Dear Council Members:-

It is with great pleasure that I write these traditional New Year greetings to you, for I may thus convey to my many Council friends my personal good wishes for the coming year.

In addition, as your new President, I am now also in the position to extend official greetings to each of you from Council Nationally.

As part of this great organization you join almost 100,000 other enlightened, dedicated American women who are serving their fellow man throughout the world; you are supporting a program which fosters education & service; and above all, you are defending our motto, which states that "what unites Jewish women is more important than what divides them".

May it be our good fortune, in the coming year, to continue to learn and to serve mankind together!

Sincerely,

Fay A. Landau
