I. Five Airs

Where'er You Walk
Come Live With Me
Silent Worship
Leave Me, Loathsome Light
Come Beloved

G. F. Handel

II. Komm, liebe Zither

W. A. Mozart

Come, dear zither, be my friend, tell her how my heart burns for her.

Lieblingsplaetzchen

F. Mendelssohn-Bartholdy

In the evening I like to sit and dream in the quiet vale by the little mill. The flowers speak, "Better to have a broken heart than never to know love."

O Saeh ich auf der Heide dort

Robert Franz

I would protect you from the storm with my cloak. O that my heart were your refuge from happiness. The desert would be a paradise if you were near. You would be the most beautiful jewel in my crown, if I were king.

Ich atmet' einen linden Duft

Gustav Mahler

I breathed a gentle scent. In the room was a branch of linden, a sprig you gathered gently! Amid the linden scent I breathe softly the gentle scent of love.

Trunken muessen wir alle sein

Hugo Wolf

Drunken must we all be! Youth is intoxication without wine. Age drinks to the return of youth. Cares trouble life and vines are care-killers. There will be no further discussion! Wine is strictly forbidden! Should one still drink, then only of the best, for doubled in damnation would be the heretic from bad wine.

Intermission

Songs of Travel

Ralph Vaughan-Williams

Words by Robert Louis Stevenson

The Vagabond
Let Beauty Awake
The Roadside Fire
Youth and Love
In Dreams
The Infinite Shining Heavens
Whither must I Wander
Bright is the Ring of Words
I Have Trod the Upward and the Downward Slope

(to be sung without pause)
