

Dwayne - Could you figure out the best way to get this text to Norman for review...? We just spoke about it and he is eager to see it. If we email or fax Norris (fax # ??) will she be able to pass to Norman? Many thanks for your help. Best, Jeff

Dieter works for a special division of Heinrich Himmler's SS, charged with investigating Adolf Hitler's genealogy in response to rumors of incest and Jewish blood. In rural Austria he researches the lives of Adolf's grandparents and parents, charting the steady progression of his father Alois through the bureaucratic ranks of Austria's custom service.

Full of self-importance and blinded by decades of flattery, Hitler's father decides to retire to the life of a country farmer when his son Adolf is <sup>3</sup> ~~seven~~ years old. While relating in close detail the disastrous year that followed this decision, Dieter reveals that he is in fact a high-ranking aide to the devil, one of an underworld of spirits, who, according to the narrator, are able to influence human actions.

Dieter's key agent is a bee-keeper and Alois's neighbor, Der Alte; this disgusting peasant mesmerizes the entire Hitler
