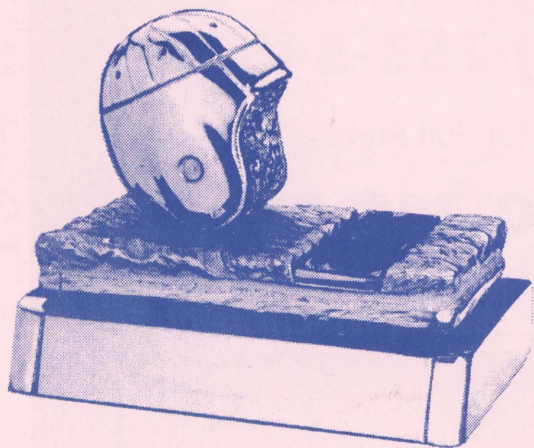

In support of Wilkes University Academic and athletic programs, Diversified Records Services, Incorporated makes a contribution of $1,000 in the name of the Outstanding Player of each game. (Listen for the announcement during the fourth quarter of today's game.) This gift supports the University's General Scholarship fund, which helps needy and deserving students achieve a Wilkes education. For information on contributing to Wilkes scholarship programs, call 717-831-5000.

Diversified Records Services, Inc. is an information management company specializing in the storage and management of document imaging, paper records, microfilm, computer tapes and other magnetic media. For information on Diversified's full range of information management services call 1-800-458-4710.

Clifford K. Melberger, a trustee of Wilkes University, is the chief executive officer of Diversified Records Services, Inc. His wife, Ruth Boorum Melberger, is an alumna of the Wilkes Class of '62. Their son, Clifford A. Melberger, is a 1991 graduate of the University.

The Melberger Award Division III Player of the Year

The athlete who plays Division III football exemplifies what the great game of college football is all about. He participates without the benefit of a scholarship; works hard on the field for the love of the game; and maintains his priorities off the field by completing his studies. He is, in every sense, a true student-athlete.

The Downtown Wilkes-Barre Touchdown Club recognizes that dedication and determination and is proud to present The Melberger Award to the Outstanding Division III Football player in the nation. Along with the trophy, a contribution is made to the General Scholarship Fund of the recipient's school.

The 1993 Melberger Award was presented to Jim Ballard, quarterback of the 1993 Division III National Champions Mount Union (Ohio) Purple Raiders.

The 1994 Awards Banquet will be held on Saturday December 17, 1994 at the Ramada Hotel, Wilkes-Barre.
