

MACKINTOSH (SIR JAMES)
born 1766, died 1832; a statesman and lawyer; he filled the office of recorder of Bombay, and on his return to England was elected member of parliament for Nairn.
He was the friend of Fox, and first obtained celebrity by an unanswerable reply to Burke's strictures on the French revolution, entitled "Vindiciae Gallicae;" his latest work was a continuation of Hume's History of England.
