

Stone house formerly at 36 West River St. Wellke's Place
built in the 1860's or 1870's by Thomas Ferrie Atherton, occupied by his nephew Thomas Henry Atherton and his family from the late 1880's until it was torn down soon after his death in 1923. His original
surname was Henry but he later took his mother's name.

Stone house formerly at 36 West River St. Wilkes-Barre built in the 1860's or 1870's by Thomas Ferrier Attherton, occupied by his nephew Thomas Henry Attherton and his family from the late 1880's until it was torn down soon after his death in 1923. His original
surname was Henry but he later took his mother's name.

Showing Lion in Love, over mantle, forgot subject of ~~right~~ ^{left} painting and at right so perverse a woman that she flowed upstream after having drowned. Side ways picture at right - key, to La Fontaine all subjects illustrated his well known parables.
 Dining Room looking from door in living room.

Dining room showing ceiling frescoed, and 2. great canvas paintings -

4.

Living room at right of front door.
It is said Mademoiselle Gambareau spent months studying lions in zoo for her autumn lions

5.

12-1-23

Reception room frescoed by M. Gambareau, all of which were destroyed when house was torn down, in about June of 1924 (Mink).

Reception room frescoed by M. Gambareau, all of which were destroyed when house was torn down, in about June of 1924 (think).

6.

J. Sullivan

Hall in house of Thomas Fenner Atkinson, showing exquisite colored window, all primary flat colors (no distinction of any kind - all the same flat glass.

Hall in house of Thomas Fenner Atkinson, showing exquisite colored windows, all primary flat colors (no distortion of any kind - all the same flat glass.

Truly magnificent fresco on plaster in reception room of home built by Thomas Ferris Atkinson for his wife (in left corner from front hall.

Truly magnificent frescoes on plaster in reception room of home built by Thomas Ferris Attherton for his wife (in left corner from front hall).

1891

Showing the frescoed ceiling and marble fire place, I think, greenish marble grate, in reception Room at left of front door.

Showing the frescoed ceiling and marble fire place, I think, greenish
marble grate, in reception Room at left of front door.

12

View from middle of portiere? door of ^{living} ~~Reception~~ room to the dining room.
all frescoe on plaster during residence of Thomas M. Atterton & his nephew.

View from middle of portiere? door of ^{living} ~~Reception~~ room to the dining room.
all frescoe on plaster during residence of Thomas W. Atterton & his nephews.

Jennings

The stone house Thomas Ferris Atherton built for his childless wife date not known, but closing of all mines in the south enriched all pioneers in the Anthracite Industry.

Arch. said to be planned by French Mansard builder of old Union League Club House in Phila.
Torn down after T. H. Atherton's, nephew of Thomas Ferris Atherton, died in about 1923
View of hall looking toward front door.