My dear Dr. Hayden:-

I have ordered two type-written copies sent to you of my findings as to my mother's family, the Careys. My cousin, Douglas Cary, son of Eleazer Cary, who used to be a resident of your city, will forward them to you.

It is convenient to you I would like friends of the family to have the privilege of calling at your rooms if they desire to look over the manuscripts and should be happy to pay any reasonable charge for the trouble it would cause your society. The work is not complete. It is only brought down to my ~~XXXX~~ grand-father, John Carey of Careytown, who died there Dec. 28th, 1808. My great-grand-father, John Carey of Careytown, who raised me from infancy to my twelfth year, died the same place in 1844.

I expect to bring the history down to the present day, but this being more recent and more within my own memory I hope to accomplish without much delay.

I note that you have written a pamphlet on Captain Garret. Will you kindly send a copy of it to me and I will gladly remit the price on being advised. I am intensely interested as to acquiring more information as to my great-grand-mother whose first husband was a Green, I think an
