DORIS KEARNS GOODWIN, Ph.D.
AUTHOR, HISTORIAN AND POLITICAL ANALYST

A RECEPTION HONORING
DR. GOODWIN AND JUDGE ROSENN
WILL FOLLOW THE LECTURE — 8:45 P.M.

Please respond by April 18, 1995

DORIS KEARNS GOODWIN, Ph.D.

Dr. Goodwin is a student of American presidents. A Woodrow Wilson Fellow, she received her Ph.D. in government from Harvard University, where she also served as a professor of government for 10 years. During that time, she taught a course on the American presidency.

An author, Dr. Goodwin drew from extensive personal interaction when she wrote Lyndon Johnson and the American Dream. Goodwin had previously worked as assistant to President Johnson during his last year in the White House. She later helped LBJ prepare his memoirs and her works remain among the most highly regarded writings on the former president.

Dr. Goodwin's more recent writing, No Ordinary Time: Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt: The Home Front During World War II, was a The New York Times best seller and has won praise from many critics. The Fitzgeralds and the Kennedys, another one of Dr. Goodwin's best sellers, was made into a six-hour miniseries and aired on the ABC television network in 1990.

In addition, Dr. Goodwin is a regular panelist on "5 to 5," a weekly television public affairs program aired on Boston's ABC affiliate and she is a regular political analyst on the nightly news for the same station. She has appeared on "Nightline," "Today," "Good Morning America" and "CBS Morning News."

A recent member of the Pulitzer Prize Board, she has served as a consultant and on-air personality for PBS documentaries on LBJ, the Kennedy Family, Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Ken Burns' The History of Baseball. Dr. Goodwin is a member of the Society of American Historians.

The Fourteenth Annual Event of the
Max Rosenn
Lecture Series
in Law and Humanities

7:30 p.m.

WILKES UNIVERSITY
Dorothy Dickson Darte Center

The Honorable Max Rosenn

THE HONORABLE
MAX ROSENN

Senior Judge

United States Court of Appeals

The Honorable Max Rosenn, Senior Judge of the United States Court of Appeals, Third Circuit, has made innumerable contributions to the enrichment of the region, to state government, and to the federal judiciary. In recognition of his exceptional contributions, the Judge's former law clerks, family, and friends established The Max Rosenn Lecture Series in Law and Humanities in November 1980.

Judge Rosenn and his late wife Tillie, lifetime residents of the Wyoming Valley, have two sons, Keith and Daniel, and six grandchildren. After receiving his undergraduate degree from Cornell University and his LL.B. from the University of Pennsylvania, Judge Rosenn returned to the area to begin his legal career. Upon concluding military service in the South Pacific during World War II, he resumed the practice of law for another twenty-five years until his appointment to the Court of Appeals. President Nixon appointed him to the federal judiciary on October 7, 1970; 1995 marks Judge Rosenn's twenty-fifth year on the bench.

Throughout his career as a public servant, Judge Rosenn's contributions have spanned many fields, including law, government, public welfare, education, health, and religion.

The former Secretary of Public Welfare for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Chairman of the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission is a life member and trustee of the Jewish Community Center. Since 1970, Judge Rosenn has also served as a trustee of Wilkes University and, following the flood of 1972, aided his community as chairman of the Flood Recovery Task Force for Wyoming Valley.

Judge Rosenn is a member of the American, Federal, and Pennsylvania Bar Associations; a Fellow of the International Academy of Trial Lawyers and the American College of Trial Lawyers, a member of the American Judicature Society, and of the American Law Institute. He is a founding member of the Council of the American Society of Law and Medicine and was an associate editor of the American Journal of Law and Medicine. Judge Rosenn holds a number of honorary degrees and has received numerous public service awards.
