Hey Judith,

not to bother you on a Sunday, I just wanted to make sure you got these little revisions before I head back to New York.

Out of the pages I faxed you there are some small revisions:

p.16A - the sentence "It's hardly in their interest to speak out against the hand that feeds them, even if that hand is turning the name of a theater into an advertisement for the company."

should now read "It's hardly in their interest to attack the money, even if their benefactor is turning the name of a theater into an advertisement for the company."

On p.36 - We need to fix the info on the monument. Some of our dates are off. I will go over that with Dad and then fax you the page.

Also on that page, "Natives" should be lowercase "natives".

pp.63-64 - The question is a Johnny original, not from Playboy. it starts "There's an argument that our technology..." and ends "Why are we doing this?"

p.66 - the last line should read "JBM: Cheers." not "JBM: Here's to it."

And that's all she wrote.

Love,

John
