REFERRAL SHEET
CENTER FOR THE PERFORMING ARTS

Wilkes College Center for the Performing Arts is a fully-equipped theater with facilities for staging and televising plays, ballet, concerts, and recitals. Students operate all equipment including a ten-scene preset, patch panel with 246 circuits, and control console with 60 dimmers designed to specifications for the 500-seat auditorium by Century Lighting Company.

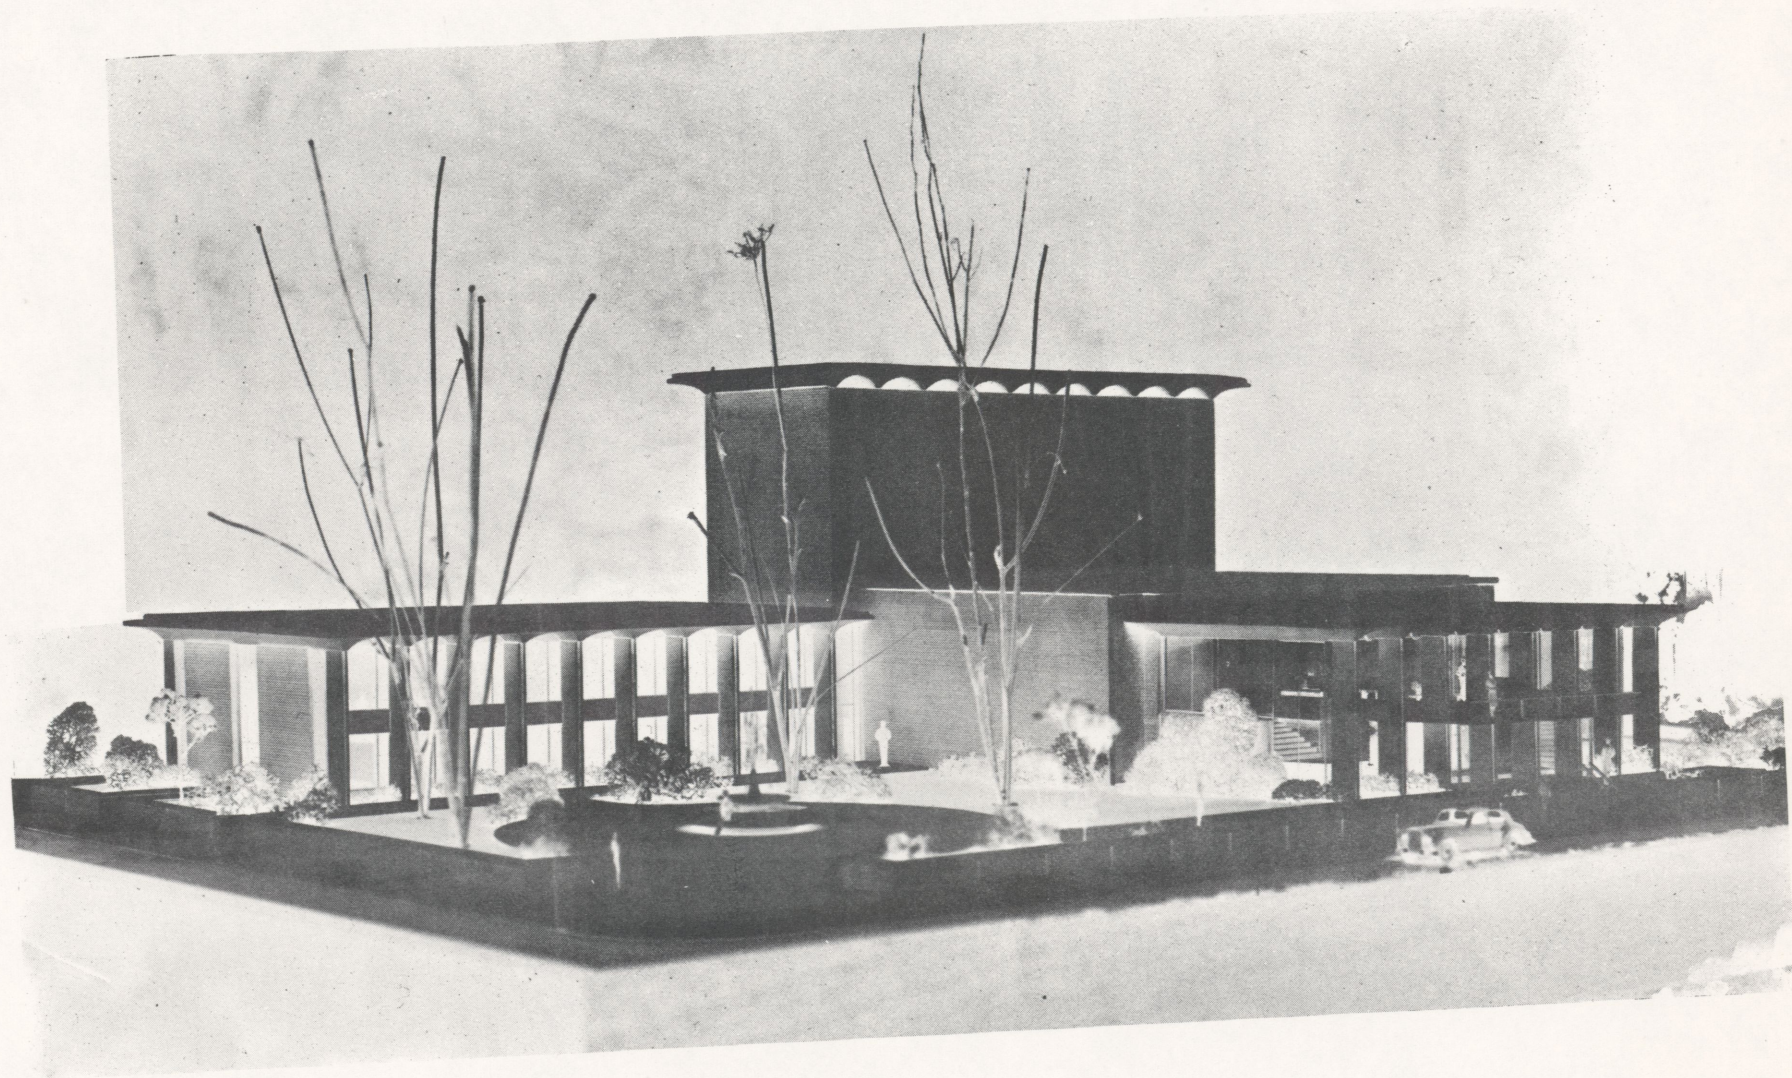

The building contains a trapped stage, an elevated lift that serves as orchestra pit when lowered, a counterweight system with 55 pipe battens, a projection booth, studio dressing rooms, costume storage, rehearsal halls, workshop, and green room. A large, carpeted lounge contains crystal chandeliers imported from Sweden, and a medieval tapestry imprinted on linen made in West Germany especially for the Center. Colors for the interior are blue and gold.

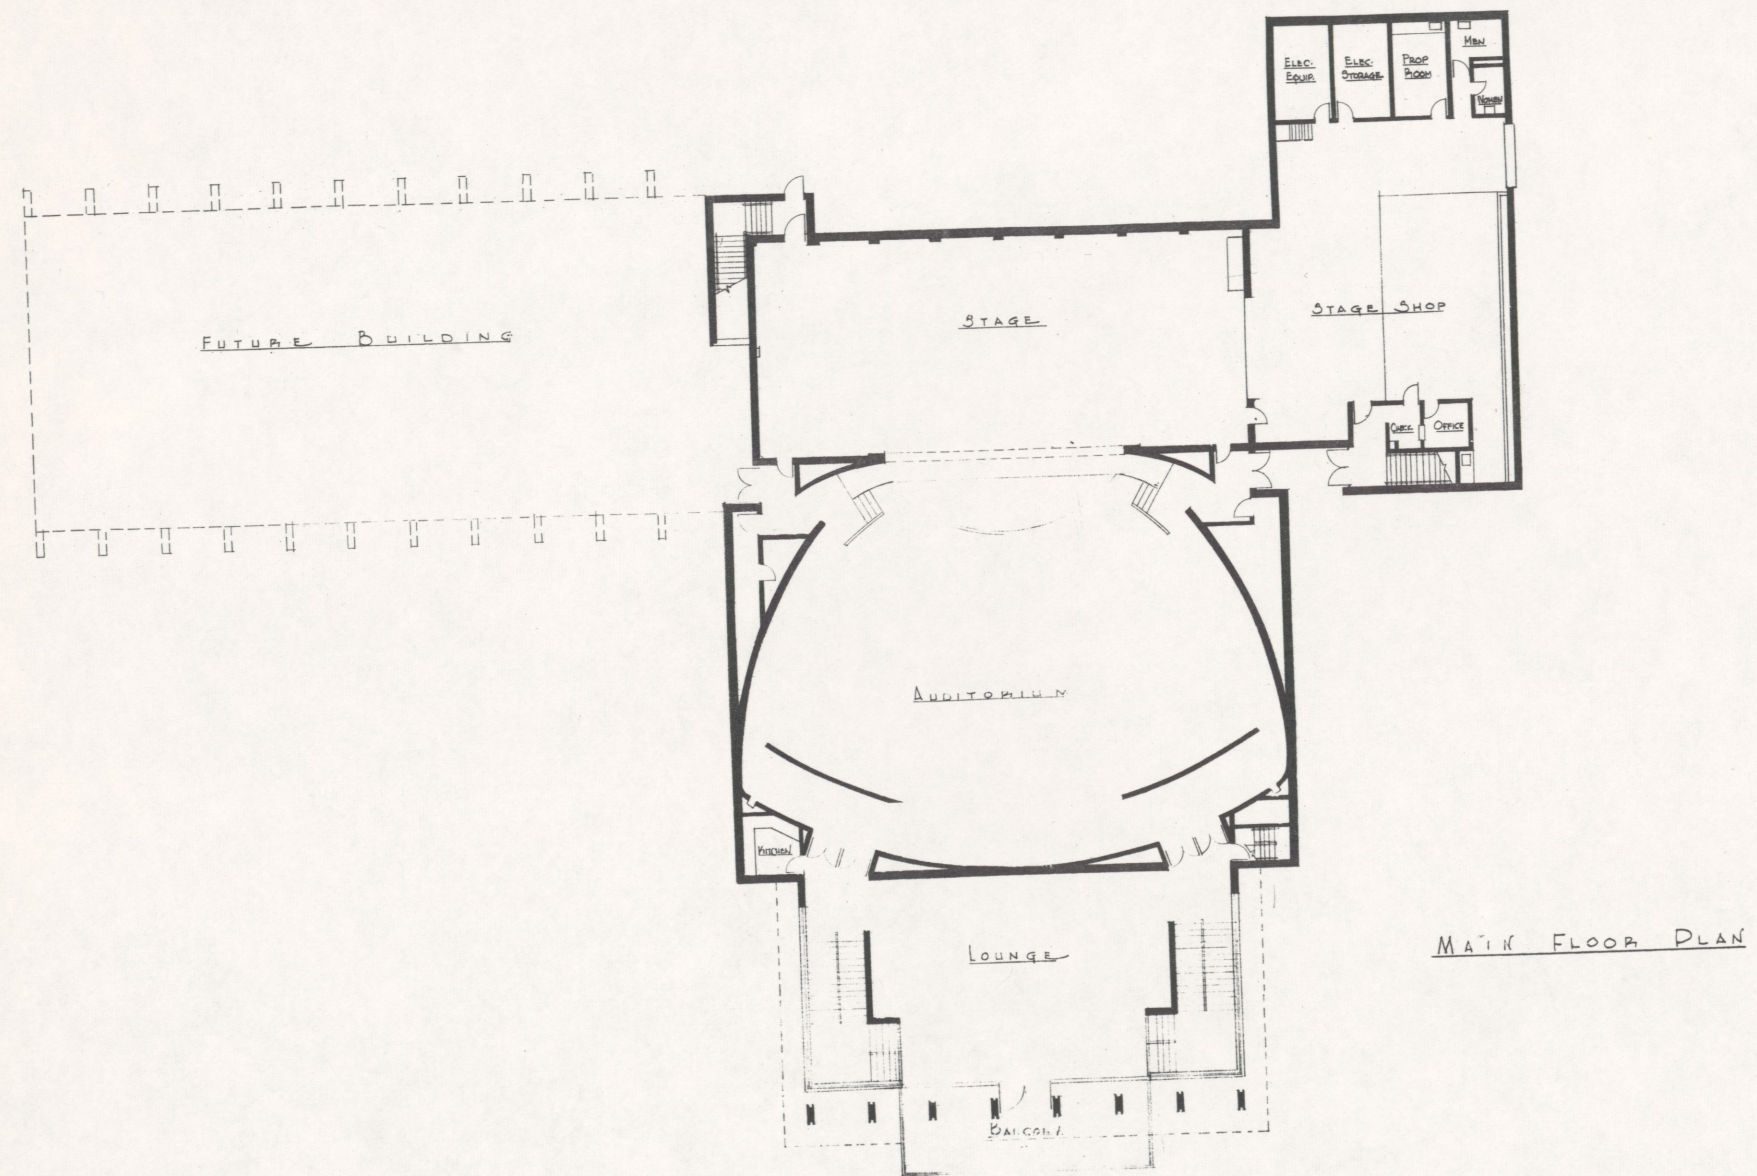

Courses in Stagecraft, Production, and Directing, are electives in a college program that emphasizes liberal arts as preparation for an undergraduate degree, for graduate study, and for a career in teaching.

The philosophy of the College, "making educational benefits available to all students who can profit from them," defines as well the character of the Center for the Performing Arts.
